FISH STORY ON ICE

The city attorney at St. Helens returned to his home bailiwick with his fish story on ice, as an irrefutable proof to doubting Thomases who had previously been inclined to disbelieve him.

The determination to have his fishing account backed up with tangible evidence, the SENTINEL MIST relates, stems from last year's fishing trip in which, the insidious story alleged, he failed to catch a fish of his own but came back with a picture taken alongside another nimrod's successful string.

No one should blame a fisherman, of all people for trying. At least, the allegation is that the city mouthpiece attempted to pass off the picture as showing his own success.

Just returned from a three week vacation trip which took him into Indiana, the city law-man came wheeling back to town with a limit of finny beauties which he caught in Wyoming. He took special pains to exhibit them up and down the streets of the city before tossing them into the frying pan.

He declares this icing slant beats affidavits all hollow.

POLICE COMBAT COURSE

Three groups of law enforcement officers in Oregon City have been going through their combat paces in a special course being offered.

As told by the BANNER COURIER, a noted Pacific Coast weapons instructor of the state liquor control commission's enforcement division had charge of the complex course. Said weapons expert has taught police officers in Los Angeles, San Francisco, Sacramento, Klamath Falls and Portland, thus coming well recommended.

The routine includes all phases of police combat firing. These include firing from a moving car at a target resembling a "get-away" car; shooting by flashlight at night; running fire, quick drawing and firing, basic weapons instruction and left-handed shooting.

No stone unturned, no effort spared to better qualify the peace officers concerned!

WATER LIMIT LIFTED

No longer need rolling lawns in the Lake Oswego area be under jeopardy of summer crisping.

The REVIEW announces that, except for the event of too heavy use at once or an unexpectedly prolonged hot, dry spell, no restrictions will be put on the amount of water used.

Recruit Studies
Army Medicine
Technical Course

Clarence H. Lowe, army recruit formerly a resident of Beaverton, is now a student in the medical technician procedure course being given at the Medical Field Service school, Brooke Army Medical Center, Fort Sam Houston, Texas. Upon completion of his studies, he will be assigned to technical duty in the medical department of the army.

His mother, Mrs. J. C. Lowe, general delivery, Sutherlin, Oregon, sent the item of news as it came from the army headquarters in Texas.

Telling of the former residence in Beaverton, she expresses the hope that their next move will be back into Washington county.

Fred W. Scheckla

Services for Fred William Scheckla of route 2, Tigard, Oregon, were held Saturday morning of July 2 with vault interment in St. Anthony's cemetery, Tigard, Ore.

Mr. Scheckla died of injuries June 29 received when he fell out of a tree on his farm in Tigard. He was born on June 8, 1890 at Oswego, Oregon. He had lived in Tigard since 1920.

He is survived by his wife, Lena and seven children; Edward, Albert, Donald, Theresa, Dorothy and Shirley, all of Tigard, and Mrs. E. Metcalfe of Beaverton; three brothers and two sisters; Albert, John and Frank Scheckla of Durham, Oregon; Mrs. Mamie Roach of Sacramento, California and Mrs. Charles Roach of Portland, Ore.

Pegg's Mortuary, Beaverton, was in charge of services.

ount of water used. The water company drilled a new well and added an additional 200 thousand gallon reserve reservoir during the past year. The fire department, nevertheless has requested all lake residents to turn off their water whenever there is a fire nearby, to not diminish water pressure needed by fire fighters.

FISHING LOOKS UP

One nimrod of Gresham finds that fishing begins to look up, after one jaunt he made to the Devil's Punchbowl.

The OUTLOOK tells of the trip. Seems the sportsman not only landed two nice looking trout but also dragged a struggling man out of the creek.

Fishing from the edge of a turbulent pool, the man saw another fisherman topple into the water from a 100 foot cliff. He dropped his gear and rushed out on a log to snag the human quarry.

But the CAB indicates a better patronage must be made before they will allow the airline to continue.

The news account did not state whether or not the rescuer measured the man for size before deciding to keep him rather than throwing him back.

AIR TERMINAL NIXED

No longer will McMinnville enjoy the distinction of being on the daily passenger schedule of a West Coast airline, according to recommendation of the CAB.

The TELEPHONE REGISTER relates that the Civil Aeronautics urges dropping of the service because its passenger traffic average is below operating expenses. The company, through its local representative, regretfully notes the service is "endangered".

Operating on a temporary certificate, the company's time is due to expire on November 22. Permission to operate, of course, is on the basis of public convenience and necessity. Immediate use of the facilities was low at the start but has been gradually building up in the more than 2½ years of service.

But the CAB indicates a better patronage must be made before they will allow the airline to continue.

RUNTS BOOST FUND

The Runts in Vernonia have boosted their softball equipment fund to $35.

So notes the EAGLE, in reporting on collections by milk bottles placed in business houses for one week. But with all the financial support, the young softball team only won one of their last two games.

UNIQUE MUSEUM

There is a golden opportunity, in Forest Grove, for setting up an unique museum plant.

So, via the NEWS TIMES, comes the opinion of a New York specialist, in looking over the facilities of Pacific University. Suggestion was not for a cold establishment but part of the school's broad purpose of education.

Teachers, it was pointed out, could bring classes to the school grounds and impress the youngsters with memorabilia. Interest and patronage from all of Washington county could thus be funneled to the university grounds.

As it is, the university is setting up a permanent museum for its rich store of historical items. Hours for public inspection will be from 2:30 p.m. to 4 p.m., Mondays through Thursdays.

STATE TO COUNTY

The state of Oregon has moved into Hillsboro, seat of Washington county.

The ARGUS states that construction has already started on a building to house a branch office of the secretary of state, on the east side of 10th Avenue between Cedar and Maple streets. This is the first of 20 such to be constructed throughout the state. Opening is expected by August 1.

Purpose of the office will be to issue driver's licenses, tax refunds on gasoline for farmers and transfers of automobile licenses. Its processing capacity is set at about 300 cars per day.
