

Strenuous Life of Farmer Demands Perfect Health

When the city worker has a "spell" he can merely phone the boss, he's indisposed for a day or so, and some one else does the work or waits on the customer. Even if he's off for two or three weeks, the job is taken care of, and generally he doesn't even lose his wages. But with the farmer it's different. And the same thing goes for the Mrs. or other farm workers. When they're crippled up or laid up, there's the stock to be fed, the crops and marketing done; and it will not wait. And they haven't a staff of assistants to fill in and do it for them. In the rural areas particularly, it seems that Asthma and Hay Fever gives more trouble, inconvenience, and loss of time, than most other physical troubles. So your newswriter is bringing you a message each week in this newspaper, starting this week, from Dr. R. S. DeArmond, practicing Physician and Surgeon, of 646 Morgan Bldg., (Broadway at Washington) Portland; announcing that he is giving special attention to those suffering from these troubles. A personal interview with him will convince you, (as it has the writer) from the testimonials and proofs of many cases where such troubles have been definitely stopped. Look for Dr. DeArmond's invitational card elsewhere in this newspaper.

Ernest Linwood Hawkes, of Los Angeles, Internationally known Evangelist-lecturer, will give a series of illustrated addresses at the Beaverton Church of the Nazarene, commencing Tuesday night, Sept 3 and running nightly until the following Sunday.

Mr. Hawkes carries a large assortment of scientific equipment which includes a 12 ft screen and the largest projector made, and a complete picture-study of the heavens.

Mr. Hawkes is a musician and speaker of note and holds his audience interest to the last.

COOPERATIVE SCHOOL

Graduates of Oregon High Schools who intend to further their chances for a splendid position should be interested in the Portland School of Business whose announcement appears elsewhere in this issue.

Everyone is familiar with the cooperative idea and it has been very successfully applied to this business school. It happens to be the only cooperative school in the Northwest. Tuition rates are lower than can be offered by privately owned schools and the finest of training is offered with the added advantage of small classes which insure individual instruction.

Complete courses in comptometry, stenography, accounting, business machines, in fact everything in the way of business training can be obtained at this school at an established tuition rate in the shortest possible time, consistent with thorough instruction.

Guest cards are available enabling prospective students to attend all classes without charge or obligation for a short period to acquaint them with the facilities of the school. Any student interested in having a guest card may write or phone for one.

WHITFORD

Douglas Taylor conducted the services and two young ladies from Portland rendered special vocal music at church.

Louie Larson who has spent the past two years in Minnesota, returned to his home last Friday bringing a bride which was a surprise to his relatives and friends.

Mrs. Alice Check of Portland spent the week end with her sister Miss Mary Jane Spurlin.

Miss Stella Gihletti has been visiting in Portland at the home of her uncle and aunt Mr. and Mrs. T. Postecio and family.

There were forty one present at Sunday School, five of whom were visitors, Virgil Savage and James Haines from Eugene, were two of the group. Virgil Savage leaves soon for Cleveland, Tennessee, to enter Bob Jones College.

Mrs. Harriet McKernan sold her acreage at the corner of Scholl Road, and Denney Rd. The purchaser is having a well dug and other improvements will follow.

Ivan Gilson who is doing secretarial work in a CCC camp in Eastern Oregon is visiting his parents Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Gilson.

A fire started by Walter Shallberger on the Mott farm on Saturday got out of control. The Beaverton fire company responded to a call and a crowd soon gathered and with hard fighting the fire was put out. It burned over several acres on the Denney Dairy farm.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Downing and son spent last Sunday at Seaside.

and Rep. Martin are, yet his personality and friendliness was felt by all. He looks a great deal younger than his pictures indicate as his skin has a ruddy healthy glow, his hair only sprinkled with grey, and his step is young and springy. He followed his speech with his index finger and made few gestures.

His small daughter Charlotte was restless and not at all impressed by the proceedings going out to find an ice cream bar as would any 5 year old.

All in all it was a great day for Oregon and we were all thankful for cool breezes and the absence of rain.
