Many Buy WAR Bonds

Many Workers Canvass This Community Starting Tuesday

Launched officially throughout the nation last Tuesday, the Fourth War Loan Drive had already passed through its initial stages in the Beaverton area with bond salesmen having begun contacting homes on Saturday.

Mr. William Christenson of Hillsboro, county chairman for the drive, injected additional enthusiasm into a rally of bond salesmen representing every school district in the vicinity, at the Beaverton high school, Friday, January 14. He stressed the importance of the financial front of the war to the other two fronts—production and actual fighting.

Quota for the Beaverton region in the Fourth War Loan Drive is $244,000 only 70 per cent of the last drive's quota, which was topped by $65,000. Because of this Mr. Christenson stated that Beaverton should be able to over-shoot the quota for the present drive with comparatively little effort.

"The public is standing 100 per cent behind the drive, according to reports of the salesmen," informs Mrs. Robert Summers, local chairman.

Babson Says New Type Houses and Improved City Planning Ahead

Babson Park, Florida, Jan. 21—The ban on residential building has resulted in a pent-up demand for new houses that is unprecedented. Potential markets exist for at least one million units. Housing is still critical in many localities. Real estate dealers are hard put to find small homes. In co-operation with builders, however, they can look forward to merchandising the greatest residential crop of their careers. Aided by far-seeing city and suburban planning and by new techniques in construction, home owners can also look ahead—in their instance—to lower costs and greater conveniences in living.

A Word of Caution

Much of the shortage of city dwellings is largely caused by the War. In some defense areas the peak demand has passed. Their present scarcity may turn into an over-supply. But not so everywhere. Many migrant war workers from farms have occupied new, and attractively fitted up, Government Housing homes. Once back on the farm they are not going to be content with their old way of living. Those who have saved a few thousand dollars will want to invest in a new home. This may be a decided factor in boosting both building volume and land values in smaller and rural communities.

New residential building totals will be very large but may be spotty, geographically. All localities cannot look forward to an equal participation. Geographically, the Southwest Coastal States can expect increased housing activity. This also is true of New England and the Northwest States. Builders and dealers should take time out now to consider carefully the prospective demand for new
