The camp is composed of different units for girls of each age group and of varying interests. Bluewing Lodge is for the Bluebirds, age 8 to 10 years. Sherwood Forest and Robin Hill are occupied by the 10 to 13 group. Next step is Pioneer where the older grade school girls get a chance to "rough it". Tree houses to sleep in distinguish Balagan, a log cabin by the river for first year high schoolers. Older girls enjoy Kiwanis with their own waterfall at the front door. Ranch is for girls interested in horses.

Tours of camp have been arranged for Family Day. Visitors should bring a picnic lunch. Free coffee will be served. Besides the tours there will be boating on the pond and games in the meadow.

For those who do not care to walk in to camp from the parking area, there will be a truck. Jack Layley, chairman of the camp committee; says that any dads or big brothers with a few tools in hand will be more than welcome in helping to get the camp ready for the coming season.
