Leonora

Leonora straightened the objects on her desk with great care. She had put her desk at the end of her room facing the door so that when her mother came in she would have to cross the whole room under Leonora's stern executive eye to get to her. From movies and pictures in the newspapers Leonora had gotten a good idea of how the desk of a busy woman of affairs should look.

With an important scowl, Leonora picked up a sheet of paper. Now she was two people—herself, the busy woman, and her own stenographer. "Miss Simpkins, take a letter to the Secretary of the Treasury, will you?" she murmured under her breath.

"Yes, immediately," she murmured back at herself.

Leonora cleared her throat and looked at the ceiling for inspiration. Miss Simpkins bent over the sheet of paper hanging on the words about to fall.

"Dear Mr. Morgenthau," "Got that?" "Yes, madam."

"I am—ahem—thirteen years old and anxious to be of all possible service to the country at this time, ahem!"

"I earn a weekly income of from $1.37 to $2.12 by helping with the housework and by shovelling snow. I am at present in possession of one War Savings Bond and am buying stamps weekly. I want to become a member of the 10 percent Club. I feel it to be—ahem—not only my duty, but my privilege." ("How do you spell privilege?" asked Miss Simpkins. "Don't bother me with these details," said Leonora)—my privilege as an American to invest at least ten percent of my income in War Bonds.

Yours truly," "Get that off at once, Miss Simpkins," said Leonora. "Yes, Ma'am! You certainly are an important woman, ma'am," said Miss Simpkins.

Babson Sees Many Golden Opportunities

coming new boom will be financed on a much sounder money basis. Land purchased will be paid for with Uncle Sam's notes rather than with the notes of "Tom, Dick and Harry". Funds now being raised by the Government and represented by War and other types of Government Bonds will become legal tender. Much of this money will ultimately be invested in the purchase of land and the building of new homes.

Certainly, there will be a great revival in the manufacture and use of automobiles. At first few changes will be apparent; but in a few years many radical changes will be made in style and in materials used. Largely because of their lightness, aluminum and plastics will take the place of much steel and iron. Gas engines will be smaller but greatly improved. I foresee the day when the average car will get 40 to 50 miles per gallon of gasoline; and will add that the price of gasoline and the price of automobiles may even be lower.

The field of aeronautics is developing at a tremendous rate. Most of us are agreed that we shall see large freight and passenger-carrying clipper planes reaching almost every point of the earth. With over a million young men learning to fly and with a great margin of safety being built up, anyone who can learn to drive a car will also be capable of handling a small plane for his personal use. The helicopter type of plane appeals to me very much in this latter connection.

Spiritual Awakening Needed
It took this War to teach us that we can make synthetic rubber and other products. This makes us independent of the East Indies and Germany. Adequate substitutes for quinine, for example, are already in use; and we have found substitutes for hemp which formerly came only from the Philippines. We are now manufacturing our own potash and nitrogen generally used in fertilizer and in insecticides. Thus, agriculture, particularly through the science of chemistry, faces a most hopeful future.

Radio as we know it today will be replaced by television. Thousands of people are now being prepared to become customers, manufacturers and distributors of new electronic equipment. Space allows for the consideration of only a very few of the wonderful tools and services that will be made and used in the post-war era. As I consider them my enthusiasm for the future steadily increases provided we have an accompanying spiritual awakening.
