The Beaverton City Council met Monday night to ponder over the monthly bills and discuss ideas on how to improve the city, and make it a more attractive place to live in. Proceedings have been started to open a street from Cedar street thru Hawkins park to the Newman property, where Mr. Newman is building an attractive home.

The new street will be 50 feet wide. A new drive for scrap iron and other metals and rubber, so badly needed by the government, will soon be underway, according to Lee Richey. It has been found that the depots for these materials are too far apart and that people cannot haul them so far and attend to their other work. It is felt that the new plan will make it easier for everyone concerned.

More details about these new depots will be given later. Look over your barn, garage, fields, every scrap should be picked up and saved. A large crowd from Beaverton and surrounding area attended the drill of the guard at the high school last Thursday. Members of the Hillsboro and Multnomah guards were present, also Brigadier-General Ralph P. Cowgill commanding Oregon state guard.
