

How to tame a dragon

Most people in this community can't realize that telephone traffic—that is, the number of calls—is much higher than ever was dreamed of during the war. We are doing everything possible to see that your calls go through without delay. So, instead of treating heavy telephone traffic as a fire-eating dragon, we can treat it for what it really is . . . a fine symbol of community growth and progress.

Sec'y of State Adds "New Look" ---Driver License

A self-contained renewal application and other improvements have been incorporated in Oregon driver's license cards now being issued, Secretary of State Earl T. Newbry has announced.

Licenses to be used from now on are of better paper stock than was available during the war and are expected to stand up well in wallets and purses, eliminating much of the duplicate license problem.

Newbry emphasized that the new cards will not replace valid licenses now outstanding.

The new permit is folded to the same size as the old single card.

The inside of the little folder has become an application blank to be used for renewal by mail.

This is the first time such a form has ever been issued, the secretary said.

He explained that renewal of licenses by mail is a constant source of difficulty because of failure to include full information or correct fee, resulting in heavy correspondence from his office.

The self-contained renewal form is expected to eliminate most of this trouble.

Another feature of the new license is a space for recording the holder's blood type, if known, for emergency use by a doctor in case of accident. The remainder of the card is similar to the old one, with identification, expiration date and space for recording convictions of major driving violations.

Renewal of old licenses, which expire in blocks of 33,000 each month, is proceeding on schedule, Newbry said. Those numbered from 5R528,001 to 5R561,000 must be renewed in October. By June 1 of next year, all war-time "5R" licenses will have been replaced with permits expiring every two years on the holder's birth date.

The Social Club of Beaver Chapter O. E. S. 106, will have a dessert card party Saturday night, October 16, at the Masonic Temple, Beaverton.

This will be an evening devoted to playing progressive Bridge, "500" and pinochle and the public is cordially invited.

Several door prizes as well as high score prizes will be given.
