EVENTS CHRONICLED BY OUR CONTEMPORARIES IN NORTHWEST COMMUNITIES

POLICE TROUBLES

Police troubles, like a recurrent rash, have broken out again in Oakridge.

The TELEGRAM prophesies that if present indications work out, the city will need find its fourth set of police officers in little less than a year.

The present chief, not stating the precise reason, has submitted his resignation, effective Aug. 1, having appeared on the local scene May 1 to carry on after the previous chief had been killed in the line of duty.

Scuttlebutt around the street-corners give rise to the belief that the chief wasn't quite satisfied with the cooperation he was receiving from the city council.

The chief and his assistant have been working a seven-day week and are described as efficient law enforcers. And the assistant declares that if the city council accepts his resignation, the second man on the force, will hand in his badge and handcuffs, too.

AIR LOOKOUT VOLUNTEERS

The skies will be well-scanned in Forest Grove, as soon as a corps of volunteers is signed up and trained.

The NEWS TIMES relates that, as part of the network interceptor system activated throughout the Pacific coast region, a lookout station is being resumed, to be constructed this time atop the new fire department drill tower. During World War II, the roof of a local bank building served for this purpose.

The volunteers are not being "pressed into service" at the present time but a dummy run to brief lookouts in the prescribed procedure is expected in the near future.

When and if needed, the volunteers will make up four hour watches of two men per watch. Women are invited for daytime service but the more stalwart male will come to grips with the sky-watching during the dark of night.

DRILLERS HIT GUSHER

There's a mite of oil-well activity in the Lakeview area, these days.

The LAKE COUNTY EXAMINER reports that on the first test well, the company hit a gusher—of artesian water. In fact, it is claimed to be the largest artesian flow encountered in the area, some 3,000 gallons per minute.

This complication threw a monkey wrench into operations until the water could be cased off.

RETAKE ON BUDGET

The job in Sheridan was not completed the first time so school district residents will have to have another run at it.

Involved, relates the SUN, is the school budget which was rejected by two votes from among the 94 people who turned out.

The board sized up its needs after the narrow defeat of the budget estimates, hung tough to its original slate of dollar requirements and the next election as a result of the decision will be for the same amount.

Between 600 and 700 voters are listed.

BUDGET FINALLY WINS

It took Oakridge three different attempts. But citizens finally gave a begrudged approval to estimate needs for the 50-51 fiscal year.

The TELEGRAM repeats the statewide election story of taxation disapproval by a small percentage of qualified electors.

In the third time voted on, a "wide margin" was finally mustered, 112 to 78.

TRIP THRU OLYMPIAS

Mr. and Mrs. C. N. Taylor of San Francisco, who have been visiting in West Slope at the home of their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Taylor continued on a motor trip to Vancouver, B. C., and Victoria and over the Canal route to the Olympics. They returned last week and will remain here for some time.

Mrs. Marvin Taylor and children will leave about August 1 for a visit to her parents in La Jolla, Calif. They will make the trip by plane.

CHURCH HAS SECOND LARGEST BODY AT SEABECK CONFERENCE

By Mrs. W. A. Bunnell

WEST SLOPE—Seventeen representatives of the Valley Community church who attended the Seabek conference July 9 to 17 returned on Monday night of last week.

The local group were the second largest delegation at the conference which was attended by about 200 people from the synods of Washington, Oregon and Idaho. Nampa, Idaho had the largest group of representatives.

Attending from here were Martha Walters, Sandra McGeorge, Barbara Grant, Dorothy Eddy, Darlene Hauben, Beverly Armitage, Mrs. Mildred Klug and two children, Mr. and Mrs. William Boorkman and son, Dale Pickard, Ralph Pence, Rev. H. A. Armitage. Also attending for two days were Mrs. George Pickard and daughter, Mary.

Library Project Readies Formal Opening Aug. 1st

WEST SLOPE—Formal opening of the new community public library, sponsored by the Century club, will be held Tuesday afternoon, August 1, and the public is cordially invited to attend according to Mrs. Wm. Stuedler, chairman of the library committee.

Located in the lower level of the West Slope Bank building, the new free library will be open Tuesday and Thursday afternoons from 1:30 to 4:30, at the start. As demand for library service increases, the hours will be liberalized.

At the formal opening, application forms for library cards will be available and first cards will be issued. Rules governing the issuance of cards and the withdrawal of books, will be essentially the same as generally prevail in other public libraries.

Library experts, who have inspected the more than 1200 books given to the community library, say the collection is unusually well balanced for a new library. In addition to books owned by the library, there also is a sizeable loan collection from the state library at Salem which has designated the community public library as one of its recognized branches.

Lists of donors of books and equipment for the new library will be posted for public inspection on opening day. Probably the largest single gift of new books is that made personally by Peter Binford, president of Binfords and Mort, publishers, who sent 122 volumes. Many of these deal with the Pacific Northwest, historically or fictionally. Mr. George Hallam of the J. K. Gill company and Mrs. C. S. Jackson also were donors of collections of new books.

The work of stamping, classifying, cataloging and numbering the books has taken many hours of work and it has been done by members of the Century club including Mrs. W. A. Brooks, Mrs. E. W. Barr, Mrs. V. R. Churchill, Mrs. Wm. Stuedler, Mrs. Roger Bailey, Mrs. G. W. Clarke, Mrs. Roy V. Cosner, Mrs. Robert L. Fisher, Mrs. Ira Holcomb, Mrs. Carlson Wood, Mrs. G. E. Tucker, Mrs. Mildred Klug, Mrs. H. W. McIntosh, Mrs. Wm. F. Nickell, Mrs. John A. Redfield, Mrs. L. G. Sawyer, Mrs. Wm. M. Tears and Mrs. Phil F. Thayer.

Husbands have helped in the cleaning of the library room and gathering of supplies, and book shelves have been built from lumber donated by local yards by William Stuedler and son.

Expert technical advice and counsel has been furnished by Miss Margaret Bates and Mrs. Eric Wiley, both of whom are graduate librarians.

WEEK IN SPOKANE
Mr. and Mrs. Don Hood and children, Donna and Tonye left Saturday for Spokane where Mrs. Hood and the children will spend a week with her parents. Mr. Hood returning early this week.

HOSTS AT REUNION
Mr. and Mrs. Alex Gray were hosts at an all day gathering Sunday for the annual reunion of the Beck-Hayes families, relatives of Mrs. Gray.

Forty-eight persons were present, coming from nearby points as well as Seattle and Lebanon. The dinner was served picnic style in Gray's patio.

TAKE YEAR IN HAWAII

Mr. and Mrs. George Pickard and family have purchased the C. B. Foulk residence on Gabel Lane and will move to their home this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Foulk are leaving to spend a year in Hawaii.

APPRENTICE DOG JUDGE

Gill Torrence made his initial appearance as an apprentice judge of obedience trial in the Vancouver dog show Sunday. This was the first of series of three times he must serve in this capacity before securing a license as judge.

Ricky, the Torrence's prize Doberman Pinscher, was not taken to the Sunday trial.

SPECIAL LEG TREATMENT

Elmer Gunderson of Florence, brother of Mrs. Gill Torrence of West Slope was brought by ambulance to Portland last week to enter St. Vincent's hospital.

He will undergo special treatment of a broken leg sustained in an auto accident near his home town of a few weeks ago.

His condition was critical for sometime and complications developing in his injured leg made a special attention imperative. His wife who was injured in the same wreck is recovering satisfactorily.

MAY RETURN TO DAKOTA

Mrs. K. P. Caveny announces she will dispose of equipment in the new clinic building opened here last year by her husband, the late K. P. Caveny who passed away last month. She plans to lease the building.

Mrs. Caveny also is making arrangements to sell her home but her next move is indefinite and may mean a return to her former home in South Dakota.

RHODODENDRON CAMP

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Holloway and three children went to the Holloway summer camp at Rhododendron July 15 for a week's vacation. Mr. Holloway returned during the week, the rest of the family arriving home Sunday evening.

Relatives of the family from Oswego and Portland were also guests at the cabin during the week.

BEFORE SCHOOL STARTS

Mrs. Bertha Johnson of Hoquiam, Wash., who has been visiting her niece, Mrs. Leroy Stubbfield for several weeks left Friday for Oak Harbor, Wash., where she will spend a short time before returning here to stay until the opening of school.

Mrs. Johnson is a teacher in a Hoquiam school.

GUESTS OF WEEKEND

Mr. and Mrs. George E. Tenney of Everett were weekend guests at the M. G. Stroup residence, the group enjoying a jaunt to Timberline Lodge for dinner Sunday.

WESTDALE MOTHERS MEET

On Wednesday, July 19, Westdale Mother's club held its regular meeting at the home of Mrs. Jerry Fohl.

Most of the evening was spent completing plans for the club's annual picnic which is to be held August 6 at Creston Park in Portland.

After business the hostess served upside down cake, coffee, nuts and mints.
