THEN, TRY IT ON YOUR FARM

If you use an Electric Water Heater

-COOKING ELECTRICALLY

will qualify you for the NEW "All-Electric Home" RATE

• You've always wanted to go "All-Electric." Now PGE makes it easier than ever before with a new low rate providing homes and farms with electricity literally "cheap enough to burn." The new low rate is designed to encourage the use of electricity for all purposes in the home and on the farm. PGE customers now using electricity for cooking and water heating will get this new rate upon application. Others will qualify and can apply as soon as they install both an electric range and water heater.

Pennies are now too big to measure the cost of kilowatt-hours in PGE territory! The cost is down to mills. Under the new rate, range and water heater users will get 300 kilowatt-hours of electricity for a minimum charge of only $4.50 and another 700 for 6 mills per kilowatt-hour. Excess kilowatt hours beyond 1,000 per month cost 8 1/2 mills.

A customer with an electric water heater may actually save money by installing an electric range *

The average home use of electricity where there is an electric water heater but no range, is 424 kwh a month, costing $6.52 under PGE's general residential schedule No. 8. The new "All-Electric" rate will apply if an electric range is added. This will bring total consumption up to 540 kwh a month, and will cost $5.94, an actual saving of 58 cents a month after adding a range.

Diversified Use Makes Lower Rates Possible

Not only greater use of electricity, but more diversified use, makes lower rates possible. The "All-Electric" rate will encourage full home use of electricity by diversified appliances which, taken all together, provide a more even, "constant level" use of electric distribution facilities. This enables us to supply you with more electricity, at a lower rate. The new "All-Electric" rate gives advance savings to those who use electricity for three of the most important jobs in the home—lighting, cooking and water heating—and in addition speeds the trend toward lower and lower rates for all customers.

APPLICATION FOR NEW "ALL ELECTRIC" RATE

PORTLAND GENERAL ELECTRIC CO.
Portland, Oregon
Gentlemen:

Please enter my application for the new "All-Electric" rate. I use an electric range and electric water heater and I understand that I shall be billed a minimum of $4.50 each month for which I am entitled to use 300 kwh's of electricity.
