Complains Dogs Kill Several Chickens

Mrs. O. H. Ridenour, 3333 S. W. Spring Garden road, Monday reported to Deputy Sheriff Bellis that a pointer dog owned by a nearby neighbor, Mrs. George A. Urquhart, 3351 S. W. Spring Garden road, had killed some of her chickens. Mrs. Urquhart explained to Bellis that the dog breaks away from his chain. She said she wants to get rid of the animal but the humane society will not go after him. F. Showman, 9948 E. Burnside street, told Deputy Sheriff Mollenhour that two of his four goats were killed by dogs Saturday night.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

To successfully launder ties, baste them carefully before washing; this prevents the lining or padding from becoming lumpy. Remove the basting before ironing and the ties will look like new.

Agood toilet perfume can be made by mixing two ounces of alcohol with one-half ounce of orris root. Keep in a bottle, tightly corked, and shake well before using.

To bleach a scorched spot, rub the spot immediately with a cloth dipped in diluted peroxide. Then run the iron over it and it will be as white as originally. Do not use this method on colored material.

YOUR EYES AND MINE

By Emery C. Ingham, Portland, Ore. A new idea on eye infections was given to the world some time ago, but it was not accepted by the medical world and it was not accepted for a very peculiar reason. Its very simplicity. The average Physician refused to try this new remedy because the treatment seemed so simple and as a result few people have heard of this treatment.

The theory was, and it worked too, that lack of certain foods in the diet produced a deficiency disease of the body which becomes apparent in the eye first. The eyelids became red and inflamed and this later developed into a chronic condition that defied the best of treatment for its eradication. It may be that under treatment, the infection clears, but soon returns as bad as ever. This inflammation is not a true infection, but actually food deficiency.

If your eyes bother you and the edges of the lids are red, giving you a bleary eyed appearance, or if you have a series of styles or small boils on the free margin of the lids, you may have a food deficiency. Any way it is worth a trial, as this method costs you little or nothing and the results are often quite startling. Try eating food that contains Vitamines A and B. Good sources of these vitamins are cod liver oil and all fish oils, fresh raw milk, raw green leafy vegetables, fresh liver and kidney, fresh fruits, berries, nuts, and whole cereals. A very excellent source of the Vitamin B is brewers yeast. Vitamines A and B are foods used especially by the eyes and nervous system.

Often the diet is as it should be but the digestion of the food is in error and though the proper vitamins and minerals are eaten daily they are not absorbed into the blood stream for body use. It is the smart thing to do in any case of eye trouble to see your physician before you put on glasses, and when you pick out a physician pick out a drugless one as he is equipped to advise you on your diet and food combinations.
