

WEATHER FAILS TO HANDICAP MONTHLY CUB SCOUT MEETING

By Mrs. W. A. Bunnell
WEST SLOPE—Despite conflicting circumstances and adverse weather conditions, around 126 persons were present for the Cub Scout gathering at the Valley Community church on Friday evening of last week. The crowd enjoyed a program of varied entertainment and exhibitions of handicraft and boy scout activities put on by the youngsters.

The cubs of Pack 592 present a similar meeting each month to which the public is invited. A skit stressing a vital part of scout training is presented, this month skit portraying the value of loyalty. A graduation ceremony, in which Ray Smith passed from the rank of cub to scout was held, the candlelight rite providing an impressive touch to the evening. Later, the visitors viewed the exhibits of hobby work and collections of varied items by the cubs. Morris Nelson is scoutmaster and A. N. Wetterborg is general chairman of the pack, which numbers eight dens. The organization has grown from ten members two years ago, thirty last year, to fifty-five this year. The group plans a fund raising drive soon, in which they plan to gather pine cones from trees in the Mt. Hood section, which will be decorated and sold for Christmas ornaments.

FLIGHT TO OHIO

Mrs. J. Alfred Hall flew to Ohio last week to be with her mother who lives in a city in that state. Her husband and son remained here while she is gone. Mrs. Hall will return next week.

LION'S TOY DRIVE

Members of the local Lion's Club are getting ready to get their toy drive into full swing and are hoping to collect a good assortment of new and used toys for presentation to needy children at Christmas time. A number of the members attended a general meeting of the organization held in Portland recently, where the project was discussed and plans made for the drive.

SCOUT FUNDS CAMPAIGN

Members of the Boy Scouts of this section plan a drive for funds for the Scout treasury to be held within the next ten days. The treasury has become depleted by varied demands upon it and it is hoped to revive it with donations from interested parties.

TUGS IN TROUBLE

Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Blethen and children spent last Sunday at the beach. The weather was warm and clear.

At Taft they watched two tugs loose a barge while trying to enter Siletz Bay. One tug's engine failed when its oil system fouled. The hawser rope snapped from the second tug, leaving the barge free.

The Coast Guard came to secure the barge until it could be brought in on the next high tide.

Angel Passed By

For centuries the Egyptians had held the God's Chosen People in slavery. God is now to show his wrath and send the Angel of Death to slay all the first-born. But God would save the Hebrews so he commanded their fathers to kill a lamb and put the blood on the door-post. The Angel of Death would see the blood and pass over. The fathers believed, obeyed and saw their sons saved. EX 12—Bible.

BLOOD SAVES TO-DAY

Take your stand with God that the Blood of Jesus Christ, slain for your sins, has cleared your page. Believe God and Judgement Day is out with eternal life in—THEN, grow up. Eat the Bible promises and pray and look to Christ for the new days and ways that prove the new life.

EVENTS AS CHRONICLED BY OUR CONTEMPORARIES IN SURROUNDING NORTHWEST COMMUNITIES

FOREST MOVES IN TOWN

Right up in the front ranks of early receptionists on behalf of the Christmas season is the city of Gresham, which notes that the magic greenery of the forest moved into town to set the scene for a Santa Claus program on November 26.

The OUTLOOK relates that 13 local men took to the woods and chopped down enough holiday greens to adequately decorate the city streets. A total of some 250 trees met the woodsmen's axes and it took 3 trucks to cart them to town.

On the Santa Claus front, November 26 is the first of ten days the patron saint of the Yuletide will be on hand to meet with the youngsters. He is being set up in a tent headquarters just north of the city hall and a merry-go-round will be in operation for use by the kiddies during his stay. Merchants will pass out tickets for free use of the carousel.

Saint Nick will be on hand every Saturday until the week before X day, then will be on hand the next seven days.

SCHOOL'S PROPOSITIONS

With a windfall of $34,953 from the state supreme court, the school district of Vernonia is faced with two propositions.

As the EAGLE points out, the money was recovered in court order from the U. S. National bank on the premise that it should have known the school district clerk was embezzling the amount by the nature of the checks.

Now, to dispose of the money, the school board is faced with one of two propositions. It might use the money for improvement of the district's educational facilities or it might be used to reduce the levy in all county grade school districts. The first would require a favorable vote of the district while the second can be allowed to "slide through" through voters' disinterest.

The school board itself favors use of the money on facilities of the district, where it belongs. The county superintendent of schools, however, thinks it should be spread throughout the county grade school districts.

BLOCKED STREETS

The aggravation of a string of box cars blocking a city street for as long as 45 minutes has started a chain reaction in La Grande.

The EASTERN OREGON REVIEW reports that the Union Pacific finds it necessary to block the crossing in order to refuel and ready their forwarder trains carrying "highly competitive merchandise" to keep up with the traffic schedule. Some of these trains are over 100 cars in length and cannot be handled except by blocking the street crossing or breaking the train into 2 sections, the latter causing a great loss in time.

This reply fails to placate certain irate citizens, however, who point out that not only two west bound freights but passenger trains and switch engines also keep the crossing closed in excess of the five minutes allowed by city ordinance. The railroad, as a concession to the protesting people, offers to break the train for five minutes, in the middle of the 45 minute stop, to allow traffic jams to melt a little, and otherwise to solve the bothersome problems of railroad movement.

VICTIM OF RUNAWAY

The police patrol car parked beside the city hall became the victim of a runaway car, in Oregon City.

The pattern of the escapade, as told by the BANNER-COURIER, included a 1941 model car whose brakes gave out at the top of a steep hill.

The car rolled out of control and by the time it connected with and demolished—the police car it attained a speed of at least 60 miles per hour. The impact smashed the side of the police car, knocked it across the sidewalk and into the side of the city hall. The wall of the building also was damaged and the front of the runaway car, it goes without saying, was fully demolished.

The driver faces citation "for operating a vehicle without adequate brakes." The policeman driver of the patrol car had parked it a scant three minutes before the crash and was inside the city hall when the parts flew.

FISHING NOT SO GOOD

With the end of commercial fishing season in the Columbia river December 1, St. Helens notes that the catch was not so good this year.

The SENTINEL-MIST recites the facts that the catch, from the season's start on September 10, is far less than the same period last year. Chums averaged about 1,000 pounds per day during the middle of November but fell off to 400 pounds average during the end of the month.

All in all, during the entire year, fishermen and fish packers found little satisfaction in the catch as a whole.

DIMINISHING FISHERY

In the sports-fishing field, a speaker at McMinnville warns of an anticipated diminishing return.

The TELEPHONE-REGISTER reports on the speech by Dr. Don Dimmick, head of the fish and wild life department of Oregon State College, in which the fear was voiced that Oregon's game limit rapidly approaches five trout as the narrowing cycle which started with no limits than then successfully became 125, 100, 90, 50, 20 and now 15 trout.

Causes for the expected lower limit is the increase of fishing effort that causes many streams to be over-fished; barriers in streams; changing conditions in nature; improperly screened irrigation ditches and pollution. There have been an increase of more than 190,000 licenses issued in the past 12 years.

surpasses. This percentage is expected to rise even more, with the acquired experience in the field of the technician staffs.

In explaining the purchase of 200 pedigrees are further completed by representative lactation period records.

Because of their heavy investment in buildings, herds and equipment, Mr. Hagg warned, dairymen cannot overlook the jeopardy that arises through the government agricultural policies. He suggested that dairy farmers of America set up their own surplus holding pool and handle marketing, to get Uncle Sam out of their business. This, by his plan, would be set up by proper legislation and a small assessment on the first price of milk.

"But too many farmers," he commented ruefully, "have been in the trough and don't want to give it up."
