

BEAVERTON ENTERPRISE

PUBLISHED WEEKLY IN OUR PLANT ON SHORT ST. AND CANYON HIGHWAY

VOL. 16, NO. 19

Beaverton, Oregon, Friday, June 11, 1943

ESTABLISHED 1927

A good example of labor and management working together for the good of war bond sales is pictured above. H. J. Detlof (above) is secretary of the Portland Machinists union, and George H. Buckler (right) is a prominent general contractor. They are unloading metal scaffolding sections, used in construction of Multnomah County's new Victory Center in Portland. Detlof's union put up $5,000 to cover certain costs, and Buckler, with associated sub-contractors, donated services, material and labor valued at $8,000.

33 Donors From District Give to Blood Bank

Beaverton was well represented at the Red Cross blood bank when the mobile unit visited Hillsboro May 24th. The 33 donors who volunteered from this district were taken to the center by Beaverton people who donated their time and the use of their cars.

Also the Beaverton canteen corps prepared and served the food, coffee and fruit juices which are so important in keeping the donors in fine condition. The members on duty that day were: Mrs. Barbara Peck, Mrs. Ethel Johnson, Mrs. Ellen Johnson, Mrs. Gertrude Pearson, Mrs. Beulah Hope, Mrs. Edna Robinson, assisted by Mrs. Clarke Fisher, nutrition aide, Mrs. Jacqueline Kuenke, and Mrs. Fred Statter. The chickens for the luncheon served the doctors and nurses was donated by the Shultz hatchery and Mrs. N. P. Johnson.

The mobile unit will visit the Hillsboro High School gym the last Monday of each month from 9:30 to 1:30 and Washington county residents between the ages of 18 and 60 who are in good health are urged to attend, now organized and all cubs are registered, for an appointment and a diet list. The next date will be June 28.

4-H Summer Session Closes This Friday

Seventy-four 4-H club members from Washington County are in attendance at the annual 4-H summer school at Oregon State College, which started last Tuesday and continues until Friday, June 11.

Many of the club members were provided with scholarships, provided by civic fraternal and community groups. E. Maling, Inc.—Grace Connell; Charles Imlay—Joan Wagonsblast; Reedville Community—Beverly Bramhall and Eileen O'Meara; Beaverton Community Garden club—LaVerna Straley; Aloha Grange—Flora LaRue; Rosedale P. T. A.—Mervel Schlessler; First Security Bank, Beaverton, Robert Law.

Dehydrating Foods At Home

A new process has been created for dehydrating foods at home, using only an ordinary gas range and hand-made cloth tray. The tray consists of wood form covered with curtain netting. After being steamed and sliced, the vegetables are placed on the tray in the oven at a temperature of 150 degrees, with the oven door open to permit circulation of air. In about six hours the vegetables should be completely dehydrated for storing.

ARTHUR SLEEP

Arthur Sleep died June 7 at Beaverton, late of Greenview, Calif. He was father of Otis, Beaverton; step-father of Albert, Raffaele, Cal.; brother of George Sleep, of Klamath Falls, Ore.; also survived by 2 grandchildren. Funeral services were held Thursday, June 10 at Pegg's Chapel, Beaverton, interment Crescent Grove cemetery.

Prisoners Aid in Mailing Number 3 Ration Books

A group of Oregon state penitentiary prisoners have been at work several days filling in 1,235,000 No. 3 ration books and addressing approximately 400,000 envelopes in which they will be sent to persons living in every part of Oregon.

There is a day crew of 75 inmates and a night crew of 150. The project was organized under the direction of a prisoner but is being supervised by W. R. Edlund, assistant state rationing officer, and Richard D. Montgomery, district rationing officer. The work is to be completed by June 15.

The rationing books were brought to Salem from San Francisco under police guard. The inmates volunteered to do the work as a patriotic duty, Prison Warden George Alexander said.

Officials said these books would cover the entire state and that the prison operations would save considerable outside manpower.

A New Firing Line Beyond

I always thought that when I got to be fourscore I could wrap up my life in a scroll, tie a pink ribbon around it, put it away in a drawer, and go around doing the things I wanted to do. But I learned that when you have taken one trench, there is always a new firing line beyond.—Oliver Wendell Holmes

In 1942 winner of the Dodd, Mead-Redbook $10,000 dollar fiction prize is Turning Leaves by Ellen Proctor and is now ready for Beaverton Public library users. The story is that of the Livingston family, residents of a small Minnesota town, and tells in particular of the two oldest sisters, Gabrielle and Julia. Julia's shrewd mind guides her unerringly toward the luxuries of life, which she has never had, while Gabrielle is a quiet sensitive girl who is willing to suffer any hardships in order to become a singer. Their devotion to each other and to their family holds off the inevitable clash of their natures until the family finds itself facing a startlingly dramatic climax.

More About Our Boys

Dear Mrs. Gilham & Draft Board personnel:

Right now I am a heck of a long ways from home. From Ft. Lewis where we stopped for 6 days, we were put on a train and shipped to Sunny California. I will put in my basic training here at Camp Roberts, and after that I don't know what I sure miss the trees in good old Oregon. All we have here are hills and more hills. I am in the Field Artillery which is a pretty good branch, so they tell me. I think I'll probably be pecking at a typewriter, as much as I can find out here. I don't know for sure yet. Is Eunice still working on the board? I'd like to have her write if she is. Tell everyone hello for me and I'll try to keep you informed as to what I'm doing.

Yours Sincerely
Pvt. MIKE SCHECKLA

Clubs Asked to Mobilize For Work This Summer

The Women's Advisory Committee of the War Manpower Commission has called upon women's clubs throughout the country to mobilize their members for active service on the nation's farms this summer.

This mobilization, it was emphasized, is not to meet an immediate need but for one foreseen in the summer. Applicants for agricultural work will be called as the needs arise in their respective localities.

In those communities where such labor is urgently needed, women's clubs are urged to poll their memberships for those willing to work on farms on a seasonal, vacation, or full-time basis and to give this information to the county agricultural agent or the U. S. Employment Service.

Other activities suggested for women's organizations were to aid in mobilizing young people for farm work and provide necessary supervision of their living conditions; to assist local government officials in recruiting farm workers, and to acquaint women generally with the seriousness of the farm and food production problem through club education programs.

Thynng, 8420 SW Canyon drive, received her appointment Tuesday to the women's auxiliary ferry squadron and will leave June 22 to report at Avenger Field, Sweetwater, Tex., for preliminary training in the women's flying program. Miss Thynng, who holds a private pilot's license and has more than 150 hours to her credit, did her first flying at the University of Oregon under the civilian pilot training course. Since graduation from the university in 1941, she has been instructor of physical education at Commerce high school, keeping up her flying until grounded when Portland was declared in a combat zone.

An applicant for the WAFS must be between 21 and 34, be personally interviewed by the recruiting chief, hold a valid pilot's license and pass the army air force medical examination.

Upon completion of the five months training course, Miss Thynng will receive her silver wings from Jacqueline Cochran, founder of the WAFS, and assume her duties as a ferry pilot, which will include any assignment the army or navy may give her, inclusive of combat flying.

Second Half Federal Tax Due on June 15th

J. W. Maloney, Collector of Internal Revenue, points out that the so-called pay as you go legislation now before Congress does not relieve taxpayers of the duty of paying the second quarterly installment of the 1942 income tax due June 15, 1943. There is no pending or contemplated legislation relieving taxpayers from payment of this installment.

Because of the great volume of returns filed, the statements which are being mailed could not be posted up to date, and in some instances the balances shown may not correspond with the taxpayers record of payments. All payments should be considered in arriving at the payment due June 15 which must be sufficient to complete payment of one-half of the tax. Receipt of a statement will not require a payment if there has previously been paid one-half or more of the total tax.

Townsend School Teach Defense Work Courses

The Townsend school, 2346 NW Glisan street, Portland, will start its 18th fall term with college preparatory courses and special classes for those who dropped their high school courses to enter defense work.

Boys and young men who entered defense work and were unable to complete such schooling will be given special attention and individual instruction. The school recently conducted the entrance examinations for Phillips Academy in Andover, Mass., and also for the secondary education board.

Expensive Children

In Paducah, Ky., (Senator Barkley's home town), two teachers, two maids, a janitor and a cook form the staff for a day nursery built for the children of war workers as part of a $6,000,000 Federal project; but only 4 children are enrolled. It is estimated that it will cost $900 a month to operate the nursery for the benefit of 4 children.

MICHAEL E. O'MEARA

Michael E. O'Meara, early Beaverton resident, died Wednesday morning, June 9, in the Hillsboro hospital. Born in California January 12, 1879, O'Meara came with his parents to Oregon, 50 years ago, settling on a farm near Beaverton. He was a charter member of Hillsboro Council Knights of Columbus. Funeral services will be held Friday at 9:30 a. m. in St. Cecilia Catholic church, Beaverton, with interment in Cedar Mill cemetery. Recitation of the rosary was held Thursday at 8 p. m.

He is survived by seven brothers and sisters: E. A. and F. A. O'Meara, Beaverton; T. J., W. H., P. O. and Catherine O'Meara, Portland. A mobile unit visited Hillsboro May 29.

"See America First"

While Harold Ickes has been telling the nation to conserve on unnecessary travel because of the gasoline shortage, his own Department of Interior has continued to maintain a Travel Bureau established in 1940 to conduct a "See America First" drive.

Ration Book 3 Applications Being Addressed

Price Administrator Prentiss M. Brown announced today that first returns of the application of war ration book III show a surprisingly large percentage of errors which will cause delay in the distribution of the ration books.

"Registration by mail is on trial," price administrator Brown said. "The OPA adopted the direct mail method of registration to make registration easier for the public. Public cooperation is necessary for its success."

"Application forms that have been filled out incorrectly must be returned. Ration books cannot be sent to applicants who do not follow the instructions. This will cause delay in delivery of the ration books, and it will add to the load on post office employees and the thousands of volunteer workers throughout the country who are giving their time and energy so generously to ease the burden of war time rationing."

"Make sure that the actual signature of the head of the family or other person who has applied for the books, is at the bottom of the form. This handwritten signature on the application form certifies that all the statements made on the application are true. If the signature is typed or printed, or if no signature at all appears, the application cannot be accepted."

"Look at the back of the form for the OPA mailing center address. If the mailing center is in the same city, the application will only need a two-cent stamp. If it is not, place a three cent stamp on the application before it is mailed."

Drivers Licenses Good Till June, 1945

With hundreds of Oregon drivers needlessly filing applications for renewals of their driver's licenses this summer, Secretary of State, Hob Farnell reminded them that the last legislature amended the state driver's license law to extend current licenses for another two-year period.

Licenses which normally would have expired June 30, 1943, now will be good till June 30, 1945. This enables motorists who now hold licenses to operate on them for another two years without further examinations or fees.

Persons who do not have a license to drive in Oregon are required to obtain them, just as before. But those who now have licenses, will not be required to renew them till after June 30, 1945.

Motor Vehicle Owners Approve New Law

Mr. Leonard Adams, prominent local insurance representative, reports that the majority of automobile owners are in favor of Oregon's new Financial Responsibility Law. A few drivers think that the law should have required compulsory evidence of insurance. The most common comment seems to be that "I will carry automobile insurance all right, if the other drivers give me the same protection."

An excellent digest of the new Oregon law has been prepared by Alfred M. Best & Company, national insurance authorities; and these may be had without charge at Mr. Adams' office in the Rossi Bldg. next to the stage depot in Beaverton.

Working Parents May Place Children on Farms

Working parents who have children with some experience in farm work are looking for arrangements to place the children with farmers during the summer so that they may continue their work in Portland war industries.

These parents want homes for the children and in some cases expect some small pay. The children, which such placements are being considered are 12, 13 and 14 years of age, according to Mrs. C. W. Walls, chairman of the Multnomah Committee on the Day Care of Children, which has been seeking to obtain proper care for children whose mothers are working.

Farmers interested in taking such children for the summer have been asked to register with the Boys' and Girls' Aid Society, Studio Bldg., Portland, AT. 2353, for Multnomah county. Washington and Columbia counties register with the Boys' and Girls' Aid Society or the local Public Welfare Commission.

Thefts Reported by Several Persons

Theft of an OPA card used for paste C gas rationing coupons, which contained 46 C coupons was stolen from the Rasmussen garage at Beaverton recently, according to a report made to Sheriff J. W. Connel.

Robert Bismehn of route 1, Beaverton reports that two blue eye white Beveren's rabbits valued at $75 was stolen on May 29.
Paul Thynng of West Slope, reports theft of 2 1/2 chickens.
