

Canyon Rd. Club Defines Sphere; Sets Next Meet

Eighteen interested citizens attended the January 10 pre-organizational meeting of the Canyon Road Boosters club, held at Flannery's, and voted to define its sphere of influence. Next meeting will be held Tuesday, January 17, at Flannery's, at which time permanent officers will be elected.

Mrs. Kaye Porter, of Porter's Clothing Center, was named temporary chairman. The group voted to include the area along Canyon Road from Pryor's plumbing shop west of Drew's Nursery, to Ungar's "Duo-Rain" shop near West Slope, as its primary area.

Neither Beaverton nor West Slope, as organized communities, are included in initial planning, although should either community wish to participate in promotion of the Canyon Road area they will be welcome to join.

Teens of Aloha-Huber Schedule Dance Jan. 14th

All teen-agers in the Beaverton-Aloha area are invited to attend a dancing party scheduled January 14 at the Aloha-Huber school.

The dances have been a regularly semi-monthly affair to give youngsters of high school age an outlet for sociability. A large crowd of merry-makers have been attending the functions.

Special evening surprises are looked forward to by the dancing crowd. But secrecy is the byword as to what may be expected!

March of Dimes Chairmen Begin Local Campaign

Beaverton and Aloha area campaign for the March of Dimes, scheduled from January 16 through January 31, is shaping up, reports Mrs. Donald Jenkins of Beaverton who, with Mrs. Howard Traschel of Aloha, is co-chairman of the fund-raising.

Although plans have not been completed, it is definitely promised, that a big March of Dimes function—either a dance or a party—will be staged along the lines of the highly successful party held last year at the Beaverton American Legion hall.

Collection containers will soon appear in all the business houses of the Beaverton-Aloha area, asking contributions toward the foundation devoted to the attack on polio.

National and local funds for the National Infantile Paralysis Foundation, says Mrs. Jenkins, have been seriously depleted by the grave incidence of the disease across the country and in Oregon as well.

The Beaverton junior chamber of commerce and ladies' auxiliary are cooperating in the drive.

Women Voters Lg. Sets Meeting In Aloha Jan. 19th

Mrs. Lee Thompson will be hostess at her home on Tobias road in Aloha Thursday, Jan. 19, for the second meeting of the newly-formed discussion group, for League of Women Voters.

The group will meet monthly to discuss current problems which are under league study. Next week the discussion will deal with the reapportionment of the state legislature.

Members will gather at 12:30 and bring sandwiches. Any women interested in attending may telephone the group chairman, Mrs. Bruce McMahon, Beaverton 4266.

Pac. University Groups Pledge 2 Women of Aloha

PACIFIC UNIVERSITY, Forest Grove—Two Aloha girls, Gloria Greene, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Greene, Aloha, and Charlene Christianson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Christianson, Route 1, Aloha, were among the 47 women who were pledged to local sororities here recently.

Miss Greene, a freshman home economics major, was named to Kappa Delta, and Miss Christianson, a freshman in journalism, was pledged to Theta Nu Alpha.

Miss Greene is a graduate of Beaverton high school and Miss Christianson graduated from Hillsboro high.

Mayor Plans 3-Way Drive For Salvage

SALVATION ARMY AND CITY BEGIN WEEK'S CLEANUP VENTURES

Spearheaded by the Men's Social Service department of the Salvation Army, represented by O. N. Robinson, the City of Beaverton will conduct a fire prevention, cleanup and salvage week starting January 23, according to announcement by H. H. Jeffries, mayor.

A supper meeting will be held Friday night, 7:30 p. m., in Kiwanis hall, to which have been invited representatives of all organizations of Beaverton. There will be a 30 minute sound picture explaining the work of the Salvation Army in rehabilitation through its "salvage" department. Any organization willing to send a representative is invited to do so and thus take part in the meeting.

Discussions will be held in regard to a week-long effort devoted to the three purposes of fire prevention, city cleanup and collection of used items of clothing, shoes, magazines, newspapers and other articles for repair or renovation with eventual sale in the Army store.

Sixty four men are on the payroll of the Salvation Army salvage department and their activities are directed toward their rehabilitation.

Among those invited to the Friday night meeting who have indicated their intention to attend are: Mayor Jeffries, chairman of the local committee; Mrs. Hildah Higbee, BPW; I. R. Metzler, Beaverton high school; Bruce McMahon, junior chamber of commerce; Mrs. C. O. Ackerman, and Mrs. Fred Goyt, OES; Fred Goyt, city superintendent; Reverend George Springer, Beaverton ministerial association; Archie Olson, fire chief; C. Bryan Walker, city recorder, and Erroll Hassel, grade school superintendent.

It is planned to set up a permanent committee of organization representatives to act in an advisory capacity the year around.

Kiwanis Observes Anniversary And Review of Group

The Beaverton Kiwanis club will join in an international observance of the group during the week of January 15-21 and review its accomplishments, according to Marble Cook, newly elected president of the club.

Established in Detroit, January 21, 1915, the international service organization has grown to more than 3,000 clubs and 200,000 members throughout the North American continent and Hawaii.

Plans for the Beaverton club's participation in the Anniversary week will be under the direction of Fred Scheller, chairman, and his committee on education and fellowship.

DEMOCRATS MEET

The Washington County Democratic Central Committee will meet Saturday, January 14, at 8:00 o'clock, in the Hillsboro Chamber of Commerce building.

Basketball Season Starts; Beaverton Ties In Cellar

HILLSBORO AND NEWBERG LEAD LEAGUE AFTER FIRST TWO CASABA TILTS; NEXT GAMES FRIDAY

The possible pattern of basketball championship in the TYV league is starting to shape up after two tilts show Hillsboro and Newberg, traditionally strong in the sport, leading the pack. Tigard's record is 1 and 1 for .500% while Beaverton is in a three way tie for cellar honors.

Tuesday night the rangy Oregon City quintet took the measure of an eager Beaver five to the tune of 55 to 40. The Beaverton lads were trying every minute and Don Metcalfe, guard on the losing team, led scoring with 11 points while Blinckhorn, of the winners, totaled 10 counters.

At Tigard, Ted Rosen of Newberg led his teammates with 23 points to spearhead a 64 to 52 vic-

Kiwanis Lt. Gov. Inducts Officers Beaverton Club

Newly-elected officers of the Beaverton Kiwanis Club were installed last Wednesday by ex-Lt. Governor Jesse Kimm, of Vancouver, Wash. Kimm and his wife, Vivian, drove to Beaverton despite the hazardous weather especially for the occasion.

Officers installed were the president, Marble Cook; vice president, Herb Bilstad; secretary Garson Kane and seven directors. These included: W. D. Cameron, Ray Clearwater, Richard Cline, C. E. Dixon, Harold Gregory, David Lofgren, Sr., and William V. Spears. A talk was given by Kimm to the Club giving an outline of the duties of the various offices.

The outgoing president, Chet Huddleston was presented with a Past President's pin by Kimm, who congratulated him on the Club's fine record of the past year. Ray Clearwater presented Huddleston with a beautiful leather suitcase on the behalf of the Beaverton Kiwanis Club. Huddleston says he will use it on the trip to the District Convention to be held in Spokane this year. Several members received award pins for perfect attendance.

On the musical side of the evening score was singing led by A. D. George. Highlighting this phase of the evening was a solo sung by Mitz Alexander and another sung by Ed Zumwalt. Their rendition of one verse of "America the Beautiful" was in a class by itself.

Zumwalt's remark preceding his vocalizing was, "You aren't going to like this." He got a good round of applause, however. Willis Cady, the accompanist, did experience some difficulty keeping up with him.

Mitz dispatched his verse with a show of a little more skill—perhaps because of an occasional practice. This portion of the evening ended in a good laugh by everyone present.

President Marble Cook is making plans for an active year for the Kiwanis Club of Beaverton. New members will be added to the ranks of the club with a membership goal of sixty to seventy active Kiwanians who will carry out the aims of the organization.

Pete Heisel of Beaverton Buys Chevron Station

Effective the first of the week, Pete Heisel, longtime Beaverton resident, has assumed ownership of the Chevron gas station at 355 N. W. Canyon road, next to Jeffries' Real Estate. Formerly the place of business was known as Rottman Chevron Service.

Pete, who will act as manager, is aiming for a modern up-to-date station specializing in service and satisfied customers. Assisting him is W. C. Wright, 15 year resident of Beaverton, who brings 12 year's experience to his job.

The station will offer a complete line of accessories and full service features. A free pickup delivery service is also to be maintained.

Teen-Age Rec Center Takes Count; $ Lack

SECONDARY GROUP CONSIDERS AREA-WIDE SWIM POOL

This week saw the closing of Beaverton's Teen-age recreation center, in the Grange hall, after the community recreation committee recognized the futility of trying to carry on a program with sufficient funds to allow the setting up of a budget and the carrying out of a planned schedule of activities.

Mrs. Norton Peck, chairman of the committee, announces that all furniture, including the piano, has been stored against the possibility of reviving the project. The community-wide carnival succeeded in paying off all outstanding obligations, she reports, but until a dependable source of income can be obtained, preferably by taxation, the committee feels it is impossible to carry on.

Committee members and individual parents have expressed great regret at the center's closing. Support, however, has not come in sufficient strength to make any other decision possible. The Beaverton grange, according to Mrs. Peck, was also greatly concerned at the abandonment of the project.

Meanwhile, a secondary group met January 10, in Kiwanis hall, to discuss means of getting up an area-wide swimming pool. Because no decision was reached, the meeting voted not to release publicity regarding their plans.

Highway Moguls Say Restrictions Spur Disregard

The meeting of Westdale's Mother's club was held at the home of Mrs. Dorothy Lutz. Roll call was answered by members relating New Year's resolutions.

A letter was read from Albin I. Nordquist who had interviewed the resident State Highway engineer at Portland, Ore., revealing why the 40 mile-per-hour speed restriction was not continued further west than Multnomah Club road and Broadmoor on Bertha-Beaverton highway.

The highway commission has discovered that by placing too many restricted speed zones, people were tending to disregard them all. By extending the restricted speed zone west from Glencullen, some faster trucks and fast private automobiles have been discouraged from using this highway.

Recommendations were made to allow this matter to rest for a year or two, keeping in mind the development of this area and the necessity of such additional restricted speed zones.

After business an article entitled "The Deadly Sin of Jealousy," by Will Oursler, was read by Mrs. Ruthann McKenzie.

The hostess served pecan pie, whipped cream and coffee.

Ext. Unit Dates Jan. 17 Meeting On Care of Skin

The next meeting of the Tigard-McKay extension unit will be held at the home of Mrs. Harry Robinson on Scholls Ferry road, Tuesday, January 17, at 10:30 a. m.

The subject "Care of the Skin," will be demonstrated by Mrs. Earl McNoit and Mrs. Harvey.

On January 23, Mrs. Carl Finley and Mrs. E. L. Trevarthen will attend a lecture on cancer control in Hillsboro, and will later report to the club.

Radio Stations Tell If School To Hold Classes

During spells of bad weather parents are asked to tune in their radios during the early morning instead of calling the schools to determine if classes will be held. The earliest report on the air concerning schools is given over station KEX at 6:45 a. m. Station KOIN carries this news at 7:00 a. m. 7:15 a. m. and 8:00 a. m.

Any news of the closing of Beaverton schools includes both the C. E. Mason school and the Merle Davies school as well as the Beaverton high school.

City Votes Radio Transmitter For Police, Fire Dept.

The city of Beaverton, at the council meeting of January 10, voted to advertise for bids on a short wave radio transmitter and two receivers for a fire truck and the police car, after it was pointed out that the police department is operating at a profit and well able to hold up its share in cost of the equipment.

West Slope and Beaverton rural fire protection districts, which will share in the expense of the radio installation, also agree to share in the expense of a night man to be stationed at the city hall and answer fire calls, prepare trucks for quick getaway and operate the radio station.

Cost of transmitter and one receiver, FM type, is estimated by Oscar Martin, councilman member of the safety committee, at about $1,200 with an additional receiver costing $500 installed.

Mayor Jeffries pointed out, during discussions as to advisability of including the police department in the radio system, that since July 1, fines have amounted to $1,400, with $400 received from November 26 to December 25.

The fire department has over 300 gallons of stove oil stored inside the station and requests it be moved outside. The council ordered this done and the purchase of a storage tank sufficient to serve the proposed heating plant for the city hall be investigated before the installation.

Councilmen Milton Metcalfe and Paul Taggart were appointed, with Fred Goyt, city superintendent, to study bids on gas, lubricating oil and fuel oil, for the next meeting of January 15. Figures were submitted by Standard Oil of California, Signal Oil, Union Oil, McCall Oil and Richfield Oil company representatives.

Three signs, 4' by 4' saying "25 miles per hour enforced" will be posted at each end of the highway through the city, by vote of the council.

Bills will be sent out to all businesses for the annual occupation tax.

Milton Kaiser, plumbing inspector, was voted $25 monthly for expenses in addition to inspection fees until such time as sewer connections begin.

The council voted to purchase with 4% warrants, a Fordson tractor and dirt loader from Peter B. Case for $1,367.20, less some $490 discount on rentals already paid for use of the equipment.

A delegation of three from Hazel street protested an open sewer on Erickson street and requested it be covered over as a safeguard against children falling in it and possibly drowning.

Fred Goyt will represent the city again this year at the second annual streets and roads conference in Corvallis, under sponsorship of the League of Oregon Cities, February 23 and 24, after which he will start a long-delayed vacation of two weeks.

PUBLIC HEARING LASHES AT RENT CONTROL OF ANY KIND

COUNCIL WILL GIVE DECISION ON JANUARY 16; TENANTS FAIL TO OFFER CONTRARY ARGUMENTS

A practically unanimous public opinion among 25 citizens present at the January 9 meeting of the Beaverton city council energetically lashed at the continuation of controls on rent and expressed unveiled distrust at rental restrictions of any nature, whether federal or local.

WEATHER CHANGES TO OLD WINTER BUGABOO

There's been a little bit of every kind of weather in the last week, from caressing moments of beautiful sunshine to blinding rain, dense snow, high wind and the old winter bugaboo, icy streets and highways. Trees came down, too, in the "big blow" of Monday night.

On Wednesday morning, Canyon Road was practically a snail's pace lineup from Aloha clear through to West Slope and beyond, with state police officers patrolling up and down warning motorists to apply chains for the hazardous trip into Portland. On Bertha-Beaverton and Farmington road, the ice conditions were in every way treacherous, although the comparatively light travel and level road presented less complications to motorists.

The winter ski-casualty parade is also underway, with some three high school lads numbered among the sports-crippled enthusiasts with broken or wrenched arms, shoulders, ankles and Oh! those aching backs.

PTA Lays Plans For Election On School Addition

The executive board of the Beaverton PTA will meet Thursday evening, Jan. 12, at 8 p. m. in the Merle Davies school. Room mothers are also asked to attend the meeting.

Mrs. C. L. Drew, president, states that this will be a most important session since plans will be laid to aid the drive for a successful school bond election for additions to present buildings of district No. 48.

EIGHT NEW PUPILS

Miss Merle Davies, principal of the Merle Davies school, reports that eight new pupils have been added to the enrollment roster at the school during the past week.

MOVIES FOR FRIENDS

Beaverton DeMolay entertained friends Tuesday evening with some interesting movie shorts.

Barry Hoaglin is the master counsellor and Kent Kitts was in charge of the program.

Sports Enthusiasts Share Weekly Wildlife Feature

FRED GOETZ AND K. PARSONS JOINTLY AUTHOR COLUMN ON HUNTING AND FISHING ACCOUNTS

Kay Parsons Fred Goetz

A weekly column of information about hunting and fishing becomes, with this issue, the joint project of Fred Goetz and Kay Parsons, two young sports enthusiasts who are active in rod and gun club circles and who devote all their spare time to the outdoors pursuit. Their feature will be named "Hunting and Fishing Around."

Goetz is manager of Webb Electric sporting goods department who is entirely sold on the hunting and fishing potentialities of the Pacific Northwest, dating from the time he snagged his first steelhead, of 12 pounds, on the Lewis river first time out.

He was born in Baltimore, Maryland and came to Oregon in 1946 and took in a summer of ranch life in central Oregon before returning to make his home in these parts. He married the former Betty Renfro of Beaverton where they

Except for one lone citizen who described himself as a member of a labor organization as well as of veteran groups, rather than as a renter who would be personally affected by lifting of controls, it was a landlords' congregation. Although given every encouragement by Mayor H. H. Jeffries, tenants failed to show up and offer contrary arguments on the matter.

A. E. Siddens, who rents a three-unit apartment house at 1001 S. E. Franklin, represented himself as having started the petition circulation from which the hearing was called. He declared the lifting of rent controls was not designed to mean a general raise in rents. Rather, he said, it was to remove obnoxious controls on the management of property.

Siddens pointed out that it now requires 90 days notice to tenants before property may be put on sale and six months notification for the remodeling of the property. Houses now under control cannot compete with newly built places, he charged, because the rentals received do not allow margin enough to repair and maintain them.

C. E. Hunkapillar, declaring that he had three apartments which have been under control since 1942, cited the doubling of property taxes and repair costs, the additional burden of sewer taxation and increase by about three times of general overhead. He declared it was his intention to raise the ridiculously low rent on his property only slightly, in fact about half of a voluntary increase already offered by his tenants who, he said, likewise feel controls are unjust.

Bruce Steele, landlord who explained that he has no complaints personally at this time, expressed the conviction that the rent control law is the most unjust measure there is.

Albert Higbee, Beaverton merchant, gave the opinion that everything has gone up since the war and it is not fair to tie rentals to an outdated standard. Other landlords agreed in this vein, although none of them gave notice of unreasonable increases in future rents should controls be abandoned.

Mayor Jeffries told the assembly that the council would consider all phases of rent control, as applying to tenants as well as landlords before making a decision at the next meeting, called for January 16. At least 90 days would be required for official cancellation of controls, he added.

Impressive Rites Mark Passing On Will H. McGrath

Services for William Harold McGrath of 3665 Blanton Ave., Beaverton, were held at the Pegg Chapel, Beaverton, on Friday, Jan. 6th. The Rev. George Springer of the Church of Christ, Beaverton, officiated.

The services were under the auspices of Beaverton Lodge No. 100, A. F. & A. M. Committal services and interment were held at the I.O.O.F. cemetery in Goldendale, Wash., at 2 p. m. on Saturday, under the auspices of the Goldendale Lodge No. 31, A. F. & A. M.

Mr. McGrath was born on February 27, 1887, in Frontenac City, Kansas. He came west in his youth and started working for the Spokane, Portland and Seattle Ry. about 1908 or earlier. He saw many years of service with the line and retired about ten years ago.

Most of the time while employed by the S. P. & S. Ry. he lived in Goldendale, Washington, but when he retired he moved to Beaverton. He was a well known figure in the Beaverton area as he spent a number of years as custodian of the Masonic Temple in Beaverton.

He was a member of Goldendale Lodge No. 31, A. F. & A. M., Affinity Temple, Shriners, Tacoma, Wash.; Tacoma Consistory, Scottish Rite; Goldendale Chapter No. 36, Royal Arch, and Order of Railway Conductors No. 540.

He is survived by his wife, Emma McGrath of Beaverton; one daughter, Mrs. Lavelle Crum of Del Rosa, Calif.; two step-daughters, Mrs. Marie Duffield of Goldendale, Wash., and Mrs. Ruth Edgell of Kansas City, Missouri. He was a brother of Mrs. Ethel Eckert of Oakland, Calif., Leo McGrath of Salt Lake City, Utah, and Ernest McGrath of Pittsburgh, Kansas. There are six grandchildren and 3 great grandchildren.
