Congress Eases Dependency For POW Beneficiary

Parents of deceased World War II prisoners of war who qualify as survivors no longer have to prove dependency in order to receive payments under the war claims act, the Oregon Department of Veterans' Affairs reported this week.

Congress has passed a bill removing the dependency requirements for surviving parents from section 6 of the war claims act. This action clears the way for the war claims commission to pay parents of deceased prisoners of war who meet all other requirements of eligibility under the act but who could not—or would not—prove dependency.

The war claims commission says it "has reason to believe that not all survivors of prisoners of war or civilian internees are aware of their rights under the war claims act."

"Widows, dependent husbands, and children of deceased prisoners of war or civilian internees may file survivors' claims. If the deceased prisoner of war left no widow, dependent husband or children, the parents should file."

Eligibility is not affected by whether the deceased military prisoner or civilian internee died in prison or since liberation. Further, widows who have married again are still eligible.

Deadline for filing for these benefits is March 1, 1951. Armed forces prisoners of war or their survivors receive $1 a day for each day of captivity and civilian internees or their survivors receive $60 for each month of internment.

Of 118,418 claims received to date by the war claims commission, 16,815 had been paid on October 1, of which 15,834 were to war prisoners or their survivors and

Insomnia Warns Of Deeper Ills;

Insomnia, the inability to sleep is ordinarily to be expected, is a symptom rather than a disease itself. Most people who find it impossible to sleep at night are actually suffering from some mental or physical disorder, or a combination of the two.

It is not uncommon for people to have difficulty in getting to sleep once in a while, usually for easily explainable reasons. The majority of us are awake at night during oppressively hot weather, or if we are excited just before bedtime, or if we eat a heavy meal late at night. But these conditions are temporary and are seldom a serious threat to health.

Top Billion Ft. Mark In Output

October was the third straight month that Douglas fir sawmills of western Oregon and Washington have topped the billion-foot mark in lumber production. Mills cut 1,012 billion board feet for the month.

Harris Smith, secretary of the West Coast Lumbermen's Association, said this breaks all existing records for a three months consecutive output.

The lumber executive also confirmed earlier estimates that Douglas fir mills of this region were expected to set an all-time full year production record of 10.5 billion feet of lumber for 1950. This will top the 1929 record cut of 10.29 billion feet which has stood for 21 years.

Smith said the huge total produced during October of one billion feet would supply enough lumber to build 100,000 modern five-room homes. If it were all shipped by boat it would fill 200 cargo ships or if shipped by railroad it would fill 33,334 freight cars.

Although the freight car shortage was the most severe in history and lasted for nearly five months in Southern Oregon and Northern California, Smith said trucks and cargo vessels were able to take up much of the slack. He said the output this year would have been much higher if freight cars had been more plentiful during peak summer shipping periods.

MASCOT OF GL EDITORS—This dog with the obvious name of "Scop" keeps things cheerful in the sanctum of the Korean bureau of "The Stars and Stripes." Here he poses as a guard in matters of security.

BROTHERS MEET UNDER UNUSUAL CIRCUMSTANCES—Private Samuel C. Masingale, of Tellico, Tennessee, of the Medical company, 5th Cavalry regiment (left) and his brother, Corporal Ralph M. Masingale, of F Company of the same regiment assigned to adjoining beds in the Army Hospital at Tokyo. Both were wounded on the same day in the same locality in Wosan, Korea, one in the right ankle and the other in the left ankle. Neither knew of the other's misfortune until they met in the hospital.

FIRST MARINES IN FRONT LINE ACTION—Under the gnarled trees on the island of Wolmi these Leathernecks wipe out the remaining North Koreans in the advance on Inchon. This individual action was typical of the fighting in the capture of Seoul, and in the advance above the 38th parallel.
