GIVING OLD LAWS A CHANCE

We are getting a little tired of having so-called economists and sociologists stand up before audiences and say that the new conditions our country faces make it necessary that we scrap old laws and old methods and adopt new ones. That, of course, sounds plausible, but when we study the kind of laws and regulations these persons would put in place of the old ones, we wonder if, after all, they are so new.

In place of giving individuals more freedom to work out their salvation, the new laws and regulations take freedom away. They are exactly the kind Ben Franklin referred to when he said: "They that can give up essential liberty to obtain a little temporary safety, deserve neither liberty nor safety."

And the strange thing about it is that so many of the advocates of the new theories of government are the ones whose families, a generation back, came to this country to escape over-regulation of their personal activities. They came to America because it did hold out hopes of economic independence and because they cannot get rich, the first thing they want to do, when business goes into a decline, is to further stiffen individual initiative by regulation.

A speaker at a recent convention of dairymen at Byracuse said: "Men never miss or value a priceless possession until it is gone, and until it is too late."

America doesn't need new laws to meet new conditions half as much as it needs observance of the old laws. We have too many new laws, too many restrictions, too much legislation designed to give one class advantage over another, with the result that taxes and other barriers adding to the cost of goods and restricting employment are breaking the backs of those who still would make an honest effort to succeed by their own efforts.

Efficiency of Commissioner Shown by Record

There has been considerable enthusiasm manifested over the good work of H. D. Kerkman, County Commissioner with offices in the court house in Hillsboro.

He is ably fitted for this important office by training and experience and his selection is generally conceded as being a very wise one on the part of the voters he so represents. He is by no means an unknown quantity because he has been active in Hillsboro and throughout the county for several years and all of his actions, politically and otherwise, have been marked by honesty of purpose and success. Few if any, have a firmer hold on the affections of the people. But he not only holds their friendship, but their respect and confidence as well. It is therefore fitting indeed that he should have been chosen for this honor and it goes without saying that his administration is of a constructive character that stamps him indelibly as a man to be both admired and reckoned with. He is indeed one officer who, on the strength of his own record as a popular citizen of large capabilities, should command the support of all friends of good government.

Everybody does not appreciate the value to a city of having a strictly modern and up-to-date concern which carries a complete stock on hand at all times. Since the time this well-known store first opened to the people the local public has taken it as a matter of course. To be able to get what you want in this line, to know that no matter what the occasion may demand in this respect, you can always get it at this establishment—that is a feature of the commercial efficiency of the community which makes it more attractive.

Bridges Get "Tired Feeling"
Bridges may become tired and lose their strength, just as human beings do when overtaxed, states a report made to the American Society of Civil Engineers. The bridges affected by "fatigue" are those composed of huge steel framework. The steel may lose from half to two-thirds of its strength. But there's no need to worry. Loads sufficient to cause "that tired feeling" are unusual, and occur, according to the report, only a "few thousand times" in the life of a bridge. It's only when they occur millions of times that any bad effects result.

J. E. Carpenter Deserves Praise

We wish in this edition to pay special tribute to J. E. Carpenter, County Assessor of Washington County, for his many services to Washington County and his splendid record of achievement over a period of many years. Mr. Carpenter probably has a wider circle of personal friends than any other man we could name. He has cultivated friendships wherever he goes and is at pains to conduct himself in such a manner as to deserve the respect and admiration of all who know him.

A city is extremely fortunate in being able to number among its civic leaders such a personality as J. E. Carpenter. He is always ready and willing to lend his prestige and ability to the promotion of any project which promises to benefit the County of Washington. Mr. Carpenter may be depended upon, and his services to the people are too many in number to be described here. It may be sufficient to say that the publisher of this paper considers Mr. Carpenter an asset to the community and a man of whom the county may be proud.

Leadership Shown By Public Official

Leadership often is best displayed in the efficient performance of the duties of office and in that respect F. S. Sewell County Coroner, is truly a leader. The many exacting and highly technical requirements of his job are all handled with a skill and efficiency which are not often equaled elsewhere. To anyone who has watched the development of this department under Mr. Sewell these words of tribute will find a hearty agreement.

In the organization of the department and in the direction of its services, Mr. Sewell shows himself to be a man fully competent to assume leadership. He is energetic and alert to apply new ideas to the further improvement of his office. He has demonstrated time and again that he has a rare talent for organization and for effecting sensible economies. Among those who are engaged in similar offices in other counties the achievements of Mr. Sewell are well known and in many cases, his methods are being copied.

Insurance Profession is Proud of Geo. T. McGrath

Geo. T. McGrath operates a progressive office which deals in various lines of insurance. In making this review of the section we feel we would be doing a great injustice by leaving out this enterprising firm.

The establishment might be termed "Insurance Headquarters", as they offer practically every kind of insurance. Under competent management this important addition to the commercial life of Hillsboro was founded several years ago. Since that time an excellent business has been built. The man who is the active head of the Hillsboro office, has always been on the alert to protect his patron's interest as well as that of companies he represents. Each year thousands of dollars have been paid on insurance claims presented to this firm. Through all his affiliations he has built up an enviable reputation for reliability and square dealing.

If you are contemplating taking out an insurance policy of any kind, you should see this concern. If you are not contemplating buying a policy it may pay you to think over the matter seriously and come in and have a talk with him.

Representing some of the oldest and strongest insurance companies in America, you can be certain of securing prompt and just payment when it is due.

All you have to do is call the office on the phone and Mr. McGrath will insure you in one of the leading companies, renew your policy when up, and if you have any trouble, will aid in the adjustment of the loss.

The business policy of this office is one of public service. Careful and courteous attention will be given to any inquiry you may wish to make. Mr. McGrath cordially invites you to avail yourself of any advice you may seek touching on insurance needs.

Imperial Feed & Grain Co. Reliable Firm

The Imperial Feed & Grain Co., offers a complete line of feed of all kinds. To successfully conduct a business of this kind requires a special study and care in selecting the stock. Farmers are no longer satisfied to feed their stock just any kind of feed, but require a feed that has been tested, and is of proven quality. The Imperial Feed & Grain Co. has given this question careful study and consequently is aiding in the agricultural development of the surrounding territory. They handle a full line of feed, both imported and local, and have given special care in selecting it so it will give best results. Only feeds that are fat and milk producers are carried in stock, and those who have given it a trial are our customers.

The Imperial Feed & Grain Co. makes a special effort to help the farmer or stockgrower and is glad to give any information or advice desired on the subject pertaining to this line. As the result the business has grown until it reaches out in every direction.

There is no firm in this section of the state that is conducted on a more modern basis than this establishment which has become headquarters for the lines handled. This section is indeed fortunate to have such a progressive concern to serve us in the line of feeds, as it adds in no little way to the progress and prosperity of the home community.

When you buy feeds from the Imperial Feed & Grain Co. you are sure you are getting rations for your stock that contain the correct proportion of body-building, beef developing or milk producing elements.

In this historical review of our progress we are glad to compliment the Imperial Feed & Grain Co. in operating a business that makes or helps to make Hillsboro just a little better shopping district. They are located at 2nd and Railroad, Phone 01.
