Canning Sugar Ready Monday

Claim Plenty Time to Apply for Needed Ration

Persons in the Beaverton area can secure orders for sugar for canning from the sugar rationing board next week only—at the Beaverton grade school. A large number of residents have volunteered their services to the board, and applicants will be waited on promptly.

Be sure to bring sugar rationing book which was issued recently.

On Monday only—the hours are from 1 to 4 p. m.

The rest of the week from 9:30 a. m. to 4 p. m.

Remember—only next week can these certificates for sugar for canning be issued at Beaverton. Afterwards persons must go to Hillsboro to secure order for canning sugar.

People have plenty of time in which to make their applications for sugar for home canning and there is no time limit, declared Elmer L. Johnson, Hillsboro, chairman of the local rationing board Wednesday in commenting on the lineup of people at the Hillsboro office.

“Applicants can get any more sugar if they apply now than if they wait,” asserted Chairman Johnson.

Rush of applicants has resulted in a lineup every day since last Friday at the rationing board office in the Mitchell building on South Second avenue, Hillsboro. It is impossible for the limited amount of help that has been provided to handle the large number of applicants, according to Johnson.

For the convenience of the home canners application centers at Sherwood and Beaverton will be opened next week, for those who have war ration books, Johnson said.

Persons who cannot report on the suggested date, or who have fruit on hand requiring immediate attention, will be cared for on any of the three days.

When you apply for a home canning allotment of sugar you will be asked to answer 17 questions, W. S. Dirker, sugar rationing administrator for Oregon, states.

“These questions will determine the amount of sugar you will be allowed,” Dirker stated. “In making application it is advisable to estimate the amount of sugar you will need for various fruits you will use this summer, so that you will have a portion of your allotment on hand for fall canning.”

“Local rationing boards are ready to receive consumer applications for sugar for strawberry canning,” Dirker continued. “The maximum amount which will be allowed may not exceed one pound of sugar per four quarts of finished canned fruits and one pound per annum per person for use in preparing preserves, jams, jellies, or fruit butters. The family or individual will be limited to the canning of the quantity of fruit which the board deems reasonable for the family applying. There will be every effort to put this on an equitable basis, with consideration of the size and ages in the family, its past practices in canning, the fruit available to it, etc.”

“Applications will be accepted only from those who have registered for their war ration book. Those who have registered but have not received their books on account of their having excess sugar, may register and receive an allotment for canning sugar.”

No Retreat on The Home Front!

By Ruth Taylor
The front-porch and corner-store strategists are in their heyday. They know just what is wrong in the conduct of this war. They know just how the terrain that has fallen to the enemy should have been defended.

They prate grandiloquently about the lack of foresight, the blindness of the conquered nations. They talk about all-out war effort BUT they never seem to see that every hour they waste in idle talk is a step of retreat on the Home Front!

This is a War of Survival. As one of the United Nations we fight on the battle front, in cooperation with other nations fighting for their lives, to preserve our country. There must be no retreat on the Home Front!

We do not need to be forced into action. We can and will voluntarily keep the Home Front firm. But what does this mean in actual fact? How can it be done? It is very simple. It is something that every family, no matter how restricted its circumstances, can do.

First, let the whole family talk their particular problems out. It is a job for all, children and adults alike.

Decide in what way each member of the family may cooperate in a program of conservation, in the elimination of waste, in the utilization of all the family resources, whether they be in material or ability.

Determine upon a program of time-service, so that each may give to the communal war work in accordance with his or her capacity; those who can serve, serving, and those who are too young, helping in their own way by doing for themselves and others, so that the older members of the family may have more free time to serve.

Last, but not least, keep the light of faith glowing. Keep hatred, suspicion, resentment, prejudice, from your hearts. Learn not to be swayed by those who preach hate. Learn to recognize them for what they probably are—players in the Axis game of “Divide and Conquer.”

To win this war and to achieve Victory there must be no retreat on the Home Front!

Booms And Depressions

Babson Discusses These Uncertain Times

Babson Park, Mass., June 5—The economic life of the United States differs little from our own personal lives. Both are characterized by ups and downs. Wars, land speculation agricultural upsets, tariffs foreign relations, mergers, pumping-prime, legislation, labor unions, and other good and bad factors have played a part in the prosperity or in the decline of our country's affairs. When the war will end, and whether we shall have a post-war slump or whether boom times will continue, no man can now say. By another six months, however, the entire situation should be much clearer.

Looking Backward

My life has been spent in looking forward. I have continually tried to anticipate coming events in order to preserve my economic independence. Due to a praying father and mother, I have looked upward for guidance in my personal affairs and when advising others. Such success as I have had has come through my early recognition of the practical values of the unbeatable combination of faiths, industry, and intelligence. History certainly repeats itself and often is a dependable guide.

Hence, let me briefly review some of the events in our national economic experience in the order in which they have appeared to me. My father was born in the depression of the 50s—from which the Civil War pulled us out. I was born following the long depression of the 70s which was caused by the collapse of railroad and farm speculation and paper currency. Resumption of gold pay-

Letters From Home Promote Morale

“Write to your relatives and friends in the service frequently, regularly, and cheerfully,” the War Department urges and promises to make every effort for speedy delivery, no matter what difficulties are involved.

Letters from home—the right sort, of course—are invaluable for promoting and maintaining morale in the armed forces and it would make every man happier if he had someone “at home” to write to him. Post-office units have been organized throughout the service and are functioning efficiently.

No one who has visited an Army Camp and has seen the joy with which the boys receive mail from home and the dejection of those who are told, “Sorry no mail for you today,” can fail to appreciate the importance of mail from home as a morale builder.

Ours is the responsibility for sending the boys to their country's service, but when they are in the camps you have a responsibility and you can render inestimable aid in building up their morale by writing to them often and regularly.

Total collected in the county so far is $2,246.38 for a percentage of 41. This percentage is probably higher, Chairman Gates said, as nine of the communities have not yet sent in any report, but have undoubtedly been making collections.
