

Message To Service Wives

Babson Discusses Postwar Jobs

Babson Park, Jan. 7—I want to start 1944 by writing to the millions of service men's wives. So many of you are wondering what your husbands are to do after their return. Certainly, you should not wait until your man gets back before you and he discuss the future. Why not devote to this subject your very next letter to him? Perhaps you will send him this message from me.

Former Employers will be Helpful
If your husband had a job when he was drafted, the chances are nine out of ten that his former employer will be proud to take him back. Not only does the Draft Act require this of employers who are able to do so, but employers will find it good business. This will mean that many women and girls will be obliged to quit industry; but will be only fair and just.

I wonder, however, if your husband will be content to again be a mere cog wheel after he returns? Men differ. Some are born to work for others and will be happier doing so; while some men will do better in a little business by themselves. Some prefer large cities; while others like small cities and towns. Don't try to make your soldier over into someone else. Try to find out what he likes best; for what he is best fitted and then help him make good. But begin your planning NOW; don't wait until he gets home.

Big Opportunities Everywhere
Opportunities exist today which will not exist after the War is over. Take them everywhere I go—vacant stores, closed real estate offices, run-down garages and auto sales rooms, etc., etc. As an illustration, consider the closed and boarded-up filling stations which can be bought today for a third of their cost. To buy now one of these, properly located where a family can live on the property, is like finding money. After the War, they will again be "worth their weight in gold."

Small stores and lunch rooms, where the owner can live upstairs or adjoining, are now for sale cheap. They will be in big demand after the War. No one will get rich in such a place; but it gives independence and assures work to all the family. The same applies to scores of little businesses from barber shops to repair shops of all kinds. There will always be good opportunities for anyone who knows more about any one thing than anyone else in his neighborhood. Yes, it is very easy today, through trade papers and technical journals, for anyone, willing to study evenings, to become a real expert.

Good Land is Good Insurance
I think that a piece of land will appeal to many returning soldiers. They have seen that it is for land that this War is being fought. If they are wise, they will want a little themselves. Now, don't buy your husband an isolated land in the woods. Buy within easy walking distance of schools, stores and a church; also reasonably near his job or a bus line to his job; don't make him dependent on an auto. Incidentally, the easiest property to sell in every community is that adjoining a good, live church. Sensible parents like to bring up children near a church.

If you and your husband come from a farm and want to go back to it, this is wonderful. However, unless you know farming, you had better be content with an acre or two of good land located as above suggested. Don't buy too much land. Better pay $500 for an acre of rich land nearby than $50 per acre for poor land further out. The number of acres is of little importance. The value of land lies in its richness and location. The latest scientific agricultural experiments indicate that you can feed your family on a very small plot provided your husband has some "job on the side" to get spending money. I cannot take more space here to explain this. Those interested should send one dollar to Fleming H. Revell Co., 158 Fifth Ave., New York City for a little book entitled "Better Living For Less Money."

Buy Merchandise and Bank Stocks
In almost every community there are one or more stores belonging to some national chain. They may be grocery chains or variety chains such as the "5 cents to 5 dollar" kind. Ask your local banker to tell you which of those in your town has its stock listed on the New York Stock Exchange. Buy a few shares. They should be a good hedge against inflation and might also help your husband get a job at merchandizing with a growing concern.

Perhaps before buying a chain store stock, it would be well to buy a few shares of stock in your local bank. Now, banks are making very little money, but banking is fundamental. Bank stocks will some day look good again. Besides, it will help your husband get started right to have a few shares of local bank stock and to know the men who run the bank.

Parents Should Help More
Soldiers who go overseas are coming home with better ideas than when they left. They are learning that much upon which they had heretofore spent time and money was sheer waste. Many will realize that the only things worth while for a family or a nation are: (1) good land; (2) good babies; (3) good education and (4) good character. All else, however much advertised, is only baloney.

I trust that fathers and mothers as well as wives and sweethearts, will encourage these sensible ideas. Only by so doing can America hope to get something back for the lives and billions spent on the War. Parents, especially, should loosen up and help their young people get started right when they return. Begin to plan O. A. Harkness, Supt.

When a gun moves in the turret, one portion of this double-action zipper opens up ahead of the barrel and the rest simultaneously closes behind it, protecting the gunner and his equipment against such temperatures as 65° below zero.

for them NOW; remember "shrouds do not have pockets."
A Final Thought.
Has it ever occurred to you to get a job with the understanding that your husband can have it upon his return? This is a practical idea. It should appeal to every sensible employer and house wife. Your first choice should be where he was employed when leaving for the service; your next choice should be where you would like to have him employed. But the important thing is to forget your wishes and present pay—think only of him!

Brothers Surprised On Christmas Visit
Pfc. David Stark, 24, of Camp Edwards, Mass., and Richard W. Stark EM, 3-c, who had just completed 10 months in the North Pacific each, were home over the Christmas holidays. They met at the home of their father, Leonard Stark, Garden Home. Neither knew the other was expected. David, a graduate of Beaverton high school, was inducted into service March 1, 1943. Richard had not been home for Christmas for three years. He was formerly a student at Benson Tech.

Two brothers, Robert, address unknown by parents, and Donald, Delta, Utah, are in the service. Two married brothers, Ben and Len, live in Portland. There are four girls in the family, Margaret, student at Beaverton high school; Barbara, employed at the Federal Housing Authority; Mrs. Dan Bighaus and Mrs. Clarence Bowne.

Total Conscription

of Men, Machines, Material, Money!

The United States and Canada must install Total Conscription to insure military victory and internal security in the postwar.

TotalConscription will exclude fascism from the North American Continent.

Must Our technological efficiency be sapped by the perogatives of business and by political expediency? Why should not all citizens serve on the same basis as the Armed Forces—National Service from All and Profits to None?

If there are 30,000,000 unemployed in the United States and Canada after the war, we will need Total Conscription more in the peace than in the war! Urge Total Conscription now for Canada and the United States!

Oregon Placed First In Filling Proportion Quota
Oregon placed first in the nation by filling the largest proportion of its quota in the recently concluded All-States WAC recruiting campaign. It was announced by Major P. Cody, commanding officer of the Oregon recruiting and induction district. The information was provided Major Cody in a bulletin from Washington giving the final standings in this campaign. Spurred by the plea from Gov. Earl Snell, civilian defense committees throughout the state contributed much to the success of the campaign, said Major Cody.
