THE LITTLE RED HEN

Said the little red rooster, "Gosh all hemlock; things are tough. Seems that worms are getting scarcer and I cannot find enough. What's become of all those fat ones is a mystery to me; There were thousands through that rainy spell but now where can they be?"

The little red hen who heard him didn't grumble or complain. She had gone through lots of dry spells, she had lived through floods of rain. So she flew up on the grindstone, and she gave her claws a whet. As she said, "I've never seen the time there were no worms to get."

She picked a new and undug spot: the earth was hard and firm. The little rooster jeered, "New ground! That's no place for a worm." The little red hen just spread her feet, she dug both fast and free, "I must go to the worms," she said "the worms won't come to me."

The rooster vainly spent his day through habit, by the ways. Where fat worms had passed in squads back in the rainy days. When nightfall found him supperless he growled in accents rough, "I'm hungry as a fowl can be. conditions sure are tough."

He turned then to the little red hen and said, "It's worse with you. For you're not only hungry but you must be tired too. I rested while I watched for worms so I feel fairly perk. But, how are you? Without worms too? And after all that work?"

The little red hen hopped to her perch and dropped her eyes to sleep. And murmured in a drowsy tone, "Young man, hear this and weep, I'm full of worms and happy, for I've dined both long and well. The worms are there, as always—but I had to dig like H - - I!"

WHERE YOUR MONEY GOES

Business is better. Unemployment has been reduced. Wages are rising. The worst of the "emergency" is generally considered to be over. Yet the Federal government is constantly spending more for "emergency" purposes!

That startling fact stands out in the official Treasury statement of April 1.

During the first nine months of the current fiscal year, as compared with the same period in the last fiscal year, WPA expenditures were more than $700,000,000 greater.

Social security expenditures were more than $300,000,000 greater.

Resettlement Administration expenses were more than $70,000,000 greater.

TVA expenditures were over $23,000,000 greater.

Soil conservation spending was over $203,000,000 greater.

PWA loans and grants to states were more than $102,000,000 greater.

Regular departmental expenses were more than $44,000,000 greater.

So it goes, down a long list. Is it any wonder that the national debt soars to new record after new record—and that there is talk of the "necessity" of imposing more taxes on businesses and individuals which are already taxed to the point of confiscation.

Pure-Bred Jersey Award Offered 4-H Clubbers at Fair

Mr. and Mrs. David Storey, Jersey breeders of Forest Grove, are awarding a pure-bred Jersey calf as a breed special to the outstanding 4-H Jersey club member at the 1937 Washington County Fair.

This will be the fourth year that Jersey breed specials have been awarded at the county fair and the second year that the award has come from the Storey farm. In 1934 the Storey's awarded a pure-bred heifer to the club member who exhibited the poorest Jersey heifer. This award was made in an effort to encourage some club member who had not had the opportunity to work with a good type calf. D. G. Lilly of Forest Grove in 1935, offered a pure bred heifer calf to the Jersey club member exhibiting the best Jersey calf. In 1936 D. G. Lilly again awarded his breed special and W. T. Putman, Jr., awarded a purebred heifer to the club member exhibiting the best purebred heifer calf.

The interest shown in 4-H work by the Jersey breeders of the county has been largely responsible for the fact that in recent years the Jerseys have lead the other dairy breeds in the number of animals exhibited at the County Fair.

The winner of this year's award will be selected by a committee made up of the president of the Jersey cattle club, a member of the fair board, the donor of the heifer and the assistant county agent.

BABSON SAYS:

The other influence annoying thoughtful Eastern people—political manoeuvres—is less easy to analyse. But despite Washington trends, business in most sections of the country continues to be excellent. Carloadings are the highest since 1930, automobile assemblies are close to their all-time highs; steel production is at a new all-time peak; home building is swinging ahead monthly. The Babson chart—an excellent barometer because it is a combination of production figures gathered from fifty-four different industries—is 10% above last May. The gain since December has, however, been very slight, due largely to fewer big building projects and the hesitation from unsettlement in bond prices.

Hence I see no reason to change my earlier forecast of good business throughout 1937. We are not yet in a period of widespread over-production. Some basic industries may be working at capacity, but others are today 20% to 50% below the "normal" line. There is still a vast deferred demand hanging around from depression days,—particularly demand for homes, machinery, and factories. These products will require the use of billions of dollars of materials and labor. The favorable crop outlook and other barometers convince me that there is no need to worry about business if we will develop character along with material prosperity. Otherwise, there will be another smash. America's future depends upon what we raise,—both as to children in our homes and crops on our farms! Copyright 1937.

The longest day of the year is June 21; the shortest is December 21.

The heaviest rainfall in 24 hours at New York City in the last 60 years was 9.40 inches on October 8-9, 1903; the next heaviest was 6.17 inches on September 23, 1882.

Children of 23 Schools Give Pageant

Over 1100 children from 23 grade and high schools conducted by the Sisters of St. Mary of the Valley, Beaverton, participated in the pageant "Queen of the Valley" given Sunday afternoon before a capacity audience in Benson Polytechnic school auditorium.

This production climaxed the celebration of the golden jubilee of the community, which is the only congregation of sisters founded in Oregon and confining its work exclusively to this archdiocese. Five of the seven foundresses are living.

The pageant opened with a colorful procession of the children grouped by schools, garbed in their pageant costumes.

The seven episodes were knit into one unit my "Memory", who introduced representatives from various countries which have made contributions to the progress of Oregon. The claim each country made to supremacy in its gift was considered by "Faith" and "Liberty", who at the conclusion gave the laurel crown to Palestine, for its contribution of Mary, the mother of Jesus.

Music was provided by a 60-piece orchestra of parochial school children, directed by Mrs. Mary V. Dodge. Lucien E. Becker presided at the organ console.

The pageant was prepared by Sister M. Eugenia of St. Stephens school, who was assisted in the direction by Mrs. Elsie M. Christensen. Lighting was used effectively. Considerable research was done by the sisters on the costumes, that they might be truly representative of the country.

The audience showed its appreciation of the fine acting, dancing and singing by its vigorous applause. The sisters were complimented on the rapidity with which the pageant progressed, there being no time lost between episodes. The fact that the children were trained as units in their schools for the various parts of the production and that but one dress rehearsal, brought additional favorable comment on the smooth way in which the entire pageant was presented.
