Farmers Union Votes Against Sales Tax

The Washington County Farmers Union by unanimous action of its legislative committee voted against the Sales Tax Bill, H. B. 258, now before the Legislature for the reason that it provides for the shifting of the tax burden from those most able to pay to those least able to pay; that it would not decrease property taxes for the average farmer; that it produce tax revenue for in excess of present needs and that the income tax is the most fair tax.

They approved H. Bills No. 241 and 242 which would eliminate certain exemptions such as federal income tax payments and increases the percentage on net income by one per cent which would produce sufficient funds for present needs and be a more equitable tax.

The State Convention was held in Albany this week on the 18th, 19th and 20th. The next regular meeting of the Washington County Farmers Union will be at Hillsboro in the Chamber of Commerce rooms at 8:00 p. m. on Saturday, February 22nd.

Last TYV League Game Tonight In Beaverton Gym

By Don Grandy After winning five straight games two from Sherwood, and one each from Tigard, Hillsboro, and Tillamook, the Beavers went back into a coma with three consecutive losses.

West Linn The Beavers were edged out by one slim point, 33-32, by the West Linn Lions here last Friday evening.

Although the Beavers took a lop-sided 16-point decision from the same club in the previous encounter, they found it impossible to pull away this time.

Denny O'Donnell, Beaver forward, was high-scoring man for the first time this season with 11 tallies.

McMinnville The Battling Beaverton squad fell short by three points of knocking McMinnville off the top of the league, when they lost 33-35, at the winner's court last Saturday night.

The local underdogs maintained a steady lead for a good portion of the game. The lead by points at half, but were one behind at the end of the third quarter. In a wild and free shooting last period, the lead was either tied or changing back and forth at will.

With ten seconds to go, Beaverton led 33-34. A lay-in shot and two free throws by Machi, however, quelled Beaverton's upset hopes, and they went down to defeat by those three points.

Newberg The Beaver's defense of Speidel & Company of Newberg fell apart as they suffered their worst defeat of the season, 46-28, at Newberg's home court last Tuesday evening.

The Tigers maintained their tie for first place with Mac-Hi as a result of completely dominating the Beavers with quarter leads of 20-5 and 28-16.

Newberg's ace forward, Speidel, collected 20 points, followed by the Beaver's Jack O'Connor, with 15.

The last game of the regular TVV season will be played in Beaverton this Friday when Forest Grove and Beaverton square off in a key game. The Beavers will be out for revenge of their one-point defeat at the hands of the Vikings in their previous game.

Returns To Riding Circle

Mrs. T. Garland Ferguson's friends will be glad to hear she has fully recovered from pneumonia and can once more join her friends in the riding circle.

Mrs. Ferguson with her husband, T. Garland Ferguson, better known as "Pappy" recently moved to their new farm, named "Windsor Acres" on Farmington Road. Mrs. Ferguson has chosen this name in salute to her horse, "Sir Windsor" which she can't justly be proud of. This chestnut has his mistress' mantle beautifully displayed with trophies he has won. Credit here is given to mistress and horse.

Over a period of years she has been in the saddle she has demonstrated her ability to train and ride.

Sir Windsor has participated in every riding club in the City. Perhaps some will recall the article published in the Oregon Horse telling about this gallant thoroughbred.

Sir Windsor has not only performed locally. He was purchased from Longacres Race Track. Many times in the show ring he has shown his breeding, his heart and his desire to obey commands.

Oh yes! Mrs. Ferguson has had her share of accidents. Last spring astride her horse she had the misfortune of a broken shoulder. Since then she has returned to the saddle taking her share of laurels.

U. S. A. Good Place to Live

When one sees little emaciated children with arms and legs missing; one no longer cares whether they are German or some other nationality, one just hates war, according to Mrs. Lydia Milland, who lived in Germany during the war and has just returned to the United States.

Mrs. Milland had many interesting things to tell about while visiting her sister, Mrs. Alva W. Graham, S. W. Howatt Road during the last week. She is still in awe of lights, and freedom of action and speech, while her eight year old son, Richard, is equally thrilled with "white milk".

The milk in Germany was powdered, has been slightly moldered, quite different from what he has had since coming to the United States.

Mrs. Milland taught music at the College of Pacific, Stockton, California, before deciding to travel and study in Germany. While in Germany she met and married Mr. Milland. When the war came she could have left for the United States but preferred to stay in Heidelberg with him. She did try to return to New York for hospital care when her baby was due, but even though she was still an American citizen, the Hitler government would not allow her to come, because they felt that the baby should be kept German.

Mrs. Milland was a publisher of books on the Textile industry, died in the Spandau concentration camp because he had put in his will that he wished his son, Richard, to be an American citizen. Mrs. Milland learned after the American occupation that hers was the ninth name on a list of those to be rounded up and executed.

While visiting in the United States, Mrs. Milland has turned over her Heidelberg estate to her friends who have been bombed out of their homes during the bombing of Mannheim. She plans to return sometime, but is not certain now when it will be. She felt that one of the hardest parts of living in Germany during the war was being shunned by all their German friends, because she, being American, was so closely watched by the Gestapo.

Her first feeling of homesickness came when she saw the name of Portland Oregon on the ship on which she crossed, the Erie Pyle. She arrived in New York about January 12, spending a month with her brother, Dr. S. Bethelsdorf, psychiatrist at Manhattan State Hospital, New York.

On leaving Mrs. Graham's home, she went to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard von Berthelsdorf, Swan Lake, Oregon, where she is now. It was quite a shock to her to be so near Klamsath Falls at the time of the fire in the Evans apartment, as she was a close friend of Sidney Evans, who lost his life in the fire.

Helping Our Neighbor Is a Privilege

Tragedy struck the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bonebrake and their three small children a week ago Tuesday.

Last week we carried the story with the bare facts of them losing their home by fire. But now we have a more complete information on the destructiveness — Everything was lost.

The Beaverton Rebekah lodge gave a shower last Friday evening at the home of Ellen La Rue and considerable clothing and bedding was received to tide the family over. However the present needs are for adequate living facilities for the family.

If sufficient material can be located, the members of the Odd Fellows lodge have offered to donate their time in assisting in the construction of the home.

One of the strong ties in a small community is the help-always of our neighbors—Who knows when we might be in a similar predicament.

Anyone wishing to assist this returned veteran and his family may contact Mrs. Geo. Manternack or Otto Kiel at Thrifty Market, in Beaverton.
