

MARINE AIR RESERVE MOBILIZATION * 1950

41 U. S. MARINE AIR RESERVE SQUADRONS, based at 25 U. S. Naval Air Stations throughout the nation, are poised to make the two largest coast-to-coast mass air movements ever planned for American reserve air fighter units in peacetime. 21 Western squadrons will leave home stations (black arrows) simultaneously, July 8th, 1950, for maneuvers lasting to July 22nd at Cherry Point, N. C. 20 squadrons at bases east of the Mississippi (white arrows) will leave simultaneously August 5th, 1950, for maneuvers lasting to August 19th at El Toro (Santa Ana), California. Fast moving Marine mobile radar equipment will be set up in radar networks in the field to direct interception of "attacking" planes.

Two Navy Men Get Shore Duty On Puget Sound

Serving a normal tour of shore duty aboard the Naval Air Station, Whidbey Island, Wash., are two Beaverton, Ore., men.

They are Donald R. Swanson, chief hospital corpsman, USN, and Jesse D. Sipe, radioman, first class, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. George L. Sipe.

Whidbey Island, homeport for the Navy's twin-engine patrol plane, the Neptune, is located in Puget Sound just north of Seattle.

Within easy access of the mainland, Navy men stationed on Whidbey Island are afforded all the recreational facilities offered by a seacoast playground.

Swanson entered the Naval service in May, 1940, while Sipe enlisted in June, 1942.

Book Collection Set For Library Of Century Club

On Thursday and Friday, July 6 and 7, the Century Club, as donations of books for the Century Club's new Public Library, are being received at the library. This space is in the lower level of the West Slope Branch of The Commercial Bank of Oregon, at S. W. Canyon Road and Club Road.

The service is being sponsored and organized as a community project by the club, according to Mrs. V. R. Churchill, president, and will be affiliated with the State Library system. It is hoped that this venture will be an additional impetus to the creation of a county library system in Washington County, with both area branches and the bookmobile service to the rural areas.

Miss Eloise Ebert, administrative assistant to the State Librarian, brought up a station wagon full of books for the use of the new library, and also stands ready to give much valuable assistance to the Century Club in setting up their library.

A prize is being offered to the girl or boy between 8 and 10 and the one between 8 and 16 who brings in the most books on the book collection days, July 6 and 7.

Grand opening of the library will be held July 11, at which time the public is welcomed, to inspect the new service.

'Last Deadline' On Termination Pay On June 30, 1951

Veterans who neglected to apply for terminal leave pay for unused leave time during World War II are given another chance to obtain this benefit, by virtue of recent legislation extending the application deadline, the Oregon Department of Veterans' Affairs reported this week. The new deadline is June 30, 1951.

The benefit derives from the armed forces leave act of 1946 which provided payment to enlisted men for leave to which they were held entitled but did not receive during service between Sept. 8, 1939, and Sept. 1, 1946. They were given until Sept. 1, 1948, to apply, but Congress now has granted them another year.

The Oregon veterans' department received word from the army finance office that current applicants may use the old application forms. If local postoffices no longer keep the forms in supply, they may be obtained from county veterans' service officers or through the state veterans' department at 306 S. W. 11th Avenue, Portland. Applications must be notarized and accompanied by photostatic or certified copies of discharge.

Ex-army veterans discharged in Oregon or Washington should send their applications to the U. S. Army Finance Office, 4735 E. Marginal Way, Seattle, Wash. Ex-soldiers discharged from other states, and navy, marine corps and coast guard veterans should apply to the addresses given on the claim form.

Survivors of veterans who died after discharge and who never applied for the benefit, are eligible in the order of spouse, children, parents, brothers, sisters, nephews and nieces. They must write for an application blank to appropriate armed forces addresses listed on the living veterans' application forms.

Jobless Benefit Year Makes New Start In Claims

New claims for the 1950-51 benefit year will be received this week at 26 local offices of the State Unemployment Compensation Commission. Those now unemployed may save their required waiting week before the 52-week year opens with the week of July 2-8, the commission announced today.

Insured claimants who have been drawing 1949-50 benefits thru-out June were allowed to file their new claims last week, but their first compensable week in the new year also will be July 2-8. Only 4,493 new claims were received as against 6,234 a year ago.

Because of the more than 31,000 claimants who exhausted their 1949-50 benefits by mid-June, the number filing this week may be somewhat greater than the 5,711 of last year.

Unemployment payments this month are running considerably under comparable weeks of 1949. During the year just drawing to a close, however, those covered under state law have received nearly $26 millions as compared with $13 millions in the 1948-9 benefit year. Of the 390,000 workers eligible for benefits, nearly 144,000 have filed claims, comparing with 103,000 the previous year.

Shrine Sponsors Paper Pickup To Benefit Hospital

Portland Shriners are sponsoring a paper drive for the benefit of the Shrine Hospital for Crippled Children, on Sunday, July 16. Collection of paper in this area will be under the supervision of A. M. Jannessen.

All proceeds from the drive will go to the Shriners Hospital for Crippled Children to supply needed equipment. Crippled children, regardless of race, color or creed are accepted at the Shrine hospital for corrective treatment, at no cost to the parent.

In previous paper drives 25 to 30 carloads of paper have been collected in this one-day drive, and more than $50,000 has been provided by the method for furnishing and equipping the hospital.

Paper should be deposited at the Safeway parking lot in Beaverton by not later than 8 p. m. on Saturday, July 15. It will be picked up by trucks from Portland before 9 a. m. on Sunday the 16th.

Producers Meet Processors For Cover Crop Talk

A county-wide meeting of all interested winter cover crop seed, producers and processors will be held on Monday evening, July 10, at 8:00 p. m. in the County Court room, Court House, Hillsboro.

This meeting is scheduled by the Oregon State and Washington County Production and Marketing Administration Committees to discuss the 1950 Winter Cover crop seed production and related price support program.

There are some important changes included in the 1950 support program for winter cover crop seed. Although a heavy production of seed is expected this year, producers should receive at least the support price for their seed.

Farm storage and warehouse loans as well as purchase agreements are available to producers this year. Farm storage loans provide immediate payment to the producer, eliminating the waiting period from the time of harvest until February of the following year. Warehouse storage loans accomplish the same thing.

However seed must be stored in a warehouse which has become eligible by virtue of having signed a Seed Storage Agreement with Commodity Credit Corporation. Purchase agreements provide producers with support price for their seed at the end of January providing they cannot obtain the support price through regular marketing channels.

Commodity Credit Corporation will purchase surplus stocks of seed from eligible dealers at the termination of the loan period providing they have paid their producers at least support price for the seed.

The Production and Marketing Administration of the U. S. Department of Agriculture has announced the following basic support prices (cents per pound) for Winter Cover Crop Seed in Oregon which meet basic requirements for purity and germination: Hairy Vetch, 14.50; Common Vetch, 6.57; Willamette Vetch, 6.57; Austrian Winter Peas, 4.52; Common ryegrass, 7.34 and Crimson Clover, 16.30.

Unfavorable Egg Feed Ratio Urges Constant Culling

"It's the least favorable egg ratio in 20 years."

That's the way Noel Bennion, OSC extension poultry specialist, describes the egg-feed ratio now facing Oregon poultrymen. One dozen eggs buys about 9 and one-half pounds of feed. Normally, he says, a dozen eggs will buy about 12 to 15 pounds of feed.

The specialist also estimates that a 5 to 10 percent decrease in the number of chicks raised is taking place this year. He adds, however, that a reduction in the number of chicks hatched is usually reflected by a good market year.

Because of the generally unfavorable egg-feed ratio, Bennion believes that all poultrymen must eventually make brooding part of their business and replace a high proportion of the laying flock each year. Pullets lay 25 to 30 percent more eggs than birds in their second year of lay, the specialist reminds.

Instead of marketing old hens still in lay, however, he suggests that they be kept through the summer months in temporary houses and culled as they go out of lay.

In stressing efficient, economical egg production, Bennion says culling and prevention of feed waste are doubly important. Poorly constructed feeders and rats waste upwards of 20 percent of the feed in some poultry operations.

Culling is a year around job. Birds that are light in body weight and slow developing are poor financial risks. Handling each bird to determine production qualities is a task for July and August. Discard pullets which fail to measure up as economical producers.

Culling, the specialist says, can be summarized into four considerations:

1. Production. A soft, pliable abdomen and wide spacing between the pubic bones are indications of a bird in lay.
2. Yellow coloring in the eye ring, beak and shanks. This generally marks a bird which is not laying.
3. Molting. Losing feathers now indicates non-production.
4. Conditions and body weight. Going "light" means no eggs.
