Beaverton Garden Club at Fall Show Shortens Lists

HORTICULTURAL EXHIBITS FEATURE EVENT; POTLUCK LUNCHEON FOLLOWS FOR MEMBERS

Due to pressure of fall work and many members being out of the community on business or pleasure trips the Beaverton Community Garden Club compromised on its annual Fall Flower Show and held only an exhibit of horticultural specimens, omitting the usually large section of artistic arrangements.

Weather conditions further inflicted complications and many classes were without entries.

After the judging Mrs. Ray Meadows entertained the judges and 25 members at her home with a pot luck luncheon. Mrs. Meadows made place cards of blossoms with labels attached naming the member and roll call was answered using the blossom name for first names, thus Mrs. Charles West became Sunset Fuchsia West, and many other laugh provoking name combinations answered.

The Judges were Mrs. Walter E. Wilhelm, Mrs. H. C. Ritter and Mrs. Ernest Farnand.

Mrs. E. B. Baker took the tricolor award with a large display of perfect Holstein Roses. Ribbon winners were as follows: Mrs. Wm. R. Brooks took first on Single Annual Asters; 1st on Geranium specimen.

Death Concludes Colorful Career Wm. Zimbrick

Funeral services will be held on Thursday, September 30 at Pegg's Chapel, Beaverton, for William Zimbrick, 86, who passed away suddenly at his home, 1613 S. W. First Street, Portland, September 27. He had lived in the vicinity of Portland for the past 45 years.

Born on January 1, 1869 in Wisconsin, Mr. Zimbrick's was a colorful career, outstanding in the courage by which he overcame serious handicap.

When he was 21 years of age, at the celebration in Park Rapids, Minnesota, which signalled the entry of the railroad into town, he was delegated to help shoot off the cannon. A blowback on the explosion blew off both arms of Zimbrick and another young man.

In spite of his infirmity, Mr. Zimbrick took out a homestead, then made his living as a business man and salesman. Although one arm was off at the shoulder and the other at the elbow, he regularly went hunting and lived as normally as he could. He did nearly all his daily tasks without assistance, such as dressing, eating and writing.

He was the brother of John Zimbrick of Kalama, Wash., Otto Zimbrick, of Scholls and Mrs. Frances Peterson of Los Angeles. Among numerous nieces and nephews are Frank Zimbrick, Archie Zimbrick and Mrs. Freda Arnel, all of Beaverton; Matt Zimbrick, Willamina, Oregon; Mrs. Laura Emmons, formerly of Beaverton and now in Eugene and Mrs. Ellen LaForge, Lebanon.

Reverend George Springer will officiate at the funeral rites. Vault interment will be in Crescent Grove cemetery.

Beaverton vs. McMinnville Inaugurates New Gridiron

STRONG TYV LEAGUE CONTENDERS, BEAVERS WILL SEEK TO AVERAGE 1947 SHELLACKING

Playing before the home town for the first time since 1946, Beaverton high school football team early reckoned as strong contenders in the TYV race, will tangle with the McMinnville Grizzlies, October 1, 8 p.m. In a determined effort to avenge their 1947 shellacking, to the score of 20-0.

Winner in a lop-sided game with West Linn of last week, Beaverton's eleven served notice on other TYV teams that they intend to be counted in this year's race. Victor in only one game, with Tillamook last year, the green aggregation of 1947 was subject to much pushing around by other league teams. This year, in their first game with Seaside, the Beavers tasted the first fruits of victory, 18-12. Last week, against West Linn, the local gridmen unleashed a powerful ground and air attack to rock their opponents to the tune of 33-0.

McMinnville tromped over Tigard, last week, 27-6 and their Ernie White tops the league in points earned. Against his scamping, Beaverton may pit its stars Bob Zahler and Bud Cox.

McMinnville's line, according to scouting reports, is formidable and is recognized as a potential trouble-maker.

Throughout the league, all winning teams are pitted against winners and losers against losers, a situation which will result in some changes in TYV standings.

Oregon City and Hillsboro will meet, at Hillsboro. The Hillsboro Spartans brought back their shield from Newberg last week with a 14-0 victory while Oregon City Pioneers was besting the Forest Grove Vikings to the count of 13-0.

On the grayer side of the league Tigard invades West Linn, while Newberg entertains Forest Grove.

Mrs. Gladys Strickland was chairman for the occasion and was assisted by Miss Eunice Sylvester, Mesdames Kathleen Classen and Evelyn Holland.

The tables were colorful with green and white cloths, dahlia floral arrangements and yellow programs as place markers.

Mrs. Marjory Soholm led in the flag salute and Mrs. Florence Bullis in the club collect. Mrs. Wayne Geertgens gave vocal numbers and Mrs. Beatrice Hoaglin piano selections. The address of the evening on international relations was given by A. O. Soholm, a former instructor of foreign languages and lecturer. He spoke on Ely Culbertson's plan for world peace and stressed the fact that our government is no better than the individual; therefore, we should all become better citizens by being useful to our communities and pray for a better understanding throughout the world.

At the business meeting that followed Mrs. Betty Myers presented the budget for the year.

Mrs. Beatrice Hoaglin, chairman for the X-ray mobile unit, reported the public was responding to the publicity for the visit in Beaverton.

Mrs. Martha Bernardini, chairman of the legislative committee, reported a canvass was being made of all BPWC club members to find if they were duly registered for the November election. The club hopes to win a citation for having 100 per cent registration by Oct. 2.

Mrs. V. Ann Elliott, Mrs. Lois O'Connor and Miss Geraldine Sanford were accepted into membership.

The year books were distributed and Mrs. Hildah Highbe announced there were now 50 active members on the roll.

A large crowd is anticipated at the next regular meeting when the employers will be entertained by their employees. This will take place at the grade school cafeteria on October 28.

Mobile X-ray Count Beats Record Mark at Beaverton

TUESDAY EXAMINATIONS REACH 482; DRIVE TOTAL SURPASSES FIGURE OF 396 IN 1947

Response in Beaverton, Tuesday September 28, during the Mobile X-Ray unit visit, surpasses all records for chest examinations, according to Mrs. Vern Hoaglin, chairman, who reports a total of 482 in comparison to 1947's high mark of 396. The Beaverton Business and Professional Women's Club sponsored the examination and headquarters were maintained at the Legion Hall on Washington.

An annual campaign which is part of the Washington County Public Health Association's fight to eradicate tuberculosis by finding its incidence early enough to effect curative treatment, the Mobile Unit is financed by sale of Christmas seals. Last year's drive was held on December 13.

At the conclusion of the county drive on October 11, notices of retakes will go out for cases that require further study. Reasons for a retake, however, do not always mean infection.

Sometimes mechanical failure of equipment or improper position of the patient during his X-Ray exposure will result in a blurred or inadequate film. Rather than assume the reason, the health association offers a re-take to establish the fact.

All retakes are of a confidential nature, regardless of why they are requested. The only person to whom positive reactions are revealed, other than the patient, is his family physician.
