DIGGING

Hard work means nothing to a hen. She just keeps on digging and laying eggs. Regardless of what the business prognosticators say about the outlook for this or for any other year. If the ground is hard, she scratches harder. If it is dry she digs deeper. If it is wet, she digs where it is dry. If she strikes a rock, she works around it. If she gets a few more hours of daylight, she gives us a few more eggs. But always she digs up worms and turns them into hard shelled profits. As well as tender profitable broilers. Did you ever see a pessimistic hen? Did you ever hear of one starving to death waiting for worms to dig themselves to the surface? Did you ever hear one cackle because work was so hard? Not on your life! They save their breath for digging and their cackling for eggs. Success means digging. Are you?—W. M. Wilson, Poultry Item.

Albert Kemmer Named to Handle Loan Collection

Appointment of Albert Kemmer, local attorney and prominent young democrat to a temporary assignment as assistant United States attorney in charge of federal housing cases was announced Wednesday by United States Attorney Carl Donagh.

Kemmer will have the job of attempting to collect for the government on several modernization loans which are in default.

Kemmer has been practicing law in Portland and Beaverton for the past ten years. He is an ex-city attorney of Beaverton and an ex-president of the Young Democratic club of Washington county.

He is active in the state democratic organization and is now state committeeman for that party from Washington county.

Student Money Aids Grandstand

Beaverton high school's $3400 grandstand described as "different" both as to facilities and financing, Saturday stood practically completed and ready for use.

With seating space for 600 spectators, the stand is 100 feet long, 30 feet deep, and will be equipped not only with a press box accommodating about 15 persons, but also is to be wired for a public address system for use in broadcasting the progress of games to audiences.

The school's share of expenses was met entirely by the student body. Approximately $550 was raised by student activities.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCH
 "Reality" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday March 26.

The Golden Text is "Whatsoever things are true, whatsoever things are honest, whatsoever things are just, whatsoever things are pure whatsoever things are lovely, whatsoever things are of good report; if there be any virtue, and if there be any praise think on these things" (Phil. 4:8).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon also includes the following correlative passages from the Christian Science textbook "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Spirit imparts the understanding which uplifts consciousness and leads into the truth."

The Psalmist saith: "The Lord on high is mightier than the noise of many waters, yea than the mighty waves of the sea." "Spiritual sense is the discernment of spiritual good. Understanding is the line of demarcation between the real and un-real" (p. 505).

Haleys Visit Golden Gate Exposition, Treasure Island

By Mrs. Ruby Jennings
 Words cannot describe the wonders of Treasure Island as seen by Mr. and Mrs. Hadin Haley of Mapewood, Oregon. The trip down by train, on February 24, was an event in itself over the Cascade Summit, where snow weaves the pattern for the beauty lovers, one would have to see it to believe the way the snow actually hangs from the cliffs in cobwebby patterns.

But on to Treasure Island! The engineering marvels triumph over all as they viewed the San Francisco-Oakland Bay bridge, longest in the world, also the Golden Gate bridge, and the boats with their passengers to the entrance passages, then to begin the sightseeing. It would require days upon days to view everything on exhibit and we'll dwell only briefly over the different points of interest on this man made island.

There is the Comet of the Moon. Tower of the Sun, and many other towers and temples, outdoor courts and statues and statuettes of every kind and description, all too beautiful for words only to appear at night more beautiful than ever with the clever lighting of the shrubs to make the towers and temples a riot of color. Mention must be made of the Temple of Religion, a miniature replica of Vatican City, containing the crucifix done entirely in Mother of Pearl.

The exhibits and the government buildings were not to be out done either. But all good things must come to an end, and the Haleys returned home on March 2, to take up everyday life after a few days of fairy land.

Three Star Tavern has Big Night Business

The Three Star Tavern at Barbur Blvd. and SW 22 avenue, a mile from the center of Multnomah, now keep open from five in the morning to two o'clock the next morning and Saturday nights there's simply no closing which means that the tavern is doing a lively business from five o'clock Saturday morning until two Monday morning. "Bill and Myrtle" Binn, who have operated the Three Star nearly three years found it advisable to lengthen out their shift time as there is generally good night patronage and a great many more people stop for midnight suppers and others for very early breakfasts than most people think there are. Many men having shifts extending from five or six in the evening to midnight or 1:30 a. m. stop for real heavy meals enroute home and on checking over things a bit one can see that a large number of people, owing to their work must have their social activity at night. Many improvements have been made and now they have all electrical refrigeration and everything is up to the top notch in sanitation. Try Three Star Tavern for a big well cooked meal.

NEW ANGLE FOR UNCLE SAM
 The immediate future does not look hopeful either. The demand for intermediate and long-term business credit on an installment basis must be met. We must have such credit to stimulate recovery, to create new jobs, to make new products. Hence, the government may be in this branch of the credit business before too long with an Intermediate Credit Bank. The private banks will be financing this new setup just as they are all the public credit agencies by their vast purchases of government bonds; but the actual okaying of the credit will be done by Uncle Samuel.

So, with the outlook for more government credit I see no hope of people receiving a better return on their deposits in the immediate future. Eventually of course general interest rates are bound to rise and at least savings deposits should yield a greater return. Despite this gloomy outlook for interest rates, depositors never had better protection for their dollars than they have right now. But if the government does not do a better job on the budget no one will dare to forecast what the buying power of these dollars may be.

The Plan will Save Us

As we all certainly know the Social Security act has not been nor cannot be anything but a costly nuisance with no good to come of it in the future, and there are so many failures of the various alphabetical AAAAA's that link up the different branches of administrative activity in this country, that we advocate enactment into law of the Townsend Recovery Plan are right in every respect, after having given the idea study from every angle, and this plan alone will save us much difficulty in the future if we act now in putting this through. We must not go to sleep at the switch, for danger lurks ahead. This machine age is crowding honest men down and completely out and there's no use in saying that all the fault rests with the individual as that is not the truth. Men are not getting the benefit of advanced methods of production under the present set-up.

In any case, you and I know that if people have money and must spend it and keep it in circulation all business would be on the up-grade every day in the year. . . and recipients of a Townsend check would have to use it wisely.

Second Major Blow
 The decline in good real estate mortgages was Blow Number Two. Formerly, a big portion of a bank's earning power came from real estate financing. The collapse of the real estate market from 1930 to 1934 plus errors in loan judgment, showed the folly of commercial banks financing a building boom. Recently, the FHA insured mortgage plan has created new interest in home financing by banks, but many bankers are still wary and are taking only the choicest risks. Personal loans once scorned by bankers, are avidly sought. Yet, these can never replace the once profitable commercial business and only offer competition to installment credit loans.

Both savings and commercial banks have always owned public and corporate securities. Never were they emphasized as they are now however. The watchword of today's banking philosophy is liquidity. It is stressed first, last and always. While corporate bonds may not be the last word in liquidity nor yield a very good return, they certainly are easier to turn into cash than a pasteurizer, a factory wing or a store addition. This one solution to the mystery of why three per cent corporate bond issues have been going over with such a bang. Bankers, however, are not so familiar with bond investments as they might be.

Loaded with "Governments"
 Some bank examiners urge the purchase of U. S. Governments, declaring they are the safest bonds a bank can hold. Bankers like them, too, because they can be exchanged into dollar bills almost at a moment's notice. Illustrating this trend is the fact that over two-thirds of Member Bank investments are in "Governments" today, compared with about one-third in 1929. Meanwhile, deposits are steadily increasing—are about 100 per cent higher than in 1933 and are above the 1929 high. The bankers are just sitting tight, however, with the greatest reservoir of idle cash in history in their vaults.

The RFC, the Commodity Credit Corporation the Farm Credit Administration, the FHA, and others have gobbled up some of the most profitable business the banks formerly had. We have gone a long way toward complete nationalization of credit! The private banks are fast becoming merely service organizations running the nation's huge checking business, caring for securities operating a trust business, and buying government bonds. The gigantic credit agencies are now doing the loan job the banks once did.

 The immediate future does not look hopeful either. The demand for intermediate and long-term business credit on an installment basis must be met. We must have such credit to stimulate recovery, to create new jobs, to make new products.
