The answers to everyday insurance problems*
By Leonard Adams

QUESTION: Is there any kind of insurance which covers parents' legal liability for damage caused by a boy while riding his bicycle? A little neighbor boy rode out of his driveway and ran into a woman who was passing by. The boy's parents offered to pay the minor medical bills but the injured woman, whose nephew is an attorney, has brought suit for damages.

ANSWER: This case is another in which Comprehensive Personal Liability Insurance would give full protection. Not only would the insurance company cover the insured's legal liability up to the face amount of the policy, it would also defend the suit against him, saving him great expense. The small premium for this type of insurance is well spent.

* If you will address your own insurance questions to this office, we'll try to give you the correct answers and there will be no charge or obligation of any kind.
