Spring Bloom Show

The most colorful spring bloom show that has been held in Portland is expected in the forthcoming Primrose Show and Daffodil Exhibition, which will be held April 9th and 10th in the Sunken Ballroom of the Masonic Temple, in Portland, Oregon.

Garden clubs from all parts of the city and state are to participate with entries and arrangements, particularly in the Primrose Show, and all primrose growers, whether they are members of the society or not, are invited to make their entries, according to Mrs. John M. Young, show chairman.

The Primrose Show will be competitive. The Daffodil Exhibition will be non-competitive and educational. Claude Mills, of the Men's Garden Club, is chairman of this phase of the show. The committees will work in close cooperation to make the daffodil display a perfect setting and complement to the display of primroses.
