

Suggestions on Meat Problems

One thing that puzzles most brides during spring and summer is how long will meat keep? What kinds keep best? Should meat be frozen at home? etc. This article deals with meat to be kept in refrigerators.

SMOKED MEATS—if mildly cured, require refrigeration but will keep up to two weeks. To prevent mold, wrap in cloth wrung out of vinegar; then wrap again in waxed paper.

FROZEN MEATS—will keep indefinitely if frozen in freezing unit. After thawing, frozen meat is more perishable than other meat. Caution: never refreeze, after meat is once thawed.

STEAKS, Chops, and Roasts—keep best of all meats. May be kept up to three days just below the freezing unit. When buying roasts for later use, choose them well-covered with fat.

GROUND MEAT—should be cooked within 24 hours after purchase, or frozen when you get home. Before freezing form it into cooking portions. Avoid unnecessary handling.

VARIETY MEAT—such as liver, kidneys, hearts, sweetbreads and brains keep best when frozen. Freeze them as soon as you get home or cook them within 24 hours after purchase.

LEFT OVER—COOKED MEATS should be stored in a covered dish to prevent drying. Generally, leftover meat should not be cut or ground until just before using.

POULTRY—unlike meat, should be cleaned and washed before refrigeration. Whole birds keep better than disjointed birds. Cut up birds just before using. Freeze chicken like meats.

FISH—should be cooked within 24 hours after purchase. If it is to be kept longer freeze it immediately. To freeze fish and meats at home follow directions below.

Wrap meat or fish in waxed paper and place in ice tray. (Separate individual portions with waxed paper to prevent freezing together). To freeze quickly place tray on bottom shelf of freezer and turn control to fastest freezing point. For continued storage after freezing, reset control to a colder than normal position. Keep meat in freezer until time to use it. Never refreeze after thawing.
