IRELAND'S JAILS WILL BE FILLED FOR JUBILEE

Her Lands Groan Under Burden Imposed By British.

DUBLIN, April 24.—Ireland will celebrate the coronation of Edward VII, as she celebrated the first jubilee of Queen Victoria—with jails full of political prisoners convicted by mockery of law. With unbridled police rule to exasperate the people, the Irish leaders can no longer be responsible for consequences.

Never has coercion been so gratuitously applied in Ireland as by Irish Secretary Wyndham's proclaiming nine counties under the crimes act. Never has it caused such bitter resentment.

Being called upon in the house of commons by John Redmond and the Irish to justify his action, Mr. Wyndham utterly failed to make out a case of exceptional legislation.

He was only able to give seven cases of real boycotting throughout Ireland, admitted that no crime of violence or of a serious character had arisen from the agrarian question, and could not deny that, taken all around, Ireland has less crime than any other country in Europe at present, and has had less for some time back.

The real object of coercion is to crush the league and thus enable the landlords to get higher rates for their holdings than the United Irish League advises tenants to pay.

The issuing of the proclamation putting the crimes' act in force was due to the influence of Lord Londonderry, now in the cabinet, who is the leader of the Irish landlord party.

It was also due to the inciting and the gross exaggeration of circumstances by certain London newspapers whose pictures of conditions in Ireland Secretary Wyndham himself acknowledged were ridiculous travesties of the truth.

In order to coerce tenants into paying more than the market price for their holdings, the British cabinet has suspended trial by jury in nine counties; which have 1,500,000 inhabitants, whose liberties are placed at the mercy of two police magistrates, who, without legal knowledge, have jurisdiction in vague charge of conspiracy, and who, if they fail to convict, may be immediately transferred or dismissed.

Furthermore, no one charged with any offense indictable before a jury can be tried in his own county, but at the request of the attorney general venue must be changed to any other part of Ireland. Under this power, nationalist tenants, whom there was no chance of convicting anywhere else, have been taken to Belfast to be tried by an Orange jury.

In short, every nationalist in those nine counties is deprived of every reasonable right and placed absolutely in the power of any policeman who considers him influential among his fellows and chooses to trump any kind of charge to bring him before the magistrates.

The government does not even make any pretense of doing anything for the admitted grievances of tenants and the land purchase bill introduced in the house of commons before Easter was never intended to be passed.

GOOD WORK AT WASHINGTON

Letters have been received from Senator Simon and Representative Moody saying that they will do all that is possible in having the St. Louis Purchase Exposition postponed to 1904.

Senator Mitchell writes:

"We have won a great victory in the Senate committee on commerce in getting a provision for the commencement of the work at The Dalles and Celilo a provision which provides for the appropriation of $614,570."

He further states:

"While we secured no increase for the mouth of the Columbia, we prevented a cut, so that the conference committee cannot interfere with the provision already made."

SIMON OUT OF IT.

The men behind the movement that resulted in the nomination of the Citizens ticket for city and county officers are positive in their statements that United States Senator Joseph Simon is in no way an issue in the present campaign. They state with authority that Mr. Simon is not a candidate for re-election; furthermore, that he has never been, and that he will not be.

Annual Health Report.

City Health Officer Menefee's annual report shows that for the year 1901, the death rate of the city was 11.43 to the 1000 inhabitants. Of the 1143 deaths in Portland, 175 were non-residents. The total number of births is 1156, 610 of which were boys and 546 girls. Contagious diseases are reported as follows: Measles, 634; scarlet fever, 220; diphtheria, 174; typhoid fever, 60; smallpox, 62; chicken pox, 22. The total cost of the health department for the year was $10,339.

ACCUSED OF LARCENY.

D. A. Bonner caused a warrant to be issued in the police court yesterday for the arrest of a Mrs. Simons, residing on Union avenue and East Ankeny street. It is charged the woman is guilty of the theft of a quantity of bedding.

MAY BE ONLY A HOT-AIR LINE

Some persons profess to believe that the Oregon & Southeastern railroad when built, will serve as a link to connect the present terminus of the Corvallis & Eastern with the Central Pacific at Winnemucca, Nev. It is pointed out that the recent transfer of the Huntington interests in the Market-street railway property at San Francisco has furnished available funds for the building of this line.

In projecting air lines—especially "hot air" lines—like this, which will not be anything else, it is likely, it is said that the Gould railroad interests will use this as a Western outlet. Admission is made that this will be an invasion of territory already assigned to the Harriman interests. It is true that in these days of mergers and great railroad combinations such an arrangement would not be strange, for, under the present order of things, what were were once competitive lines now work hand and glove.

The inference is drawn that there are likely to be more transcontinental lines. Some time ago, one of the greatest transcontinental railroad builders in the United States said another line across the continent would not be built for many years, for the very good reason that the existing lines can very well do all the business. Then again, with two big combinations already existing which include every transcontinental line this side of the Canadian boundary line, they have what appears to be "a cinch."

All things are possible—even the breaking up into integral parts of the present combinations. What would then be the result no man can foresee. Practical railroad men generally declare that the day for great railroad enterprises is practically past, at least for years to come. The work from now on will be the building of feeders, and the major portion of these will be lines running north and south. When the West shall have reached a stage of development demanding more transcontinental lines they will be built, for that is the American way.

As to the real purpose of the promoters of the Oregon & Southeastern Railway Company, incorporated in New Jersey, time alone will tell At present it is merely a line upon paper, which anyone can build at a trifling expense for paper and pencil. When it actually is built, its purpose will become manifest, and not before.

FOR THE NEWSBOYS

An Hour of Fun Arranged by E. J. Arnold.

E. J. Arnold, owner of the merry-go-round on Park street, between Market and Mill, has offered the newsboys of Portland an hour's fun next Saturday afternoon. Besides the free use of the merry-go-round, he will give the lads a ride on a new attraction which he calls the "ocean wave." This is said to be a very interesting ride, but Mr. Arnold assures the boys that they will not be worried much with "seasickness."

SOMETHING IN IT.

A gentleman who returned last evening from Portland said if one were to judge from general expressions heard on the streets of the metropolis, he would think Chamberlain would get almost the unanimous vote of that city next June. Everybody, he said, seemed to be booming the Portland man for Governor.—The Dalles Times-Mountaineer.

LIBERTY DEPENDS ON WINK

DENVER—The freedom and happiness of William Beal, of Denver depend upon a wink. No serious importance has heretofore been connected with winking, but now it seems that even such a small thing as the flutter of an eyelid may weigh in the balance with a man's liberty.

Last October Beal shot John Swanson in a dispute over a woman. The stories told by the two men after the shooting differed materially. Swanson declared that Beal shot him in cold blood, and not in self-defense as Beal claimed.

When it was found that Swanson was dying he was asked to swear that his statement was true. But the dying man could not speak, and as a last resort he was told to wink if he wished to confirm his statement. His eyes grew expressive and then he winked.

Swanson's wink is now being disputed in court, where the attorney for the defense is moving for a new trial on the ground that the wink should not be considered as admissible testimony.

Did Swanson knowingly wink his eye? Or when told to wink did the eye twitch from nervousness? It is possible that Swanson was an habitual winker? In that case the wink of his eye could be ascribed to habit.

These are a few of the phases in the riddle of the dying man's wink. The solution of the riddle means Beal's conviction or liberty.

Gen. Custer's Old Home.

The house which was erected in Topeka, Kansas in 1868 by General George A. Custer, and occupied by him and his family for a number of years, has been torn down to make room for a modern residence. The old Custer homestead stood on a hill between Eleventh and Twelfth on Quincy street, about a mile south of the Kansas river. The famous Indian fighter had a balcony built on the west side of his home, and Colonel George Veale and other old residents who remember him say that he spent several hours every day on his balcony closely scanning the surrounding prairie.

When George Custer and his family moved into the house he planted two cottonwood trees in the front yard. These were voted a nuisance by the neighbors several years ago and destroyed. The old house has been little better than a mass of ruins for a number of years, owing to the vandalism of relic hunters. General Custer occupied one of the front rooms upstairs, and many of his Indian campaigns were plannd there. The walls of this room were covered with notes and figures made by Custer while planning his campaign. Some of the older residents of the city pretended to believe that Custer had secreted quantities of gold and silver in the walls of his home, and this story was in a great measure responsible for the destruction of the house.—Topeka Capital.

Didn't Hurt the Show.

Jim Corbett tells this one on himself:

"I am always interested in hearing people's opinions of my work on the stage. I had an opportunity today. I saw two colored men looking at one of my posters. One said:

"'That there is Corbett, the fightah. I dun seen him last night.'

"'What do he do?' asked the other; 'does he box some?'

"'Naw, he don't box, he just talks.'

"'What's he talk about?'

"'Oh, about ten minutes, I guess.'

"'How's the rest of the show?'

"'Oh, dat's fine; Corbett's talk don't hurt it a bit.'"—Syracuse (N. Y.) Telegraph.
