TUALATIN

J. D. Weber is now the owner of the 83 acre Peters farm on the Mulloy road just across from the Clackamas line. The land also borders on the Wilsonville road No. 217.

Included in the deal was a trade of Oswego property. Several thousand dollars are to be expended at once for improvements to make the dwelling and outbuildings strictly modern.

The Grange ladies met at the new hall Tuesday to wash windows and help the men folks get the hall clean for the meeting February 26. The hall is a great addition to Tualatin and its completion is very largely due to the untiring efforts of those two well known contractors: M. W. Pennington and Archie Walker. They and many others have donated their expert labor for not only weeks but months. The piano came Tuesday and the range is installed in the basement. Both are paid for. Mrs. L. P. Johnson has given the Grangers two beautiful floor lamps with large white and gold shades complete and Mr. Johnson presented the grange with the lot where the building stands. A very generous pot luck dinner was served Tuesday noon.

Miss Helen Bradbury and Wesley Ellery of Portland, were dinner guests at the home of the former's father Friday evening, J. H. Bradbury and Mrs. Bradbury.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wilson of the Durham store, Mrs. E. J. Becker of Alaska, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Worthey of Sellwood Friday evening.

The two sons of J. L. Opray who are employed at Heppner returned Sunday.

THE Poet's Corner —BY— OWAIN—The Bard

IF

If you can keep your head When all about you Are losing theirs And blaming it on you; If you can trust yourself When all men doubt you, But make allowance For their doubting, too; If you can wait Or not be tired by waiting, Or being lied about, Don't deal in lies, Or being hated, Don't give way to hating, And yet, don't look too good, Nor talk too wise.

IF you can dream

And not make dreams your master; If you can think, And not make thoughts your aim, If you can meet With triumph and disaster And treat those two imposters Just the same; If you can bear to hear The truth you've spoken Twisted by knives To make a trap for fools, Or watch the things You gave your life to, broken, And stoop and build 'em up With worn-out tools.

If you can make one heap

Of all your winnings; And risk it on one turn Of pitch-and-toss, And start again, at the beginning And never breathe a word About your loss; If you can force your heart And nerve and sinew To serve your turn Long after you are gone, And, so hold on When there is nothing in you Except the will Which says to them: "Hold On!"

If you can talk with crowds And keep your virtue, Or walk with Kings,— Nor lose the common touch; If neither foe nor loving friend Can hurt you; If all men count with you, But none, too much; If you can fill The unforgetting minute With Sixty Seconds worth Of distance run; Yours is The Earth,— And Everything that's in it; And,—What is more,— You'll be A Man, my son!

—Rudyard Kipling (1865-1935) ever, with just a little money left, were going back to the farms, making new lives for themselves, and liking it. They were blotting themselves from charity rolls and improving the general situation. Yet, most of such efforts collapsed when Uncle Sam opened his relief purse. Today, hundreds of homes lie desolate and abandoned. Meanwhile, their former tenants purchase, with their relief pittance, quantities of products such as those acres could have produced.

It is Mr. Konkler's contention that farm development built this country in the first place. Therefore, he believes that only the development of our idle acres will today solve our relief problems. New pioneers on subsistence farms would not jump farm production much, would not add to farm surplus. It would stimulate business and trade in scattered areas, as these 1940 pioneers would have to buy every kind of farm tool and necessity. Best of all, this development would not skyrocket the national debt.

Needed: Men with a Will

I am not referring to resettlement projects of the type the government has tried in spots,—setting people down with high-falutin homes, giving them all modern conveniences, launching them with a hopeless debt. Let them begin just as their forefathers did, if they can do no better. What our country needs right now is THE MAN WITH A WILL. We need more men, more families, with the will to shun government help, with the will to take hold wherever they can, with the will to do their best with what they have to do with! Personal initiative was what made this country great, and only personal initiative will solve its present problems! Let me quote, Mr. Konkler.

"Our leaders, as a rule, are just plain afraid to suggest, even faintly, that individuals who are in need of help should help themselves. They fear to recommend the old-fashioned virtues and the personal advantages of going back to constructive work. I am not an idealist. I know all the loafers can never be converted to the advantages of hard work. But I do feel sure that a national drive along such lines, using plain talk instead of taffy, would greatly increase the percentage of those trying to help themselves.

"Farm relief measures have been political footballs; each candidate trying to increase the 'benefits' to the voting farmers back home. Instead of these handouts, we should encourage individual families to move back to farms. The men of these families would go to war to save their country. Wouldn't it be much more pleasant to go back to the land and save themselves as well as their country,—starting as farm hands or renters, then on up to ownership and security, just as people used to do? Think of the happy days—as they gained self-respect and independence, inch by inch. I know because I have been through it. Nothing else will ever bring them more happiness, satisfaction, or security!"

I do not need to add to Mr. Konkler's comments. He has summed up the situation concisely and emphasized a very fundamental principle.
