

Whitford Housewives Experiencing Usual Happenings of Late

An unusual circumstance has been happening in this community the past week. Two ladies drive up to the doorway and one alights and knocks at the door, and when admitted asks if the lady of the house has any old dishes. The lady goes to get something to show her and she follows and goes to the cupboard and takes out anything that attracts her attention and is determined to purchase. The lady of the house refuses to sell and she leaves and goes to other homes and does the same thing. Antique buyers of china and glass they no doubt are.

Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Templeton met with what could have been a very serious accident Wednesday morning as they were returning from Hillsboro. As they started to make the turn by the Fair grounds this side of Hillsboro, their car commenced to skid from one side of the highway to the other and finally landed on its side in the ditch. Mrs. Templeton had several ribs fractured but Mr. Templeton escaped with very few bruises. Suzanne Templeton their grand daughter, was thrown clear of the car and escaped unhurt.

Mrs. Hattie Crittendon has been in Portland for the past week or ten days. She is caring for a lady who is recovering from the effects of a fractured hip.

Mrs. R. B. Denney went home with her daughter Miss Ruth to Monmouth after attending the wedding of George Spriggle and Virginia Watson. Mrs. Denney returned Monday.

The Friendly Neighbors club met Wednesday and the ladies who knit put in the time knitting sweaters and the others sewed on a quilt. Mrs. Green and Mrs. Frank Gison were hostesses and served a dainty lunch of coffee, tea and cake.

The regular meeting of Beaverton Grange was held Saturday. After the regular business meeting a pot luck dinner was served at noon. A beautiful birthday cake adorned the table. Mrs. Howel was the recipient of many good wishes for a happy birthday. The program in the afternoon consisted of talks on birds. Each one telling the name of their favorite bird. A listener would know that the members of Beaverton Grange are friends of the birds. This with music made up the program. The dining room and meeting rooms were beautifully decorated with spring flowers.

Traffic Heavy at Bridge of the Gods

Fine weather of the past week has caused an advance in the season for family picnics and drives. This has been especially noticeable at the famous Columbia River crossing—Bridge of the Gods.

Families are enjoying perfect trips easterly on the Columbia River Highway past the numerous beautiful falls, then a stop and inspection of majestic Bonneville Dam. This exceptionally scenic trip proceeds to Cascade Locks and the crossing over the 135 foot high Bridge of the Gods, furnishing distant views easterly and westerly of the Columbia Gorge. Return by way of the Evergreen Highway in Washington to Vancouver affords many beautiful vistas from points of vantage along this highway.

The round trip may be made leisurely in an afternoon and there is not a dull moment along the way.

Have you looked over the ads this week? If not do so, they carry a world of news.

State Leaders to Aid School Lunch Program

A healthy America, through extension of the school lunch program to over 35,000 Oregon school children within the year, is the goal of an advisory committee of state farm, educational, nutritional and welfare leaders, announced today by the Portland office of the Surplus Marketing Administration. Administered by the Surplus Marketing Administration in cooperation with the State Welfare Commission, WPA and NYA, 15,000 Oregon school children are now participating in school lunches made available through distribution of agricultural surpluses.

"Since as many children in well-to-do families, as well as children of families receiving public assistance, are subject to improper diet, the committee expects to stress that the health of tomorrow's citizens is of primary concern to everyone," said M. Louis Bolangro, Area Director, Surplus Marketing Administration. "Any school may participate in the School Lunch Program upon certification by school principals, county administrators, health authorities or responsible officials that malnourished children will benefit."

Diagonal Parking On Watson Street Stopped

Watson street has taken on a real businesslike appearance with the elimination of diagonal parking. White lines marking parking space parallel with the curb, relieving congestion to traffic by allowing a wider thoroughfare for moving vehicles. Such improvements indicate Beaverton officials are becoming metropolitan minded and advancing with the rapid growth of the district.

General Presents New Improved Motor Fuels

Owners of all kinds of cars will be interested in the announcement just made by General Petroleum Corporation that its new gasoline—Mobilgas and Mobilgas Special—have been still further improved, not only with a higher octane rating, but with a complete balance and stepping up of performance that promises benefit to owners of automobiles both old and new.

"General Petroleum Corporation has a fixed policy of keeping abreast of and even ahead of automotive developments," says A. E. Horn, Jr., Northwest resident manager, "and its great staff of research engineers is at work constantly to develop new methods or scientific formulae that will bring to the motorist a constantly bettered performance at a continuing economy of operation."

"Only last summer we brought out a new Mobilgas and Mobilgas Special with higher octane. Now we are again stepping up the octane, along with a new balance and specification that tests have shown to provide improved road performance, better mileage, better hill climbing ability and better all around operation under any climatic conditions."

"As usual, a heavy newspaper campaign is announcing these improvements to Pacific Coast motorists," Horn states, "in line with the desire of the distributors of 'America's Favorite Gasoline' to acquaint motorists as rapidly and effectively as possible with the added advantages to be secured through the use of these improved motor fuels."

Agreement Drawn On Federal, State Seed Enforcement

Aiming for closer coordination of activities under the Oregon seed law with those under the federal seed act, the state department of agriculture this month signed a cooperative agreement with the U. S. D. A. agricultural marketing service.

The agreement will make the provisions of the federal seed act fully effective in protecting buyers of seed in this state from shipments of seed made in interstate commerce, as well as protecting seed buyers from advertising in interstate commerce that may be in violation of the federal act.

The Oregon department will designate certain of its inspectors to draw samples of seeds subject to the federal seed act. Besides inspecting such seeds found within the state, these men will secure information and records relative to such shipments. The agreement entails expenditure of no special funds.
