Greyhound Coffee Shop Doing Big Business

Business at Greyhound Coffee Shop, operated by A. H. Rossi on Broadway in Beaverton, is gradually growing and is a good bit better than during the same period last year. There is a great influx of tourists in Beaverton and there also is quite a lot of work going on here that was not existent last summer and that accounts for a good deal of the business. Another thing, more to the point. You can get a real meal of fine home cooked foods here at very fair prices and they make their own pastries, handle ice cream and other confections and this is the Stage Depot for Beaverton.

Fly-swatting has about the same potential opportunity for skill as golf.

Andy Fuhrer Doing Lively Service Station Business

Not all young men who know step right out of high school into a nice business of their own on their own resources and hard earned money, but Andy Fuhrer, Beaverton High school graduate of this year is one who has practically done that. He bought what was known as Wilson Service Station last spring and went to work for himself. He has an exclusive Richfield station, handles accessories and just lately installed a fine modern hoist so that from now on he will do extra fine lubrication jobs, and he says the work will definitely be thorough and he will use the well known Richfield lubricants to insure tip-top results.

At first business came rather slow, until through consistent effort it began picking up; people learned he had taken over this station at the intersection of Bertha-Beaverton highway and Scholls road, a very important intersection. Business began coming his way more than ever and now he is doing exceedingly well and has the station open until 10 o'clock every evening. Take your car to Andy for service.

Independent Motor Co. Re-organized

The Independent Motor Company, which has been operating at 1440 West Burnside Portland, Oregon, has recently undergone a complete re-organization. A new stock of good popular used cars has been placed on their lot at unbelievable prices. These cars have all been personally inspected by Mr. Galbreath, who is now sole owner of the Independent Motor Company.

Mr. Galbreath has also acquired The North Portland Garage, located at 2311 NW Johnson street, which is operated under the name of Independent Motors Garage. The garage is under the supervision of Master Mechanic Jack Owsley. This garage is equipped to give complete automotive service at most reasonable prices. i. e., mechanical body and fender, painting, car upholstery installation repairing, cleaning and dyeing.

Guarantees on cars sold are in writing and stood behind 100%. Most of their business comes from repeat (Satisfied customers), and their friends they bring in. Mr. Galbreath is especially pleased with the business from the Tualatin Valley.

Church Conducts Interesting Services

Regardless of hot weather the services at the Church of Christ is growing in interest and attendance. Last Lords day the Bible School went over the high mark. The preaching services attendance was also over the top with five additions to the church by confessions and baptisms. The baptism service was held in the evening with a large attendance to hear the sermon on baptism and enjoy the rousing gospel song service led by Mr. George.

Sundae Toppings To Double Your Ice Cream Profit

It's ice cream time! And here's a way to double your ice cream profits with no effort at all! Sell Pennant "Sundae Toppings." This fast moving item is a "natural" for hot weather . . . just put it out where your ice cream customers can see it, and then watch it move out!

Remember, it's a plus sale. A pint of ice cream sells for 15 cents and a jar of pennant sundae topping brings you 15 cents more. Pennant Sundae Toppings are backed by a strong, consistent advertising campaign appearing in your local paper during the summer months, and are manufactured right in Portland by Gray & Co., famous for their quality bakery and fountain supplies. The toppings come in "six delicious flavors" which have been found to move rapidly. The flavors include chocolate, pineapple, strawberry, marshmallow, Butterscotch and caramel. Cases come in specified or assorted flavors and can be folded to form an attractive self service display.

Put Pennant sundae topping on your "must order" list and double your ice cream profits. Here's a sure cure for that summer slump, so order from your wholesaler today.
