

Seal Sale Started in Washington County

The Tuberculosis Seal Sale in Washington county is in full swing. Schools will take an active part in the Christmas seal campaign which opened on Thanksgiving Day and continues through Christmas.

A teaching unit on tuberculosis prevention, called "The Message of the Double-Barred Cross," has been distributed to all Chairmen superintendents and teachers of Washington County.

"This story on tuberculosis and its prevention and the part played by the double-barred cross, international badge of the drive against tuberculosis, is a very interesting pamphlet."

For a number of years the Washington County Health Unit has made steady progress in its tuberculosis control program.

All important phase of this program is the routine testing of school children with tuberculin. The larger schools in the county are reached every two years and the small rural schools as often as possible.

All positive reactors to the tuberculin test are X-rayed. In families where the cost of X-ray films is prohibitive the expense is borne by the Washington County Health association.

Tuberculin testing of school children is, of greatest value in locating adults in the family who may be open cases of tuberculosis and who may have been responsible for the infection of the school child.

Pacific University and the numerous parochial schools are in the routine testing program.

Tuberculin test are given at the office of the Health Unit in the County Court House on Saturday mornings from 10 to 12 a. m. This service is available to anyone requesting it.

During the past year two groups who have been added to the routine testing program are the CCC applicants in the county and all expectant mothers who are under the county physician's care.

Since November 1, 1938, 1731 children and adults have been given the tuberculin test. Of this total number 92 reacted positively.

At present Washington County's census at the Tuberculosis hospital is eleven. During the past year seven patients have been admitted and seven have been discharged. Washington County has lost two lives from tuberculosis this year.

The death rate from tuberculosis in Oregon is still on the decline. This declining death rate is due largely to early diagnosis of cases which in turn is made possible by the use of the tuberculin test and other modern diagnostic aids.

Tuberculosis is preventable and is curable if discovered early. If we care enough, it can be wiped out. Until then the Tuberculosis Seal Sale slogan holds true that "No home is safe from Tuberculosis until every home is safe."

Peanut Butter Factory

Operated by Students

Peanut butter is paying the way of eight students through Little Rock, Ark., junior college.

W. M. Travis, "father of farm chermurgy in Arkansas," conceived the idea when he talked with fathers and mothers from rural sections who brought produce to a local curb market, and found that many children from farm homes could not hope for higher education.

He found there was no peanut butter plant in Little Rock. Thus, the students could make and sell peanut butter without competing with another Arkansas industry. Travis broached his plan to Dean E. Q. Brothers of Junior college. Brothers was enthusiastic, and even authorized a small loan from the school to assist in establishing the plant.

The eight boys and girls operating the plant come from rural families in the vicinity of Little Rock. They work five hours a day in the plant, which is located at a local curb market, and attend classes in their spare time. They are paid at the rate of 25 cents an hour.

The students do all the work. They supervise the buying of the peanuts, process them, and market the product.

METZGER

R. N. Kohlman personally supervised placing of a large neon sign at the front of his home in Metzger Monday. One part bears the words "Merry Christmas" and the other "Happy New Year." Boulevard Heights, the south end of the project connecting the north line of Mr. Kohlman's home place here, is being developed quite rapidly. It reaches from this point to Garden Home and so far 44 homesites have been sold and house construction either completed or now in progress.

The Metzger Water District held their annual election Monday at the Community club house, with Mrs. H. C. Patton, Mrs. Fred Geil and Mrs. Florence Ryle on the election board.

Attendance was good at the Ladies Aid meeting November 29 with Mrs. H. C. Patton. A collection was taken for a needy family and another collection taken to go toward repair work at the church in Metzger.

Rodney Sims of Metzger, has been pledged to Alpha Zeta, national honor society in agriculture at Oregon State college.
