Lightning Took Negro's Fingerprints in Oregon

South Bend, Ore.—A set of human finger-prints which were recorded by lightning on a hotel window here thirty years ago are still visible today.

The fingerprints, according to "old-timers," are those of a Negro porter named Fletcher Gorman. He worked at the hotel in 1906.

A thunder shower blew up one afternoon while Gorman was talking with a friend on the hotel porch. An unusually bright flash of lightning startled the porter and he shrank back against the wall, placing his hand on the wet window pane. The next streak of lightning struck him.

After the excitement had died down the imprint of Gorman's hand was noticed on the glass. Since that time innumerable attempts have been made to wash off the imprint, but all of them have been useless.

Scottie Puppy in Hole, Spaniel Saves His Pal

Seattle.—Though he could only bark over the situation, a four-year-old cocker spaniel saved the life of his friend, a black Scottie pup.

Both dogs were accustomed to playing in the yard of the Dwight Ware residence. But the pup slipped in a deep water-filled hole 200 yards from the home. The spaniel immediately began barking, but could not attract any attention. It started for the house where it finally brought out Mrs.
Ware.

Racing between the house and the hole, barking excitedly, the spaniel drew his mistress to the edge of the pool. She rescued the pup.

Freight trains nowadays act like express specials.
New freight schedules are so fast, sometimes wonder if everything has to be delivered day before yesterday.

Many of our passenger trains are running faster schedules, too. Well, one thing is sure. We make faster runs, but the first railroad commandment is still
"Safety First." That's one rule they won't change.

Western railroads and allied industries provided jobs for 750,000 workers last year. Some of them live in our town. Good neighbors.

Passenger fares are now the lowest in history with substantial reductions on round trips.
And no more surcharge for riding in sleeping cars.

This Free pick-up-and-delivery of less than carload freight—I heard some traveling salesmen talking about it on the train yesterday. They said it saves shippers a lot of money and centers all responsibility on the railroad. The railroad picks up the freight at shipper's door and delivers it at receiver's door. Of course, the local delivery men get the haul from door-to-car and car-to-door at both ends. But the railroad handles the whole transaction.

When railroads are busy, I notice towns along the railroad are prosperous.
The merchants put more ads in the newspapers.

We are proud of railroad achievements, appreciate the public's good will and increased patronage, and pledge continued progress.
