You know, this idea of experience being the best teacher, it is sure fire —also it is costly. From the cadet to the mortician we gotta be shown before we believe. Like with your 2 year old off-sohot, you tell him to keep his fingers off the red-hot stove and he will not rest until he gets singed—and then comes bellowing to his mama.

And the latest is in Great Britain where the younger sprouts on their first chance to vote, they ups and swings the country over to Socialism. The Labor Party, they jolly well call it over there. And now 6 months later, Britishers are clogging the emigration offices in London, wanting to leave the Promised Land, but ships are scarce and they are in for a 12 to 18 months wait for the next boat. New Zealand, and South Africa, and Australia are swamped with applications from the now-wise Britons wanting to get away from Utopia and to settle in far away lands.

And her in our own U.S.A. Land of the Free as we sometimes still call it sorta humorous-like, here around Hickory, we are dying to put a finger on the same kind of red-hot stove.

Yours with the low down,
JO SERRA
