CAMPFIRE NEWS

BURST OF ACTIVITY

The Tando and Makeca groups of the Campfire girls have finished the school term with a burst of activity.

They made May baskets for May day which were filled with flowers and given to the old people at the Northwest Christian home. Last meeting they made gifts for their mothers.

The Tando group made waste paper baskets and the Makeca group made sachet bags. The two groups made handkerchief parasols for their adopted grandmothers at the Northwest Christian home for Mother's day. The Tando group also made lapel pins for themselves to round out their handicraft activities.

The next meeting will be the last one this spring except for special meetings this summer.

GUARDIAN ASS'N.

The Campfire Guardians association met Thursday to talk about a council fire. They decided to postpone it until fall so that more girls could finish their ranks this summer.

LEADER ILL

Mrs. Harold Ferris, leader of the McKay Campfire girls, is ill in the hospital.

Church Gives Out Corsages Sunday To Fete Mothers

A splendid congregation paid tribute to its mothers last Sunday morning in the First Methodist church of Beaverton. Presented with lovely corsages and nosegays made by some of the ladies of the church the mothers in attendance with their family and friends heard their pastor speak to the theme, "The Mother Has All Gone Out of Her."

Five of the mothers present received a lovely powder-blue, leatherette-covered copy of the New Testament together with a card expressing the sentiments of the church. Those receiving the gifts were Mrs. Lyle Walker of Troutdale, whose child was the youngest in attendance; Mrs. Edith Stewart, our Gold Star mother; Mrs. Jule Sweet, whose four daughters represented the most children present with their mother; Mrs. F. M. Roseman of Dayton, who at 86 was the oldest mother in attendance; and to Mrs. Callista Deland, who travelled the farthest coming from San Angelo, Texas.

The church is also sending the same gift to the oldest mother and member of the church, Mrs. Ziona Wilmot, who will be 95 next month; and to Mrs. Laura Holcomb who has faithfully served the Beaverton Methodists as communion steward for 22 years.

Ext. Unit Cedar Mill Adjourns To September Meet

"Making corsages" was demonstrated by project leader, Mrs. A. R. Pearson assisted by Mrs. L. W. Kingsley at the Cedar Mill house extension unit meeting Thursday at the Kingley home.

A business meeting preceded the demonstration, beginning at 10:30 a. m. Announcements of the rummage sale to benefit Azalea house which is to be held May 15 at the Episcopal Guild hall in Hillsboro were made. Donations of clothing, dishes, quilt scraps, plants, seeds and white elephants are being solicited. Mrs. A. M. Umbreit and Mrs. L. W. Kingsley volunteered to help out with the sale from this unit.

A summary and report of progress of the extension program in Oregon was read in which th units were praised for their part in the worthwhile projects being carried out.

Mrs. L. W. Kingsley reported continued program in the 4-H sewing programs announcing the additional contribution from the community club of $20 to the scholarship fund. Women were urged to vote in the coming election.

Decorative May baskets were displayed at lunch time with the owners of those receiving the most votes being awarded corsages made at the meeting.

Meetings are adjourned until September when the new year's program will start.

GABEL CARNIVAL

Thursday afternoon, May 20, will be the gala day, for that is when the annual Pet show and carnival will be held at Gabel Country Day school. The event is to exhibit pets and hobbies for the whole family's enjoyment.

Besides the animal show there are enough concessions to keep everyone entertained all afternoon. The hours are from 1:30 to 5 p. m.

A cakewalk, wheels of chance, horse race games, fish pond, pony rides, as well as rides in Mr. Harvey's putt-putt, bingo, fortune teller, Disney cartoons and food, of course, are the main items of attraction.

Everyone is invited. Admission is free. A good time for all is waiting.

Jobless Vets In Oregon Greater By Percentages

Although unemployment in the past year dropped to third place in importance among the nation's war veterans, in Oregon finding a suitable job is still a major problem for the ex-serviceman, judging from a comparison made today by the state department of veterans' affairs of state and national employment figures.

After a survey of 21 veterans' centers in the major cities of the country, the National Social Welfare assembly of New York City reported that the high cost of living and housing shortages moved to the fore replacing unemployment as the most pressing problem facing World War II veterans today.

While Oregon veteran counselors agreed that housing and the cost of living are headaches for the local ex-GI, they would not go along with the survey's contention that "earning a living" had become less vital.

The national survey reported 500,000 jobless veterans at the end of 1947, of a total vet population of 18,600,000, or 2.6 percent unemployed.

Oregon figures, on the other hand, disclose more than 7.1 percent unemployed, with 14,000 veterans registered for work out of an estimated 200,000 veteran population. This means veterans of all wars.

The striking thing in the Oregon picture, a local representative of the federal veterans employment service points out, is that unemployment is as high today in Oregon as it was a year ago, despite the fact that more people here have jobs than ever before, including the war years.

This is attributed to the continuing in-migration to the West Coast, of people either unskilled in Oregon's industrial crafts or unable to fit into the seasonal pattern of work prevailing here, according to state employment service officials.

The federal census bureau supports the in-migration factor, giving Oregon a 39.2 percent population increase from 1940 to 1947, as against a national increase of only 8.9 percent.

From the Farmers OF MINNESOTA To the Farmers OF OREGON

We recommend to you very highly our three-term Governor, Harold E. Stassen, for the next President.

We know him well. He was born on a Minnesota homestead which his father and mother are still farming. He has always been right on agricultural questions, from oleomargarine and cooperatives, to parity and conservation. We also have confidence in him on the big issues that affect us all. He has been firm and consistent against the communists. He has been a constructive leader in every respect. He backed an outstanding farmer, Edward J. Thye, as Governor and as United States Senator.

How Farmers Backed Stassen

We farmers of Minnesota have been solid behind Harold Stassen. The best proof of this was his sweeping victory in the farming areas of Minnesota in his third election after we had had the chance to see how he acted as Governor for two terms.

In his third election as our Governor the farmers backed him overwhelmingly. For example, in the corn-hog county of Martin down near the Iowa line Stassen received 4,881 votes to 1,717 for his opponent. In the dairy county of Goodhue on the Wisconsin line Stassen received 5,535 votes to 2,711 for his opponent.

In the wheat and diversified agricultural county of Rock on the South Dakota line, he received 1,819 votes to 471 for his opponent.

And in the big agricultural county of Otter Tail up on the North Dakota line he received 6,327 votes to 4,580 for his opponent. In the state as a whole he received 409,800 votes to 299,917 for his opponent.

In the Township of Eureka, which is a complete township of milk producers in his home county of Dakota, where they had known him for two terms as county attorney and two terms as governor, he received a remarkable vote of 158 to 27 for his opponent.

We know we speak for the farmers of Minnesota as a whole when we recommend him to you as the best man for President of the United States, in your May 21st primary.

With our neighborly best wishes,

Sincerely,

FARMERS FOR STASSEN
