WHAT AN INDOSEMENT WILL COST— CAN STATE OF OREGON AFFORD IT?

The Oregonian appeals to Republicans to vote the local Republican ticket, without considering local issues, or the personalities of the candidates, on the ground that it will have important influence on the national Republican party.

The Republican leaders in Congress have been making a record. They are leading, it is said, for the approval of this record by Oregon Republicans, who will be the first to express themselves by the ballot.

Take the ship subsidy bill. Mr. Hanna, the official and natural leader of the Republicans, is its author and sponsor. That bill, we take it, is not approved by the Republicans any more than by the Democrats of Oregon.

This question has a still more particular application. Mr. Mitchell voted for this bill. The present Republican ticket in Multnomah County is a Mitchell Republican ticket. It is so distinctively Mr. Mitchell's ticket that in common parlance it goes by that name.

There is the Nicaragua canal bill. The Washington dispatches say that the bill has been shelved through the influence of the railroad companies. It has certainly had to take a back seat. Its supporters are disappointed and discouraged.

There is the Mitchell-Kahn exclusion bill. The Republican majority in Congress defeated its most important provisions. It is fair to say that Mr. Mitchell and the Pacific Coast members supported that bill with apparent sincerity.

There are some other like questions which we will hereafter refer to.

WHAT EACH DECLARES.

Senator Beveridge of Indiana, speaking for the national administration, at the Indiana State Convention of the Republican party, declared for the future independence of the Philippine, when he shall have become fitted for it.

As a matter of fact, a dispassionate view of the Philippine issue in this country reveals that there is no great difference between the opinions of the masses of the voters, and that some politicians are merely striving to create artificial contentions.

When the people of a city tolerate an incompetent police force, there is something wrong in their makeup. They are either careless and indifferent or hopeless of ever bettering the department.

For whom was the Mathews ticket put up? Scott says he is not a candidate. Then who is the candidate? The state was put up for somebody. All that sickness, didn't happen just for any old thing. Is it a sneak lead?

GOOD STORIES ON SEVERAL DIGNIFIED SENATORS

Senator Hanna met Senator Dewey in the senate lobby. Senator Patterson was talking in the senate against some of the proposed improvements of the District of Columbia.

Senator Kearns, of Utah, was a laborer at 16 a day some years ago. He has the open, candid manner of the people of that day. After he had been a United States senator about a month, Senator McPherson, also a Westerner, asked him what he thought of the United States senate.

HINTS FOR WOMEN

CONCERNING SLEEVES.
An authority on modes says that sleeves are in a very transitory state and that great changes will be seen in their shape by next fall.

SEEN IN THE SHOPS.
Handsewed kid gloves are among the latest importations from England, and are worn with walking suits.

FRESHENING VIOLETS.
Now that violets are here it becomes a question how best to keep the orange bouquet fresh for more than one day, since these flowers droop easily in warm rooms, and exchange their delicate odor for the suggestive of decay.

BABY'S KIMONO.
Tiny kimonos for the tiniest of babies are to be had. One seen in the toyette of a little stranger not yet arrived was of white silk, the finishing band of neck, front, and sleeves being of white silk, embroidered to blue forget-me-nots.

The JOURNAL SHORT STORY

"My God! I cannot tell her!" said the man—"she so young and so pretty! What will become of her? What will become of us both? Only married two years, and suddenly to find ourselves penniless! My own folly—all my own folly. I have been warned about this cursed speculating time without number, and now it is too late. Oh, my God! I'm the weakest fool that ever drew breath. Still content with being a rich man, I still tried to be richer, and yet richer. God forgive me! It was all for her!"

"I'm an old fogey, rheumatic, gray-headed—but still she loved me: she loves me still. When she hears we are penniless—penniless—she will kiss me—I can see her now—yes, kiss me, and say, 'Never mind, dear; you have me and I have you, and together we can face the world!'"

"The place must be sold as soon as possible, the horses must go, the servants must go, my little girl must lose her diamonds even, but she'll be so brave, so true, so sweet, some poor wretches would be distracted about going home to their wives with such ghastly news; they would expect a veritable earthquake—confusion—misery. Heaven alone knows why I am so lucky!"

"The man hurried through the crowded streets of the city of London—those streets so crowded with human beings, people without a care and people weighed down with sorrow.

"The man's face looked strange and gray, and his eyes were tired and heavy. Large snowflakes fell upon him till his coat was nearly white; still he pushed his way through the crowded streets.

WEATHER WHYS.
After a clear, still night every grass-blade hangs thick with dewdrops, while the roads and gravel paths remain perfectly dry. Did it ever occur to you to wonder why this is so?

FASHIONABLE WEDDING.
NEW YORK, April 30.—St. Bartholomew's church was the scene this afternoon of one of the largest and most fashionable of the spring weddings.

CLINTON KELLY BOARD OF TRADE

Unanimously Endorsed the East Portland Resolutions.

The Clinton-Kelly Board of Trade held an enthusiastic meeting last evening at its hall, East Twenty-sixth and Powell streets.

The enthusiasm consisted of lively speeches endorsing the action of the East Side Improvement Association in its attitude toward the Lewis and Clark Exposition site, and the resolutions passed by the Improvement Association, were unanimously reiterated and endorsed.

W. W. Bretherton, President of the board, said that he had made it a point to "feel the pulse" of West Siders, and that nine-tenths of the people on that side of the river, he believed, favored the Ladd and Hawthorne tracts for a location for the big Exposition.

JAPAN ASKS US TO SEND EXHIBIT
Mayor H. S. Rowe has received a letter from S. Takagi, vice-consul for Japan in this city, inviting him to confer on the matter of Portland's sending an exhibit to the fifth annual industrial exhibition of Japan, to be held at Osaka from March 1 to July 3, 1902.

BROWNELL SCORED.
OREGON CITY, April 28.—The Citizens' candidates held a well-attended meeting at Milwaukee Monday night at the home of Richard Scott, the nominee for joint senator of Multnomah and Clackamas counties.

LECTURE BY ROBERT WILSON.
"The Welfare of the Community the Welfare of the Individual" was the subject of the lecture last night at the Unitarian Chapel by Robert H. Wilson, of Oswego. The speaker said that when each individual shall have been given the highest possible development, physically, mentally, morally and esthetically, then will the welfare of communities be best furthered.

BUTCHER ENCOURAGED.
Colonel W. F. Butcher, Democratic nominee for Congress from the Second district returned to the city yesterday afternoon from his home at Baker City and other points in Eastern Oregon.

TRANSPORT'S ROUGH VOYAGE.
The United States Army transport Dix, which sailed from Puget Sound March 1 with a cargo of forage and supplies for Manila, reached Nagasaki April 3, nearly out of coal, and after having undergone a most trying experience.
