Chadwick Named Distributor For Luscombe Plane

Mr. C. Chadwick, of the Chadwick Flying School, at Bernard Field, in Beaverton, has been named distributor of the Luscombe Airplanes, of Dallas, Tex.

The Luscombe air plane is the first all-metal personal plane to be produced and as such can be produced on a production line basis. The factory is capable of producing 15 planes a day. The Luscombe planes are two-seated, all-metal planes with a 65-horsepower Continental motor; cruising speed of 105 miles per hour; landing speed, 37 miles per hour; cruising range, 600 miles; rate of climb, 900 feet per minute; fuel capacity, 14 gallons; wing span, 35 feet; fuselage length, 29 feet.

The plane is silver in color and is trimmed in blue, which makes it a very good looking job. Mr. Chadwick has two demonstrators which were flown from the Dallas, Texas factory up here by James A. McNece, field representative, Charles Miller, flight instructor, and Ed Vala, chief mechanic.

Mr. McNece flew with the Royal Canadian Air Force in the early part of the war and was later transferred to the U. S. Air Corps and became personal pilot for General Spatz. His address is 2184 N. W. Lovejoy, Portland. Mr. Miller instructed in C. P. T. and W. T. S. and served with the Merchant Marines in the South Pacific. His home is 2412 N. E. Union, Portland.

Mr. Vala, Beaverton, was a bomber navigator during the war and served in Italy and the South Pacific.

Mr. Chadwick, well known in Northwest Aviation circles for the past 15 years, served during the war with army advance training at Falcon Field, Mesa, Arizona, as chief pilot.

The list of dealers, supplied by Mr. Chadwick, who handle the Luscombe planes in Oregon are the Ralston Flying Service, Hillsboro; Coastways School of Aeronautics, Tillamook; Eagle Flying Service, Salem; Deede Flying Service, Eugene; B. & H. Flying Service, Cottage Grove; McConnell Flying Service, Grants Pass; Smith & Perlick, Coos Bay; and the Pacific Flyers, East Portland; Sutherland Sky Ranch, Sutherlin.

Mr. Ralph Tarola, of the Tarola Motor Car Co., is in partnership with Mr. Chadwick on the air craft sales.

Arrives Home
Lloyd A. Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Johnson, 281 S. W. 7th St., has arrived home with his bride, the former Miss Mary Antoine, of Dallas, Texas.

Lloyd hopes to attend college in Portland this fall.
