

DREDGE

For Mouth of Columbia; Dalles Improvement.

Secretary Moore of the Board of Trade received an answer from Senator Mitchell in reference to the proposed improvements at The Dalles. Senator Mitchell states that Mr. Moore's letter came too late to be considered in connection with the bill $14,000 can not be used for the canal at the Dalles of the Columbia except by direction of Congress, so "the work you propose by private enterprise can be carried on in such a way together as to be of great benefit to the people."

Senator Mitchell introduced the following joint resolution in the Senate, which was referred to the committee on commerce:

"Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That the Secretary of War be, and he is hereby directed to cause an investigation to be made through the engineer corps of the army with a view of ascertaining the feasibility of operating with effect an ocean dredger on the bar at the mouth of the Columbia River, in the states of Oregon and Washington, and the cost of a dredger for such purpose and the cost of maintaining and operating the same, and to report the result of such investigation to Congress at its next session. And for such purpose there is hereby appropriated, out of any moneys in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated, the sum of three thousand dollars."

Senator Joseph Simon writes that the copy of the resolution adopted by the Portland Board of Trade in relation to the Portland Board of Trade in relation to get will receive his best attention.

ROOSEVELT'S NEW CARRIAGE

(From a New York paper.)
Two of the most luxurious carriages ever drawn by horses have recently been received at the White House for the use of the President and his family. They came from the Studebaker establishment, New York City, and were selected by President Roosevelt.

The more imposing of the two vehicles books and magazines, memorandum bound in ivory and silver, umbrella holder and drip, parcel rack, mirror, cutglass and silver vialgrate, signal bell, arm and foot rests.

Carrriages de luxe are no longer confined to the productions of the noted builders of Paris, for the landau and brougham constructed by Studebaker and is the ceremonial carriage, a leather-front landau rife in luxury and nobility of artistic expression. It is trimmed in selected dull-blue goatskin, with dicky seat and head-lining covered with the finest quality of blue cloth. Boot and body are painted black, with rich, dark blue door and body panels, the gear a lighter shade of blue, striped black. The recently shipped to the President of the United States are the highest examples of perfection of the carriage-maker's art. Impressive in form, perfect in exterior finish, and with the greatest possible comfort in the interior, of a quality that can not be surpassed and is very seldom equaled.

Trimmed in selected dull blue goat skin. Best quality blue cloth on dicky seat. All inside details complete, viz.: Toilet case with mirror and watch; umbrella holder; signal bell. Paintings: Body and upper panels, black. Door and body panels dark rich blue, mouldings black. Gear, lighter shade of blue, striped black.

Carriage building today is as much an interior fittings include speaking tube, combination card case and tablet, mirrors, etc.

The Presidential brougham, is a private vehicle de luxe. There are pockets for art as painting and sculpture. Trained eyes, years of experience and study with a cultivated taste, are absolutely essential to the production of a "metropolitan carriage."

WOMEN'S CLOSING SESSION

The result of the closing session of the second bi-annual session of the Oregon Federation of Women's Clubs was the election of Mrs. C. B. Wade of Pendleton, for president; Mrs. R. S. Child, of Altman, of Portland, second vice-president; Mrs. S. Elmore, of Astoria, recording secretary; Mrs. S. White, of Baker City, corresponding secretary; Mrs. C. E. Sifton, of Portland, treasurer; Mrs. T. T. Geer, of Salem, auditor; Mrs. Frank Strong, of Eugene, and Mrs. Julia Marquam, of Portland, directors.

A vote of thanks was tendered the Portland clubs for the hearty reception accorded the delegates.

Mrs. T. T. Geer tendered the delegates an invitation to hold a mid-year conference in Salem next February, which was accepted.

It was decided to hold the next annual meeting in Astoria.

A vote of thanks was tendered to the ushers, Mrs. Baruh, Miss Clementine Barman, Miss Vera Marx, Miss Frieda Rau, Miss Mae Bachelor and Miss Germaine Samuel, also to the dainty pages the Misses Sylvia Solomon, Olga Offer, Frances Bachelor, Frieda Baruh and Vivian Levy.

Before the election there was a great deal of electioneering for votes going on. In all the ladies felt that much good work has been done by the convention.

VACANCIES

To Be Filled On the Citizens' Ticket.

The Citizens' executive committee will hold a meeting tonight and the Democratic city and county committee will meet tonight or tomorrow night.

At these meetings arrangements will be made to fill the vacancies on the Citizens' ticket caused by the withdrawal of B. S. Kelly, candidate for County Treasurer and J. A. Bushman and Robert Krohn, candidates for the Legislature, from the race.

A candidate for the State Senate to succeed R. D. Inman, who is expected to resign, will be considered. No decision has been arrived at as to who the new candidates shall be and no names have yet been discussed except that Charles Hirstel has been mentioned as a likely candidate for County Treasurer.

WANTS TO GO HIGHER

(Journal Special Service.)
OHLGON CITY, April 28.—Is State Senator George C. Brownell a candidate for United States Senator? He is reported to have stated in his speech at Damascus Saturday night, that he would be re-elected State Senator, and that he expected to go to the United States Senate,

THE FRENCH GOVERNMENT IS DEFEATED

The Elections a Great Surprise to Many Statesmen.

(Journal Special Cable.)

PARIS, April 28.—The French elections, always held on Sunday, that all may have an opportunity to vote, came to a close last evening amid unusual excitement, the result proving a surprise to many statesmen. It was thought, as called The Journal on Saturday, that the government would be sustained, inasmuch as a Frenchman's pride often controls his vote, but to the amazement of the multitudes, Paris has not elected a single Ministerialist to the Chamber of Deputies. Eight Nationalists, six anti-Ministerialist Socialists, four anti-Ministerialist Republicans, and three Conservatives were returned. It was the worst defeat the government has ever sustained in Paris. The Ministerialists lost four seats and another new constituency was won by the Nationalists. The Dreyfus champion, Joseph Reinach, whose re-appearance in political life was one of the features of the elections, headed the polling in his district in the Department of Besses-Alps. He probably will be elected on a rebalot by the transference of the votes given to the Republican candidate.

As stated in Saturday's cable to The Journal, France was not called upon to vote for or against the monarchy, the republic or the empire, but on the question of upholding or condemning the Waldeck-Rousseau ministry. Waldeck-Rousseau formed a Cabinet under the most trying circumstances, and it was believed that his gratuitous efforts, undertaken under protest and at great personal sacrifice, would be rewarded by a public indorsement.

The next move on the French political checkerboard will be watched with interest.

THE SAME OLD STORY.

The Eugene Journal says: "The same old cry comes from the National Capital: 'All eyes are on Oregon. Republicans expected to roll up a big majority and set the pace for the country.' 'Save us or we sink,' wails 20,000 'tax-eaters,' as the Oregonian that is now booming them used to delight in calling all Federal, State, County and Municipal officers. Holding office for twenty or thirty years, with the privilege of voting for hundred million, dollar so-called 'ship subsidies,' i. e., official robberies, and dictating appointments and shaping platforms to catch votes going or coming, i. e., for silver money or gold slugs, and playing politics 'for all there is in it, is better than being out in the rain wrestling with a cold and heartless world, and thereby hangs a tale, and from thence comes these biennial wails to 'roll up big majorities!' Presidents may come and presidents may go, but these oily gammons and famous acrobats and their henchmen—sons, brothers, uncles and aunts and party workers, all the way from Bangor, Me., to Manila, P. I.—must hang on forever, and to throw one overboard would sink the ship of state. As long as Oregon and so-called Republican States will keep on 'rolling up big majorities' crops may fail, and panics and cyclones may sweep over the land, but the Oregonian's ancient enemies, the 'tax-eaters,' now its pet birds of gorgeous plumage and saintly qualities, will live high and the country will be safe! In the opinion of these 'tax-eaters,' who were so awfully bad a few years ago and are now too good for anything but to boss the rest of mankind, the country is always in danger. Every election is more important than any that ever occurred before. If the so-called Republican party, from which these bosses draw their living and derive their power and importance, should be beaten, the country 'would be ruined! In peace or in war 'the party' with a good name that does not express its present principles, is the country's only salvation. And as at each election the duty of sustaining 'the party' in the opinion of the Oregonian's 'tax-eaters' is greater than ever before, there is no chance to vote for men or principles, and never will be. It is the party and the people who live by its favors always. They always keep the wires hot and they argue and before every election with appeals to the people of the states where they hold imaginary or figurative residences, for political purpose only, while they actually reside in Washington City or in some other pleasant place, to 'roll up big majorities!' As long as the people will do the 'rolling' on the outside, these saviors of a nation that depends entirely on them for its existence will continue to do a little high-rolling on the inside at headquarters."

THE COURT.

An amended complaint was allowed in the case of A. D. McHargue vs. I. W. Butler.

In the damage suit of A. J. Delano vs. Dentist W. S. Drake, for alleged malpractice, certain parts of the complaint were allowed. Motion to make more definite and certain, as to which teeth were treated, was denied.

The demurrer to the reply was overruled in the suit of W. R. Moffet, trustee, vs. Oregon & California Railroad Company.

The London & Lancashire Insurance Company has filed a suit in the State Circuit Court to recover $225 from Miss Hannah Lardner.

The Northern Counties Investment Trust Company has filed suit in the State Circuit against Edward Stanborough, F. C. Forbes, et al., to recover on mortgage of $2,500 on lots 2, 3 and 4, block 3, Kerns' addition.

The Supreme Court of Oregon has recently decided the suit of Isaac White against the estate of A. H. Johnson, which has been in the courts for 10 years, in favor of the plaintiff. The long-continued litigation was over one point, whether the service of an attachment, left with a Chinaman, who was the only person in the house, was legal or not.

'ROUND TOWN.

Rabbi Stephen S. Wise will deliver the baccalaureate sermon before the graduating class of the University of Oregon on Sunday, June 15. He will also address the graduating class of the Oregon Agricultural College on commencement day.

The street committee has postponed final action until Saturday on the matter of allowing banners to be stretched across streets. The Travelers' Protective association will likely be allowed to advertise the convention to be held in Portland in June in this manner.

Raymond D. Neville died yesterday of tuberculosis at his home, 349 Ross street. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Neville, and was 29 years of age. He was formerly in the employ of the Southern Pacific as a telegraph operator.

An excursion to the Dalles by the Women of Woodcraft will take place May 1, at which place and time a celebration is to be held. A special train will leave Portland at 8:30 a. m. At the Dalles the Woodmen will give exhibition drills, and the Women of Woodcraft will initiate 350 candidates. In the evening a banquet will be given, followed by a ball.

The survey of the East Side for special fire insurance hazards will not begin until about the middle of the week, it having taken longer to finish the work on the West Side than was originally contemplated.

C. W. Nieman of Schuyler, Neb., has gone up the Willamette valley seeking a site for a condensed milk factory. If he can not find one, he will locate in Portland.

The body of James O. Gilliland, who died at the Good Samaritan Hospital yesterday, from pneumonia, after an illness of a week, will be shipped East.

CLAIMS OF DEMOCRATS

Sentiment in Favor of Chamberlain for Governor.

A letter of advice to the Democratic State Central Committee says that the party in Jackson County is united this year as it has never been before within the memory of the oldest inhabitant. For many years, the democracy of that county has been torn with dissensions that have reduced the efficiency of the organization. The results of the county and state conventions this year have been to eliminate the elements that have made for disturbance, and most of the democrats are working with unity and good will. Among the people who are engaged in the conduct of the campaign, this condition so pleasing to them is due in part to the efforts of the State Chairman, Sam White, and County Chairman Alex Sweek, who visited Jackson County and consulted with the leaders and secured concert of action. It is accounted a sign that excellent work will be done for the ticket. Down in that part of the state, says the letter, Chamberlain sentiment is well nigh unanimous.

A worker living at Harrisburg advises the Democratic State Central Committee that as he travels through the valley he finds almost every man he meets is going to vote for George Chamberlain for governor, and that the remainder of the state ticket will receive a very heavy vote. He has been called to various points during the past few days, and has been astonished at the unanimity manifested for Chamberlain. Republicans who have voted that ticket all their lives openly affirm their intention to support the Democracy all down the line. That disaffection exists, appears to the most casual observer, writes the Harrisburg Informer.

"The feeling against Furnish in Wasco County is extending to Republicans who are outside the Moody faction here. It looks like a landslide for the democracy here." The foregoing is an excerpt from a letter coming to the headquarters today from The Dalles. Other sentences quoted are: "They prefer to vote for a straight Democrat on his own ticket, rather than a mugwump on their tickets. The number of Democrats that will vote for Furnish is too small to take into account. They look upon Furnish as a renegade and office hunter. Chamberlain, Butcher, Raley and Blackman will all receive more than their party vote." R. E. Mitchell, editor of the Rainier Gazette, is in town today with a report of activity that cheers the force at headquarters. Mr. Mitchell avers that the state ticket will receive splendid support, and that also the county candidates are going to win universal favor in this election. Columbia County has heretofore been Republican by about 175. Mr. Mitchell expects that 150 voters will change their affections this year.

They are doing things down in Clatsop County and report prospects brightening for the state and local democratic candidates. It is claimed that a large number of Republican voters have gone to Alaska for the summer's fishing, and that this will effect the result upon June 2.

For the Fair.
Canvassing throughout the state for Lewis and Clark Fair stock is going along briskly. J. M. Long and C. H. McLesac, who are doing this work, report fair progress and will announce results in a few days. So far, $345,000 has been subscribed.

Trade Talks.
Henry J. White, dealer in gent's furnishings, 169 Third street, says: "We have been enjoying a splendid spring trade during the last two months and the indications are for continued good business during the approaching summer months."

"While there has not been at any time an overwhelming rush of business, the steady run of customers has kept us very busy." In anticipation of a prosperous summer season we are already heavily stocked on seasonable goods, and with the large shipments due to reach us in May,
