because of the necessity of treating effluent before it can be released to streams.

First meeting of the committee is set for March 23.

The Hillsboro regional dinner meeting took the form of an open forum, with representatives from cities in the county asking and answering questions, with advisory remarks and suggestions from league officials. Attending from Beaverton were Milton Metcalfe, Jack Weiby, Oscar Martin, Mrs. Jack Osfield. C. Bryan Walker, Chet Hunkapillar, Dick Doty, Fred Goyt, Ralph Leudtke, Dave Lofgren and Wally Kain.

Beaverton officials learned that there is no restriction on the spending of gas tax allocations from the state, as long as it is for construction, maintenance or repair of city streets.

Discussion of the setting up of a county-wide planning commission, to take up where city planning jurisdiction ends, brought out much sentiment in favor of such a move. Such a body would approve plans and streets in subdivisions outside city boundaries. It was announced that no change in state-shared revenues to cities is expected to come out of the federal census until 1951. However, the census bureau will release preliminary figures as received, as soon as they are available and upon petition of the cities con
