Farmers To Aid
Morse Campaign

Henry G. Hagg

Henry G. Hagg of Reedville, one of Oregon's best known dairymen, will head a state-wide Farmers-for-Morse Committee, it was announced Thursday at Morse-for-Senator Headquarters in Portland.Hagg who operates Broadawn Farms, one of largest and most highly mechanized dairy farms in the state has long been a leader in the industry.Hagg is vice president of Dairy Cooperative association; president of the Oregon Dairy Breeders Association; director of Consolidated Dairy Products company; director of Dairy Products Manufacturers Association; director of National Milk Producers Federation.Hagg has been active in the Republican party for many years.WEEK AT SEASIDE Mr. and Mrs. Harry Haugsten of Cedar Mills Park spent last week at Seaside, Oregon.FOUND ONE HORSE For want of a horse, race fan would be lost... if not his money.But for want of an owner, a black gelding riding horse has been browsed upon the property of E. A.
Mills, Route 1, Box 51A, Tigard, dating from April 2.The nag has white stockings on the left rear and right front feet and a white streak on the nose.By proper identification and negotiation, the horse may be returned to its own green pasture.WELDER TAKES OFF The bigger they are, the greater the haul.Edwin Holmes, 1977 S. Lombard, Beaverton reports the theft of a $1,000, Hobart 300 amp electric welder, powered by a Chrysler industrial engine, mounted on a 4 wheel trailer with 16 inch jeep type mud-grip tires, from Welders' Supply Company, in Portland on the night of March 27.There was a suspect, who has been enrolled in a welding school next door to the supply company.
He was at the school the night of the theft and had a 1934 Plymouth with a cracked block.He once remarked that the engine on the welder would nicely fit in his car, as a replacement, which puts him under the cloud.The welder was recovered by Henry Mayfield, Beaverton police officer, April 6 and solution of the case is imminent.THE YOUNG GENERATION A hot dispute in the Aloha area concerns the young generation.Mrs. Nina Kermode, Route 1, Box 720, Aloha, tells of a 10 year old neighbor boy who abuses her grand daughter, throwing rocks and sand at her, slapping her and continually "peckin' away".The boy's parents disclaim these charges, even though there are several neighbors said to have witnessed the acts.The juvenile officer has been alerted to the situation and hopes to establish the basis of peaceful relations in the neighborhood.
