"SILENCING THE WORKERS"

"Of all the devices used by employers against workers, the 'black ball' is the most universal, and rightly 'hated,' by the working people," said the Portland Oregonian recently. "It amounts to a check list, so that a person discharged from one company finds employment denied him in all the related companies."

"American workmen will do well to notice that Germany has organized the blackball system on a nationwide basis. Every manual, clerical and technical worker must have his 'work book' in which his detailed record is kept."

"Thus 22,000,000 Germans enter what amounts to an indirect slavery, or at least it will appear in that light to American workers. Certainly it is little wonder that when this is added to the coercive methods which have gone before, there are no disorders in German industry. But it is an ominous quiet."

This condition is not peculiar to Germany. In Russia, the Soviet authority, supposedly a "people's government," has silenced workers just as effectively, and if any workman protests he is liable to long imprisonment, exile to Siberia and even death. A similar situation exists in Italy and in a large number of smaller powers.

Nowhere else in the world is the workman so free as in America, and so completely secure in his civil liberties, of which the right of protest is one. These are the things to think about in considering any criticism of our American system, under which both the law and the force of public opinion guarantee that workers and employers may adjust their differences without resort to violence.

A SMILE

A smile costs nothing, but gives much. It enriches those who receive, without making poorer those who give. It takes but a moment, but the memory of it sometimes lasts forever. None is so rich or mighty that he can get along without it, and none is so poor but that he can be made rich by it. A smile creates happiness in the home, fosters Good Will in business and is the countersign of friendship. It brings rest to the weary cheer to the discouraged sunshine to the sad; and it is Nature's best antidote for trouble. Yet it cannot be bought begged borrowed or stolen for it is something that is of no value to anyone until it is given away. Some people are too tired to give you a smile. Give them one of yours as none needs a smile so much as he who has no more to give.—Author unknown.

The above article was taken from "Shop Talks". Folks, let us get this smiling epidemic thus making life more pleasant for home folks and visitors to our fair town.

TIME FOR ACTION

It's time we took taxation out of politics. A national election is just over. It will be four more years before we stage the great quadrennial show again. But in the meantime no matter who sits in the White House, no matter who are members of the House and Senate taxes are going to hit us all.

Republicans pay taxes. Democrats pay taxes. So do Socialists and Communists. And no political party has a clear record on tax legislation. Spokesmen for all parties have long promised tax reduction—and then, once they took office proceeded to raise taxes. Members of all parties have done their part to fasten a leech-like bureaucracy upon us—and you can't have bureaucratic government and efficient economical government at the same time.

During the campaign, we heard more promises of tax reduction from all political quarters. Now the time for conversation is past, and the time for action has arrived. Promises demand fulfillment—pledges cry out to be redeemed. Unless we are to be utterly crushed under a tax burden that is already sapping more than 20 per cent of the national income, the American people must demand that statesmanship take the place of politics, and that a sincere effort to really reduce the cost of government be made.

TOPS IN MAGIC

Magicians, who are truthful, readily admit that the hand is quicker than the eye and that a line of patter often misleads the audience. Their success is measured solely by their ability to convince the spectators that they do what they do not.

What seems to be a new tops for actual performance goes to George Lalonde, who recently performed in a small Canadian town. He was about to "saw" a woman in two when an emotional man, greatly alarmed over the fate of the pretty woman dashed onto the stage and stabbed the magician, inflicting a serious wound.

Chas. Coston

ATTORNEY
Davis Bldg. Portland

The man who can pursue a peaceful path through this life, consistently sidestepping friction, is a genius. The man who can administer the affairs others entrusted to him in such manner as to eliminate that disagreeable element or reduce it is more than a genius. In this respect it is gratifying to note that there are a number of lawyers who have earned a reputation for settling cases out of court whenever it is possible to do so. A splendid example of this type is Chas. Coston of Portland. Were it not for lawyers of his ability every large city would be a hot bed of litigation. The meeting of many divergent interests in this world is a constant cause of friction and only a few people realize how really dependable is our social welfare upon the services of those attorneys who devote their lives to a study of the working principle of peaceable contact. In the person of Chas. Coston we have a type who is a true example of the type of lawyer described in the foregoing sentences; one who follows the dictates of his conscience and upholds his profession as a medium expressing the best that is in him rather than as a means of personal advancement. Chas. Coston is unquestionably a leader in Portland, and a very helpful factor in the surrounding territory.

Dr. Ella J. Welch

OPTOMETRIST
Morgan Bldg. Portland

Dr. Ella J. Welch, Optometrist, has had long experience and wide knowledge as an eyesight specialist. Immediate attention to your eyes, your most delicate organs, may save you much inconvenience and expense. Her large patronage speaks for the quality of her service.

Some of us inherit eyes subject to certain defects. Others of us have taken bad care of our eyes when we were children. Any inherent weakness or any mistreatment of the eyes may lead us to need glasses. Because of the delicateness of the eyes no one but a specialist should be allowed to examine and correct our vision. A mistake may mean a handicap for life in the way of extremely defective sight.

It should be a source of great satisfaction to the people of this community that they have conveniently located here a woman whose fine technical skill and long experience make her a specialist in correcting the fatigue factor of your eyesight. This up-to-date office in the Morgan Bldg., Portland, is well patronized and justly so. Dr. Welch, Optometrist, has had years of practice cor-

KEYHOLE TOPICS

By JACK LEWIS

Armistice Day, the day dedicated to those who died in order to preserve the world for Democracy, is past. In the European horizon, Mars, the God of War, looms to a greater height, a forewarning of a catastrophe far more disastrous than the cataclysm of 1914-1918. Will America stay at home or will we, in future years, pay homage to two unknown? May God forbid!

Since the election, every person claims to have voted the Democratic ticket. Why is it that when all is over those who were extolling the virtues of the G. O. P. have fallen into the ranks of the Democrats. My idea of a good and staunch Republican, also a good sportman, is one who will take the losses as well as the winnings. But then, that is human nature.

If King Edward the 8th were like his predecessor Henry the 8th, he would find a way to make his marriage to Wallis Simpson possible without renouncing the throne. Many of the Archbishops of Canterbury have resented certain things that the English Kings have done in the past but in the 14th century or thereabouts any of them objecting too strenuously would find themselves on the receiving end of an axe.

John "Caliban" Barrymore who gave his age as 48 during his recent marriage to Elaine Barrie, evidently forgot 7 years. You cannot fool us John, we can tell by your wrinkles and your double chin, your over the half century mark.

Joe Penners famous phrase, "Anybody Wanna Buy a Duck," is topped, in my opinion by Wilfred J. Funk, editor-in-chief of the Literary Digest whose pet phrase should be, "Anybody Wanna Buy Some Election Predictions."

Wounded, Angry Bear Is Shot Dead in Elevator

Tacoma, Wash.—A fugitive black bear that mistook a hotel elevator for a cage was shot to death after terrorizing part of the downtown area for 15 minutes.

It escaped from a cage on a park department truck and headed for the busiest section of the city. Park employees fired at the bear, inflicting wounds that put it in a fighting mood.

Pedestrians screamed and fled as police chased the bear through thronged streets.

The angry animal invaded a garage, a bus station, and finally reached a hotel lobby.

The elevator caught its eye and it lumbered in. The operator was cornered and escaped the bear's claws by inches.

Motorcycle Policeman William Nerbonne killed the bear with a single pistol shot through the bars of the elevator.

John Yerkovich

ATTORNEY
Platt Bldg., Portland

The history of our country from the beginning, shows that many of the keenest minds of every generation have been attracted to the legal profession. This is, perhaps, a natural condition, since in that field exists the greatest opportunity for the exercise of intelligence and talents to service of mankind.

Whatever may be the chief factor contributing to this condition, it is an established fact that in mentioning the names of a given number of people who are entitled to classification as to the most useful citizens of this community, the members of the legal fraternity loom large.

Among the members of the local bar, who by their achievements are entitled to more than ordinary reckoning, is John Yerkovich, one of the prominent attorneys of Portland.

Broad of vision, keen, resourceful and energetic he has advanced to his present position of leadership in his profession by the constant pursuit of those ideals which actuated the efforts of the early lawyers of the province in founding the bar of this state.

He has achieved his standing in the profession by constant and continuous fair dealing loyalty to his clients and the tireless painstaking efforts which he exerts in their behalf.

R. E. Dennison

ATTORNEY
American Bank Bldg. Portland

The lawyer is one of the most valuable adjuncts to the community. Unquestionably as is the truth of this statement he is usually the last to receive credit for it, in the minds of the community at large. The constructive service rendered by the lawyer is unsurpassed by that of any other business or professional man. His is the duty of upholding the laws for the safeguarding of modern civilization, and it is to him that credit is due, and should be given, for a great many advantages. One of the leading lawyers of Portland is R. E. Dennison. He is generously possessed of those attributes that make up the typical, modern lawyer, of high ethical standards. The truth of this is evidenced by the large number of clients he is able to serve satisfactorily and capably, leading them safely through the tantalizing mazes of the law, in all its intricate phases. This is the type of lawyer who does a good deal more than merely conduct a practice which he finds lucrative. He performs a public duty, also the nature of his practice is more or less private. And in addition R. E. Dennison is one of the most public spirited citizens in Portland, so what more could be asked of any man.

Dr. M. C. Asher

CHIROPRACTOR
Swetland Bldg., BR. 2926
Portland, Oregon

Chiropractic has made a remarkable record in removing the cause of chronic diseases which have been the conspicuous failures of many methods of treatment. The most brilliant successes of chiropractic, however, are in adjusting the cause of acute diseases, for in these the recuperative powers have not been weakened by long illness and the results are generally prompt and certain.

Dr. M. C. Asher is a professional man of wide experience and if your health is not in the best condition you should visit the office and let him show you exactly where the cause of your suffering is, and explain to you just how chiropractic adjustments will remove the cause.

Bodily ailments come as a result either of a violation of nature's laws or on account of an interference with nature's ways to keep the body in perfect health. The human body is so constructed that it is unnatural and impossible for disease to creep in without a cause. The nerve system which leads to and conveys life to every remote part of the body, is designed to give perfect health to all the organs and keep them in repair. If there is the slightest interference with the nerve communication, there is bound to be disease in the particular organ supplied by the nerve so obstructed. Simple adjustments remove the obstruction and thereby remove the cause, thus permitting nature to heal.

One phase of Dr. M. C. Asher's service that you will appreciate is the effort to give you the best possible results with adjustments that result in restoring health. A trial will convince you. Every case is carefully analyzed and given close personal attention by Dr. Asher.
