Babson Says...

enforce. Secretary Doughton's Committee, therefore, at the earnest request of the Treasury Department, prepared the famous "Section 102" as a part of the tax law revision of 1938. This section certainly had teeth in it and has great powers for evil. In short, Section 102 provides that if an Internal Revenue agent, who examines your books, thinks you have put aside too much as a reserve, he can inflict a severe penalty on all your reserves—not simply on the portion which he thinks is excessive. There have been informal rulings that a corporation may set aside 30% but even these rulings have caused much trouble. As a result of Section 102, corporations and employers have refrained from setting up proper reserves rather than risk the terrific penalty.

Taxes Cause Unemployment
It, therefore, was a happy surprise when Mr. Ganson Purcell, a member of the Securities and Exchange Commission recently told the National Business Conference here at Babson Park that large reserves should be set up today as a cushion to avoid after-war unemployment. Where it may be well to force employers to pay out as dividends most of their earnings during a period of depression, the reverse is now true. Mr. Purcell stated specifically that the country's industries should now build up reserves to offset the repercussions which the end of the war will bring. Let me quote him definitely.

"Corporate structures which are streamlined now will be that much better able to make a transition from production for war to peacetime production without having to drop men from their payrolls. Reserves not needed for defense activity must be carefully stored up against the day when they will be needed for this vital post-war purpose. Where those reserves are in excess cash they can, in the meantime, be put to defense work by investment in government securities."

Roosevelt vs. Changing Conditions
At first thought it appears that Mr. Purcell is taking an opposite stand to that of the Treasury Department a few years ago. This is not necessarily true. The Treasury department's demand for a tax on undistributed profits was then possibly justified because during depressions cooperations and investors hoard their money, refuse to make additions and improvements, and carelessly discharge employees.

Today the situation is entirely changed. Instead of employers hoarding money, many are wastefully spending it. New factory buildings and excess machinery are being acquired at a tremendous rate. I am sure that if President Roosevelt would carefully reconsider the question today he would reverse his position and agree that employers should be penalized for not setting up greater reserves! The need of the hour is, as the SEC is recommending, that, for the duration of the War, we should all set up larger reserves than ever.

Results of the War
I have no doubts as to how World War II will end. It will end with the defeat of Hitlerism. I have been absolutely sure of it from the beginning and I am surer of it now than ever. As to what will happen after the War, I am not so sure. This will depend upon two things other than, of course, the War's duration.

(1) The character of our people. This War is largely a result of the world going materialistic and forgetting God and the fundamentals of life. If this War results in a great spiritual awakening throughout the world, then there is nothing to fear as to what will happen after the War. New industries will spring up to absorb unemployment.

(2) The question of reserves. If Section 102 is allowed to stand and corporations and employers are robbed of reserves from now on, then great disaster may be expected after the War is over. On the other hand if Section 102 is repealed for the duration of the War then reserves may be set up which, as Mr. Purcell suggests, can become a great cushion for after-the-War conditions.

Conclusions
The Treasury Department is now busy revising the administrative feature of existing tax laws. Let us hope that one of the features to be considered will be Section 102. In the meantime, each of us as individuals can begin today to store up reserves. We do not need legislation to follow the squirrels in the good example which they are setting us.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCH

Adam and Fallen Man is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, November 9.

The Golden Text is, Put off concerning the former conversation of the old man, which is corrupt according to the deceitful lusts; and be renewed in the spirit of your mind (Eph. 22:3).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: But there went up a mist from the earth and watered the whole face of the ground.

And the Lord God formed man of the dust of the ground, and breathed into his nostrils the breath of life; and man became a living soul (Gen. 2:6,7).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following correlative passages from the Christian Science textbook, Science and Health with Key to the history of error is a dream-narrative. The dream has no reality; no intelligible and dream are one, for neither is true nor real. First, this narrative supposes that something springs from nothing, that matter precedes mind. Second it supposes that mind enters matter, and matter becomes living, substantial and intelligent. The order of this allegory—the belief that everything springs from dust—has been maintained in all the subsequent forms of belief (p. 530).
