Extension Prof. Addresses PTA At Cedar Mill

Mr. Victor N. Phelps, assistant professor of Education of the general extension was guest speaker at the Parent Teacher meeting at the schoolhouse Thursday afternoon, Oct. 28.

He stressed the importance of parent responsibility in teaching pre-school children a varied vocabulary to give them a background for reading on entering school.

Membership enrollment ended prior to the meeting with 114 members. Mrs. E. S. McCawley, membership chairman, named students in each room who received prizes for getting the most members. The $5 prize for the room bringing in the greatest number of members went to the 5th and 6th grades.

Room count for the meeting was won by the third and fourth grades who in turn will gain possession of a painting from the Art Museum for a month's period.

The mutual benefit insurance accident program already adopted in numerous schools was endorsed for school use. The program is entirely voluntary.

Last minute carnival plans were announced by Mrs. V. C. Miner, ways and means chairman.

An announcement of the social hygiene discussion group meeting scheduled for Monday evening, November 1 was made by Mrs. Robert Davis, study club chairman.

Observance of religious book week was made with a display of posters and reading reference lists.

Mrs. L. S. Uppinghouse urged everyone to vote in the regular election, listing the bills endorsed by the P. T. A.

Refreshments followed in the school cafeteria.

OPEN HOUSE EVENT

Open house was held at the C. W. Cover home Wednesday evening, Oct. 27 honoring the 25th wedding anniversary of the Covers. Present were many friends, relatives and neighbors of the couple who honored them with gifts for the occasion.

A decorated cake was cut and served by Mrs. John Olson, the daughter of the Covers. The occasion also honored Mr. Cover's birthday, which fell on the same date.

At Tualatin View

BOUNDARY DISPUTE

The Tualatin View School District vs B. F. Young dispute has finally been settled.

A hearing was held by the Multnomah County Boundary Board at the courthouse in Portland on October 26th in which both sides stated their cases. The Tualatin View School District was very well represented but to no avail.

The boundary board granted B. F. Young's petition to have his property and his neighbors property taken from the Tualatin View School District and put in the Sylvan School District on the grounds that it would be harmful for his children to change schools after having gone to Sylvan school for the past six years.

RETURNS HOME

Mrs. Dale Boyd returned home Sunday from her mother's Mrs. Yost, in Portland, where she has been recuperating from a recent illness.

COMMUNITY DANCE

The Tualatin View Community Club dance which was held Saturday night at Cedar Mill was very successful.

A raffle was held by the mother's club at the dance and winners were Mr. Jim Hutcheon, who won a turkey and Mr. Austin Serafford, county superintendent of schools, who won a blanket.

AWAY FOR WEEK

Mrs. Paul Weber returned home Friday after being a guest in her husband's parent's home in Portland for the past week.

Wm. H. Hansen

Funeral services for William H. Hansen of Progress were held on Monday, November 1st at 10:30 a.m. at Young's Funeral Home in Hillsboro. Vault entombment was in Mountain Side cemetery at Scholls.

Mr. Hansen whose death came suddenly, on Friday morning, October 29 operated a nursery at Progress for the past three years moving there from the Scholls district.

He was a member of the Progress Progressive Club.

Hindu Educators Study Methods on Visit to America

Sunday dinner guests at the L. S. Uppinghouse home included Dr. Lau, a doctor from Punjab, India and Mr. Chowdury, a civil engineer of Bengal, India.

The two visitors who are Hindus, have been selected by the Indian government to study our American methods of teaching, which they in turn will take back to their native land.

Dr. Lau has studied previously for 1 year in England and Mr. Chowdury has been in the United States for a period of 18 months. On their return to their native country they will hold government positions.

State President Presents Charter Beaverton BPWC

Mrs. Carmalite Weddle, state president of the Business and Professional Woman's Club, invested the Beaverton club with its charter at a dinner meeting held on Thursday evening, October 29, in the Beaverton grade school cafeteria.

In attendance as special guests were one hundred bosses, husbands and friends of BPW members and visitors from out of town.

The tables were colorful with fall fruits and flowers. The programs, in orange and black, carried out the Halloween motif.

In charge of the evening's entertainment were members of the Public Affairs committee, Mesdames Florence Bullis, chairman, Theresa Stuart, Aletha Graf, Edna Wallace, Marjory Soholm and Ann Elliott. At roll call each member presented guests and visitors were welcomed from Salem, Portland and Hillsboro.

Mrs. Weddle, assisted by state corresponding secretary Betty El-Ofsen, installed the Beaverton club's officers.

The high light of the evening came when Mrs. Weddle presented the charter to the Beaverton club president, Mrs. Hildah Highbe. In honor of the occasion, Miss Hilda Frier, chairman of the North Willamette District gave Mrs. Highbe a guest book for the use of the club.

Mrs. Frank S. Taylor, a past president of the Portland Club was the speaker for the evening and traced the development of the status of women in the world today.

A group from the Hillsboro club exemplified the emblem of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's clubs and Mrs. Zola Morgan, a past state president, traced the history of the organization.

Mrs. Marguerite Linn, president of the Hillsboro group, introduced her club members, who joined in a chorus and presented the emblem to the Beaverton chapter. Appreciation was expressed by Mrs. Highbe to the club which sponsored the local organization.

A brief business meeting was held and four new members were accepted into membership: Mesdames Hazel Paxson, Rita Drum, Cora Smith and Valleda Chaffin. The program was interspersed with club songs, vocal number by Miss Jean Clawson and accordion solos by Dick Kokich.

The next meeting will be held on November 18 since Thanks giving falls on the regular meeting night.
