Sugar Rationing Registration Set

Applicants for sugar rationing books are urged by the Office of Price Administration to study carefully the application card before filling out and have the correct answers when they register on May 4, 5, 6, and 7. A separate application must be made for every person for whom a ration book is issued, but only one member of each family unit is to appear at the nearest elementary school to apply for all members of the family.

If you answer the questions promptly OPA estimates it will only take four minutes to fill out this form. One and a quarter million school teachers will serve as registrars.

1. Applicants should come prepared with a list of the members of their families, giving the exact name of each.
2. An exact description of each member of the family unit, giving the height, weight, color of eyes, color of hair, age and sex of each one.
3. The person who registers for the family unit must state his or her exact relationship to each member of it.
4. It is necessary to know to the pound just how much sugar is in the possession of the household. The amount of sugar will be divided by the number of people in the family and stamps will be torn out by the registrars for all sugar in excess of two pounds per person. If more than four stamps have to be removed, issuance of the book will be withheld until later.

One—and only one—member of each family unit is to go to the elementary school nearest to the person's residence to register and to apply for ration books for the whole family, OPA emphasizes. Single people not members of a family unit, even if they board with a family, must apply for themselves.

A family unit has been defined by the Office of Price Administration as "A group of two or more individuals consisting of all persons who are living together in the same household who are related by blood or marriage."

Persons who must be out of the city on the day set for their registration will be allowed to register on one of the other three days.

A Letter from One of The Boys

Beaverton Enterprise
Dear Sir:
I have received your edition of the paper and I want to thank you for them. It sure seems good to be able to read the home town news.

I have been sent to the air mechanics school here in Illinois, and will graduate the last of May.

I have been in the army four months now, and haven't found anything to complain about. The food is swell and we get passes once in a while to go to town outside the post. Time is growing short so I had better close.

Sincerely,
ALFRED GALLOWAY

LIBRARY NOTES

Hours 2-6 week days, 2-8 Saturday

If you want to get your mind off the war for a while, read A Sentimental Yankee by John DeMeyer. You will find yourself chuckling over the unusual situation in which John Diggs, a famous play-wright, finds himself upon returning after many years to his old home town in New England. With brisk humor the author tells how sadly disappointed was John Diggs when he found Redwood a bustling, cluttered up community, instead of a typical American village of his boyhood and disappointment led him to put progress in reverse and bring back the town to its original character.

A most artistic sign has been hung above the doorway at the public library, adding both dignity and beauty to the building. To Mrs. Jess Talbert goes the credit of designing it, while Mr. Humbert made the handsome wrought iron bracket. The High School boys under the direction of Mr. Zumwalt made the sign on which Mr. Lewin placed the raised letters Beaverton Public Library Bob Summers hung the completed sign so we see a community project finished up in the proper manner.

The bride came down the aisle on her father's arm. Her gown was of white slipper satin made with a net yoke and a long train. A Mary Stuart cap held her finger-tip veil of illusion in place. Her bouquet was of white sweet peas centered with an orchid.

Mrs. J. W. Thomas was her sister's matron of honor. Bridesmaids were the Misses Gerry Brown and Helen Johnson, the bride's sister. Adolph Freeman was best man for his brother. Ushers were Messrs. Carl Johnson Jr., Albert Freeman, Fred Johnson and Henry Freeman.

The meeting deliberations include three principal questions or problems. First, a general program for committee activity relative to prosecution of war. Second, procedure for activating war conservation in relation to highway traffic. Third, program for staffing national office and all state committees.

Secretary of State Snell is one member of a committee of five selected from men throughout the United States to compose an advisory group set up at the request of Secretary of War Stimson. Incidentally Snell has the honor of being the only man chosen from west of the Mississippi.

It has been necessary for Snell to cancel many speaking engagements in order to attend this emergency meeting. Urgency of attendance and the importance of the meeting stressed in a second telegram from Washington this week, brought Snell's decision to make the trip regardless of his campaign for the governorship.

Babson Says Buy With Judgement

Baltimore, Maryland, May 1—I am astounded by the way people are pouring into big retail stores to buy goods. Thus far the sales in this city are 40% ahead of the same period for last year. I surely urge readers to keep their heads. With the exception of metal, rubber, and a few other goods, stocks of merchandise unsold are still above last year. When this crazy buying period is over, you may again see "Fire and Water" sales and general markdowns in order to move goods.

War Will End Some Day

Another thing: When spending your money, spend it wisely. Buy things of permanent value. Your husband will not always bring home the fat envelope which he may now be getting from war work. Buy only for cash. Lay up money for the rainy days ahead which are bound to come. Use both "cents" and "sense" when buying.

There is one sure forecast: This is that the World War II will end some time. It may run on for years or it may all be over before 1943. Moreover, when it does end, the end will come suddenly at an unexpected moment. This means that some day we are to see very different conditions than exist today. Let us now reef our sails and prepare for storms.

How Businessmen can Help U. S.

Businessmen ask me how they can help win the war and prepare for the peace that is to follow. There are many ways—including the development of character and the building up of physical health. All can help in civic affairs, talk hopefully, trust those handling the war, and be square-shooters.

But to merchants and other businessmen who read this column, let me say:—As we are trusting Washington to manage the War, Washington is trusting us to manage business. This is our main job. Unless we attend to this, no one will do it. We must not be like the shoemaker whose own children went barefooted.

Let's Ration Money

Men who have left their own work to serve the government are entitled to much credit. They are making real sacrifices. This includes those who are serving part time without any salary as rationers of tires and other things. Their work is a thankless task. It especially applies to the soldiers who are at the front or in training camps.

All of us, however, can help win the war by spending wisely and saving much. We do not need an appointment from Washington for this important work. By thrift habits in our business and homes we are helping our boys at the front. But let us remember that it is not only tires, sugar, and other commodities which need rationing. We should and must ration money.

Consider Bank Stocks

Those who owe money are not the only ones who should be thrifty. All of us should store up reserves in order to prepare for whatever may be ahead. This means buying Defense Bonds and putting your money in a bank. By the way, there are two ways of "putting your money in a bank."

One way to put your money in a bank is to "deposit" it subject to call; but this gives you little or no interest. The other way is to buy the stock of the bank. Such stocks appear now to be selling at bargain prices. Consider the big New York City banks for instance: Chemical with book value of $40, selling about 32, yielding 5½%; Bankers with book value of $44, selling about 33, yielding 4½%; Chase with book value of $33, selling about 22, yielding 6 1-3; Irving with book value of $21, selling about 9, yielding 6½%. My favorite is the Guaranty selling for $100 per share below its book value and yielding 6%. When you buy some of these stocks it is much like buying U. S. Government Bonds at 60 cents on the dollar.

Read Your Bible

If you are afraid that New York City will be bombed, then put your money into a St. Louis or Kansas City bank. Better still buy the stock of your local bank. Good bank stocks should give safe diversification, experienced management, and government supervision unequalled in any other investment.

Winning World War II will be a double-barrelled affair. As a nation, we must spend money and go into debt; but as individuals we should save money and get out of debt. Readers who take religion and the Bible seriously should obey all its teachings. One of its most important commands is, "Owe no man anything" as ordered by St. Paul in his famous letter to the Romans and found in the 8th verse of the 13th chapter.
