One hundred growers are expected to attend the Oregon Holly Growers' Association meeting to be held at the Portland Central Public Library Thursday, Sept. 19 at 8 p.m., according to P. G. Lewis, chairman of the incorporation committee.

The occasion of the meeting is to approve an association constitution and by-laws, which have been approved by a committee and the State Corporation Committee. Also officers will be elected.

The speaker for the evening will be James Moore, Economics department of Oregon State Agriculture Extension Service, Corvallis. He will speak on "The Purpose of Incorporation".

This will be the last night of the semi-annual state nurserymen's meeting.

Mrs. William Gillim and two sons, Peter and Stuart, who have been spending the summer with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Miller and her brother, Harold Miller, has gone back to her home in Tarrytown, N. Y.

She made a short visit in Eugene with her brother, Claire Miller and family and also with a niece and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Hughes in Berkeley. She will also spend a week with a brother, Paul Miller and family of Galveston, Texas, who are vacationing at Accasson Estes Park in Colorado. They will arrive home the first of September when the boys will return to school and she will resume her duties as librarian at the "Hackley" boys school.

Mrs. and Mrs. J. Girard, of West Dale, entertained for Mr. and Mrs. Fred Goyt on Thursday evening, August 15, in honor of their 40th wedding anniversary.

Before the decorated cake, topped with a tiny bride and groom, was cut, a mock bridal party appeared, adding much to the merriment of all.

Those who enjoyed Girard's hospitality were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Goyt, Mr. and Mrs. Jay Gibson, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Stipe, Mr. and Mrs. Dayton Peck, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Summers, Dr. and Mrs. Welsh, and Mrs. Roy Ferguson, of San Francisco. A nice gift was presented to the Goyts.

News From County Agent's Office

Caneberry growers, who have suffered damage from stamen blight should plan to apply control measures before the fall rains set in, according to Palmer S. Torvond, county agent.

The recommended control consists of an application of 4 gallons of liquid lime sulphur to 100 gallons of water. Thorough coverage of the new canes is essential in order to give control.

Stamen blight affects blackberries, boysenberries and youngberries, and, occasionally, others of the trailing berry variety.

The program of artificial insemination of dairy cattle is progressing in Washington County, as well as throughout the state, reports the county agent.

The central bull stud has been moved to its new location on the Corvallis-Albany highway about three miles from Corvallis where facilities have been set up on the farm purchased by the Oregon Dairy Breeders to handle eighteen bulls.

In addition to the local unit, others are in operation in Yamhill, Marion, Linn, Benton, and Coos counties. Clackamas and Multnomah counties are going ahead with their organizations.

Up to the present date, Torvond said, 602 cows have been serviced by the Washington County Association, including 281 Guernseys, 227 Jerseys and 94 Holsteins. New members are signing up continually, and it is hoped that by fall the enrollment will exceed 1800.

Orchardists and others who wish to grow an early, high-producing cover crop will have a n opportunity to secure locally-produced Abruzzie rye, reports the county agent. While this is not a new type of rye, it is valuable for winter pastures and cover crop purposes. This past season, five local farmers have been producing seed stock which is now available.

The crop's most valuable use stems from the fact that its growth is faster than that of many winter grain varieties. It will grow all winter and reach its maximum earlier in the spring than many other crops.

Normally, Abruzzie rye can be turned around the first of April, adding to the soil a heavy tonnage of organic matter in succulent form which breaks down for plant use quite readily. Mixed with legumes like Willamette vetch or Austrian peas, the result is an excellent combination. Orchardists who used this mixture last year were highly pleased with the results. Torvond said.

For further information about this crop, contact the county agent's office.
