McNary Notification Ceremonies at Fair Grounds Colorful

By HELEN G. McNARY
It was your correspondent's good fortune to represent the Enterprise at the luncheon held at Fir Cone, the Charles L. McNary country home Tuesday, Aug. 27, 2 p. m. We were asked to meet at the bus terminal in Salem and there we were put into large Greyhound Sight Seeing busses and taken to the McNary farm.

Here were members of the press from all over the United States as well as Oregon and many prominent Republicans who had journeyed to Oregon for the notification ceremonies.

As we were strolling around the grounds prior to lunch we came face to face with the Senator, who put out his hand saying "Welcome to Fir Cone, relative!"

We then walked down a path, across a rustic bridge toward the tennis court which served as an outdoor dining room. Here three long tables were set for luncheon.

The Senator was soon swallowed up by news camera men and people who wanted to talk to him.

We walked over to the barbeque pits which were like long trenches about three feet deep and full of hot coals. Henry Thiele in white cap and apron was superintending the removal of the salmon. The salmon was wrapped in several thicknesses of butchers paper that had been oiled and then wrapped in chicken wire. There were 210 pounds of this Royal Chinook Salmon. After the wire was cut away with tin snips and the paper removed, the huge salmon was placed on large trays.

The luncheon was buffet style with the salmon the piece de resistance. There was also cold sliced turkey, pork and beef and huge baked potatoes. At the tables, which were decorated with bowls of zinnias, each place had a large stuffed tomato, decorated with three stalks of Oregon asparagus and Oregon celery. Also on the table was salted Oregon filberts and Tillamook cheese. The dessert consisted of apple and prune torte a la mode and coffee.

My luncheon companion was none other than Rep. Joseph Martin of Mass., republican national committee chairman and the man who later introduced Senator McNary at notification ceremony.

Setting next to Rep. Martin was Gov. Harold E. Stassen of Minnesota, the youngest governor in the U. S. A. Elected when he was 31 and now being 33. He greatly enjoyed the barbeque salmon, going back for seconds. Evidently the task of introducing Rep. Martin and being the "keynote" did not effect his appetite.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. T. Gerlinger were opposite me and Gov. Sprague and party were on the far side of Governor Stassen.

Others of prominence that I noticed were Ralph H. Cake, republican national committeeman for Oregon, Kern Crandall republican state chairman, Lowell Paget, Sigfrid Unander, Sen. Rufus Holman and daughter, Ex. Gov. Frank T. Merriam of Calif., and Ex-Rep. W. C. Hawley.

Sen. John G. Townsend of Delaware, was Mrs. Chas. L. McNary's luncheon companion. The Senator wandered around speaking to this person and that person. At 3 o'clock were taken to the Fair Grounds ready for the notification ceremonies.

I'll not attempt to record any of the speeches but what greatly impressed me, as it did many others, was the setting for the ceremony. The stage had been left with the set of mountains used for the Salem centennial upon which were placed 24 large army flags at spaced intervals. The breeze kept these constantly fluttering and on either side of the stage were the state flags, 24 on each side that also caught the breeze.

The stage was full of radio, news-men and women, state officials and photographers, out in an especially built platform were four news reel camera men and one very attractive camera woman.

The band that played for the ceremonies was none other than Multnomah's C. Ashley Cook. The university of Oregon Glee men also added to the music. Aeroplanes hovered overhead adding color to the proceedings.

While Senator McNary is not the political speaker that Gov. Stassen

Eighty 4-H Clubbers to Enter Exhibits at State Fair on Labor Day

Some 80 4-H club members from Washington county will attend the Oregon State Fair which starts Labor Day, September 2, where they will enter in the neighborhood of 100 exhibits and take part in judging and demonstration contests, according to an estimate made by Palmer Torvend, assistant county agent. These will be a part of the upwards of two thousand clubbers who are expected from throughout the state. A place has been provided where these club members will stay which is at a dormitory on the grounds which will accommodate about 500 at a time. The attendance will be staggered so as to be able to take care of the housing of all these boys and girls.

Major contest interests this year are centered around the dairy production and dairy consumption teams. State winners in these contests will be given an expense free trip to the National Dairy show in Harrisburg, Penn., this fall. Between 700 and 750 4-H club livestock exhibitors are expected at this fair. The second annual livestock auction will be held following the judging at which around 250 head of commercial baby beef, lambs, and hogs, will be sold. Local butchers from the various counties will be taking active part in this auction.

The Washington county delegation will leave after the close of the county fair. Some exhibits will be taken to Salem Saturday night and the remainder Sunday morning.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attractive in a princess gown of white satin with a veil of white tulle edged with lace, which fell from a coronet of seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of rubrum lilies.

Her attendants, Mrs. John E. Lenz, sister of the bride, and Miss Alice Benson wore similar dresses of aqua and peach embossed mouseline de soie with deeper shaded velvet bows in their hair. They carried sprays of gladioli.

William Dornbach acted as best man for his brother. Ushers were John E. Lenz, and John Schellhorn.

Immediately following the ceremony, a wedding breakfast was served at Henry Thiele's.

A reception was held in the afternoon at the home of the bride's parents. Assisting were Mrs. A. T. Sohler, Mrs. Henry Sohler, Mrs. Jack McDonald and Miss Bernadette Ryan.

Twenty girls motored from place to place to enjoy the various delicious courses, for which Janet Cornell, Billy Lee, Pat Stewart and Doris McGreen were hostesses at their respective homes. Mrs. Spencer Speaker at League of Women Lunch

At the Washington County League of Women prospective voters luncheon Monday at the Forest Hills golf club, Mrs. M. Donald Spencer of Portland advised that only verified information of candidates should be repeated. Know your government, prospective voters were advised.

Tickets for an open dinner meeting September 23, at the Hillsboro chamber of commerce were apportioned to members, and final plans made at an executive board meeting. Arrangements were made for supplying each guest with a copy of ABC of the U.S.A. a manual for voters.

County Fair in Hillsboro Open

Big Three Day Program Offers Entertainment for All Members of Family

All roads will lead to the Washington County fair ground at Hillsboro this week end for this county's 14th annual fair and exposition of the Tualatin valley's best in agriculture.

The big three-day program, August 29 to 31, is expected to set new records for quality, variety of exhibits and entertainment interest, Leon S. Davis, fair manager, said today.

Program numbers, this year more than ever, will offer novelties, a look at the program discloses. The list ranges from killed Scot bagpipers to rug-cutting jitterbugs, from mutt dogs on parade to performing dogs and ponies, and from archery to harvest pageantry.

Grangers, farm unions, 4-H clubbers and Future Farmers, all in the role of exhibitors, have combined to provide a total entry list requiring every inch of available display space, despite recent additions to the fair ground buildings, Davis revealed.

Visitors on tour of the exhibits will find a new feature this year at "Hobby hall"—offering collections, hobbies and handicraft, with C. T. Richardson as superintendent.

Also sharing space with the customary prize pumpkins and jars of jelly will be a record-breaking total of commercial booths, expected to strike many novel notes this year. A state forestry display will be another 1940 innovation.

As in the past years, 4-H and Future Farmer participants will vie for the honor of representing this county at the coming state fair, and for such traditional awards as the Calf Manna, Sperry, breed special and showmanship trophies. J. E. Blinkhorn, Forest Grove heads the FFA division, while 4-H club activities are in charge of Palmer Torvend, boys, and O. B. Kraus, girls.

Other department heads are: Elmer Guerber, livestock; W. C. Christensen, grange and farm union; Mrs. H. W. McDonald, domestic science; Mrs. Elizabeth M. Vincent, domestic art; Harry Schmeltzer, farm crops and vegetables. All report that the exhibits this year will help make the 1940 show a banner one.

Following Thursday's opening day events, Friday and Saturday will find the 1940 fair swinging into its full stride.

Highlights on the Friday program include all-day judging of dairy cattle, girls' 4-H demonstrations, style revue in the evening, awards to some of the 4-H winners, and a vaudeville show by Journal Juniors at 9 p. m.

Afternoon and evening performances of a dog and pony act are scheduled at 1:30 o'clock, and following the vaudeville show. Hilarity will be the theme of one afternoon contest, in which youngsters will compete in a pig-driving contest. This is set for 1:30 o'clock.

Showmanship contests, competition among girls in bread baking and dollar dinners will mark Saturday morning's activities, followed at 2 by the Calf Manna showing.

A mutt dog show by Hillsboro Rotary club and Northwest Oregon archery contest will be afternoon events.

Washington county amateur talent, in response to last week's appeal, will stage what promises to be a fast moving, varied show Saturday evening. Presentation of 4-H awards will be completed following the show.

Ringling down the curtain on the 1940 fair, nimble-footed couples will take the spotlight on the auditorium dance floor Saturday at 10 p. m., to offer Washington county its first jitterbug contest, as an intermission attraction of the closing dance.

Says Japan Menaces U. S.

Babson Appeals For Peace Conference NOW

San Francisco, August 30—A poker game is on in earnest between Japan and the U. S. We "opened" last Summer with the cancellation of the trade treaty we signed in 1911. Then we "raised" the Japs with the license restrictions on arms and ammunition in May. Now we are raising the bid again by extending these restrictions to scrap iron and petroleum. Japan is boiling mad, but she is staying right in the game by threatening to grab the Dutch East Indies source of our vital rubber supplies.

Freer Hand for Nippon

We never worried much about Japan as long as the British could keep a weather eye peeled on the ambitious little fellows. It was, of course, hard for American missionaries to explain to wounded Chinese why Japan should be raping China with American genius, arms, and materials! But now with the Axis twisting the British Lion's tail, it's a different story. The British Asiatic Fleet still commands the vital Straits of Malacca, but can this fleet keep watch over the mighty Japanese Navy while the British Home Fleet is battling for its life in the North Sea? This is the question which thinking people are asking here on the Pacific Coast.

If the British should be licked (and I don't believe they will be), part of our fleet would have to rush from the Pacific into the Atlantic. It is a cinch that the Japs would move quickly in such a contingency. If the British are not licked, even so the pressure on them will be terrific. They will find it hard to protect the Dutch East Indies even if they want to. The Japs know we would then be the only obstacle. Will they gamble on the chance that we won't act? Will they grab the Indies before we can move and hope that U. S. citizens will shrug their shoulders and mutter, "Why should American boys defend Dutch possession in the far-off Orient?"

Raw Material Source

It seems a good question. Why should they? I will give the reason. Can you imagine a U. S. motorized army of scout cars, trucks, airplanes, without rubber tires? Could the U. S. or Canadian industrial system function with tireless automobiles, trucks and busses? I doubt it. We and our Canadian brothers must have rubber! Our new synthetic rubber—Ameripol—will not be ready in sufficient amount for several years. The Dutch East Indies are our principal source of natural rubber. Continued on Page 5

Beaverton Girl Weds Portlander August 17

Miss Marian Lucille Boyson of Beaverton, daughter of Mr and Mrs. Ben A. Boyson of the same city, became the bride of Mr. J. Reynolds Lash of Portland, son of Mrs. Robert E. Lash, also of Portland, in the evening of August 17 at Rose City Presbyterian church with the Rev. Byron W. Travis officiating in a setting of white flowers and candlelight. Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore traditional white slipper satin made with a train and trimmed with seed pearls. Her full-length veil was held in place with a coronet of pearls and orange blossoms and her flowers were Mme. Butterfly roses, bouvardia and swansonia.

Miss Rhea Bradi, the maid of honor, wore a powder blue taffeta jacket frock and carried coral gladioli and blue delphiniums. Bridesmaids, the Misses Lillian Jacobs, Ethel June Rathman and the bride's twin sisters Eleanor and Lenore, wore gowns of peach-colored taffeta and carried bouquets like Miss Bradi's.
