The Low Down Hickory Grove

Most folks pay little attention to the other guy's troubles, and I guess it is okay, or almost. Everybody has his problems, like digging up the rent and keeping mama in purple "allure" toenail polish, or keeping the car key hid from Junior. If some stranger gets himself arrested, or shot, or some Senator or Secretary of State pops off with a new angle on some cracked idea—it is not our baby—we think.

If the Govt. edges into some person's business like maybe insurance or electric lights, or saying how many acres of sugar beets per farm, etc., we don't start up our worrying apparatus—we just say, why did the guys let Sambo do it.

I am not preaching that we should keep in a turmoil all the time about the other person—but from the way she looks from here at Hickory, folks have gotta team-up and do something as a group—or we will be cleaned up one by one, or piecemeal. Something needs to be done kinda unanimous-like about Uncle Samuel and his Russian ideas of the Govt. taking over and being everything—except a taxpayer.

Yours with the low down,
JO SERRA

Denver Morris in Town

An old time resident of Beaverton called on some old acquaintances Sunday to say Hello! Denver Morris attended Beaverton school many years ago when his father, the late P. D. Morris operated the Beaverton Meat Market back in the early 90's selling out later to J. N. Fisher in April, 1897, who with his son conducted the meat business in Beaverton for many years. Denver is joking OK and says the meat business in South East Portland, where he owns a grocery-meat market.

The Japs abandoned thousands of gallons of oil as they retreated. The fuel was not wasted. Punching holes in the 100-gallon drums, Marines rolled the containers around their area and whipped the dust menace.

A new rechargeable battery for flashlight is said to outlast 400 of the usual dry cell type.

Old Soak Set Free

Now up and coming he led the way to the hall and pointed to a spot on the floor. That was the very spot, said he. Then he told of how he had been the town drunkard and on that very spot he had been set free. There the drink habit had been lifted and all these years since he had been free.

Yes, on that very spot he had received Christ into his heart. Receiving Christ as the Lord of his life He had become a new man in a new world. He was a new creation. Old things had passed away. All things had become new. And what for you? Christ has already died for your sins. By His death, He paid the penalty in full. Now He waits at the door to come in and give you new life. Open to Him. Receive Him and make Him the Lord of your life. Trust Him every hour to see you through. Look utterly to Him to be your satisfying portion for all time and eternity.
