BABSON SAYS

cyle and public sentiment, I have never seen confidence change so rapidly as it has this year. Mills are shutting down forward buying has stopped; investors are nervous. The temporary problems which are troubling the business world, however, will be settled eventually. Nevertheless, it will take some convincing announcement from Washington, some reassuring news from Europe, or some bullish reports from the business front to yank confidence out of its slump. To supply that spark, I am pinning my hopes on crop reports and farm news.

Good Retail Outlook

There are 32,000,000 people in the United States whose livelihood directly depends upon farms. There are 24,000,000 others who live in rural communities. Canada has an additional 5,500,000 non-urban population. For years these groups have just been scraping by. This season they will have good crops, good prices and a good income. Thus, after a decade of relative depression, nearly half of our population will enjoy their first year of real prosperity. At the same time 12,000,000 who work in factories will earn around $50,000,000 more per week than they did a year ago while investors' dividend checks will be at least $1,000,000 greater. These facts add up to only one conclusion: GOOD RETAIL TRADE THIS AUTUMN!

Interest Shown In Seed Trial

ALBANY—Considerable interest is being shown in the development of one acre each of tall meadow oat grass and orchard grass planted for seed on the Buchner Brothers farm near Lebanon reports County Agent F. C. Mullon. When visited the last of May the tall oat grass was heading out at shoulder height and the orchard grass was about waist high, he says and both crops were looking good.

Lovely HAIR

There is no magic formula that will make hair lovely over night; lovely hair depends upon a clean, healthy scalp, a proper circulation of blood, to carry nourishment to the hair cells, and careful grooming.

If your hair lacks the luster of health if it has been abused, or is dry and lifeless, do not neglect it. It can be restored to its natural beauty by scientific treatment.

Superior method treatment consisting of a scalp massage and thorough brushing, which stimulates the circulation. A special shampoo that leaves the scalp antiseptically clean, the hair supple as satin, and hand-drying under the sun lamps is the correct treatment to revitalize your hair.

Visit the salon, avail yourself of a courtesy consultation and advice of a graduate specialist. If you have a hair problem, we can help you.
