This Week's Rain Worth Thousands

Last week's hot weather and East winds raised havoc with many early plantings, spring crops especially, late planting of garlic things began to look bad—then comes Tuesday's welcome rain to save thousands of dollars for the garlic growers of the Tualatin valley.

This garlic business has become quite an industry in recent years. In other times the guy who ate garlic was out of luck—if he attended a country dance!

But today the "strong stuff" has been harnessed down by medical science and is accomplishing much good for mankind. And now the dog racing fraternity keep the dogs in "tip top shape" to win the races.

Recruitment Act

The men who enlist in the Regular Army under the new Armed Forces Voluntary Recruitment Act are participating in the important job of securing and guarding the Victory. The American soldier of the future will enjoy every advantage of the American way of life, and find opportunity for advancement, self-improvement and economic security equal to that in any civilian field.

A Local Problem, But An Insult To The Entire State

Exemplary of the times, was the most disgusting demonstration carried on in Portland by the younger generation yesterday.

A parade, or perhaps mob—consisting of students of Portland high schools piled on autos and making gestures and sorely degrading the highest executive office in the State of Oregon.

It is disappointing to think that such actions would be contemplated, but it is revolting to think our standards have sunk so low that this plan was carried out.

Every resident and citizen of the State is besmirched by such a demonstration.

Possibly a little less extracurricular, and considerably more practical education would be beneficial to most of the school systems.
