TRADE LANES

The Beaverton Businessmen's Club is considering a plan to exchange customer credit information among themselves, the idea being to advise each other when bad checks or poor credit risks are encountered. A similar plan is under way in Aloha under the sponsorship of the Aloha Chamber of Commerce. A spokesman for the Aloha group has suggested that the Beaverton and Aloha organizations pool their information thus giving the local business people wider credit coverage.

The individual who walks in to Dean's Drug Store with a prescription to be filled this week may win a large box of chocolates. . . . Dean's are offering the box of candy in observance of the fact that they will very, very shortly compound their one hundred thousandth prescription and the lucky customer whose prescription falls on that number will receive the gift.

Roy Briggs, Aloha radio man, is experiencing pretty good results on his television set, according to local observers who drop in to the store to check on the screen. Last night Roy held a ball game from Seattle for over ten minutes with perfect reception. Roy says he does best during clear weather, but he's waiting for Portland's television station to open for steady programs.

A radio is being offered free by the Beaverton Furniture this week end to buyers of a bedroom suite priced specially at $189.50. This is in tune with first rate values being offered by local merchants who have inaugurated a policy of meeting Portland's competition.

Beaverton Pharmacy has definitely decided to hold its formal opening in the new store, Saturday, May 7. Indications point to a big celebration and open house. Details will follow in this newspaper's next issue.

SCHOOL IN MO.
