The FIELD OF SPORT

Oh, but the Portland "fans" would not have liked to see that phenominal pitching of Mahaffey yesterday at Tacoma. Had they known what kind of a prize package was to be opened more than one would have paid railroad fare to see the game. Mahaffey is supposed to be a "new one," but it is doubtful if either Engle or Whitbeck could have exerted their arms for 16 long innings to any better advantage than did the popular first baseman's brother. Summarized, this is how it was done:

Struck out, by Drinkwater, 7; by Mahaffey, 6. Bases on balls, by Drinkwater, 6; by Mahaffey, 3. Hit by pitcher, by Mahaffey, 3; by Drinkwater, 3. Wild pitch, Drinkwater. Stolen bases, J. McCarthy, Van Buren, L. Mahaffey; Two-base hits, Hutchinson, Andrews, Smith, Vigneux, Joe. Mahaffey. Sacrifice hits, J. McCarthy, Andrews, Smith, Deisel, 2. Double plays, Murdock to Fisher; Murdock to Smith. First on errors, Tacoma, 1; Portland, 1. Left on bases, Portland, 14; Tacoma, 6. Time of game, 2 hours and 55 minutes. Umpire, Colgan.

Portland was Saturday's game from Tacoma by a score of 7 to 3.

Seattle shut Helena out yesterday and thereby won four out of the five games so far played. The summary:

Seattle .....4 0 1 0 0 0 0 0 *—5

Earned runs, Seattle, 1. Two-base hits, Hurley, Stanley, Peeples. Stolen bases, Klopf, Schwartz. Double plays, Hickey to Klopf to Babbitt; Babbitt to Hurley. Bases on balls, by Hickey, 2; Wiggs, 2. Struck out, by Hickey, 3; by Wiggs, 8. Passed ball, Sullivan. Left on bases, Seattle, 6; Helena, 3. Attendance, 6,000. Time of game, 1 hour and 35 minutes. Umpire, Cunningham.

Good, all-round playing won the game for Seattle Saturday. The score was 5 to 4.

Spokane won out from Butte yesterday by all-round, good playing. While the score was 10 to 5 the game is reported as having been a good one. This is how it happened:

Spokane .....1 1 2 0 1 2 1 1 1—10
Butte .....2 0 2 0 1 0 0 0 0—5

Summary—Struck out, by Russell, 4; by Gay, 1. Bases on balls, off Russell, 3; off Gay, 4. Stolen bases, Marshall, Donahue, 2; Kelly, McLaughlin, Wood. Two-base hits, McIntyre, 2; Elsey, 2; Reitz, 1. Sacrifice hits, Howells, 2; Kelly, Reitz, Marshall. Hit by pitcher, by Russell, 1. Three-base hits, Kelly, Reitz, Russell. Time of game, 2 hours. Umpire, Mullane.

Butte had its day at Spokane Saturday when they won by a score of 7 to 1.

Ralph Frary, the hard-hitting catcher of last year's Seattle team, will play in Spokane's outfield in the opening game against Portland tomorrow. Transportation has been sent by Spokane to Rickey Adams, the winning South Omaha pitcher for Spokane last year. He will be here in time to pitch against Helena.

John J. McGraw, manager of the Baltimore American League team, has been suspended by President Johnson for five days. McGraw's suspension came as a result of the row at Baltimore Thursday, in which a policeman was injured.

The finals for the Ayer trophy will be played off at the Waverly golf links Wednesday afternoon. Those who have qualified are Mrs. Holt C. Wilson, Mrs. R. Koehler, Mrs. T. B. Wilcox, Miss Knight, Miss Lanyon and Miss Flanders. In the near future, there will be a contest for married couples. A prize has been offered by Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Burns, and 16 entries have been entered.

The fourth shoot at the Multnomah Rod and Gun Club handicap trophy series was held at the Irvington grounds yesterday afternoon. It was at 25 targets at unknown angles and the score made follows: Guist, 23; Abraham, 23; Winters, 23; Monteith, 23; Remington, 22; Carlon, 22; Oregon, 21; Hudson, 18; Bateman, 18; O. Smith, 17.

In eight rounds of fierce, unscientific slugging at Louisville, Ky., Saturday night, Marvin Hart knocked out Kid Carter.

The Portland Baby Home is the winner of whatever was taken in at the gate when the Cudahy Packing Company crossed bats with the Armour nine Saturday. The latter team had its batting clothes on and won by a score of 27 to 6. Then the boys opened up a keg of nails.

Some 35,000 Eastern brook trout were planted in the Clackamas River and its tributaries yesterday by Secretary A. E. Gebbart and Treasurer John Cran, of the Oregon Fish and Game Association. These small trout, which are now about an inch in length, were hatched in the Clackamas hatchery, and when grown will be the gamiest of fish. They are hardy and will thrive, experiments having shown that 90 per cent of them reach maturity.

FURNISH SPEECHLESS

According to the reports that have been brought to the city by several prominent citizens of Southern Oregon, the speech of Mr. Furnish at Ashland Thursday night, at the time of the opening of the campaign, was not strictly according to the program. Without going into details, it is said that the Gubernatorial candidate had about the worst case of stage fright ever witnessed, and that he broke down and entirely forgot the pretty speech that was written for him by Judge John J. Balleray of Pendleton. The Southern Oregon men say that while Mr. Furnish was a Democratic Sheriff in Umatilla County he may have been a brave man, but at the time of his first appearance on the rostrum he was badly scared.

DEAN MEETINGS.

Three services of the Dean series of meetings were held yesterday at the Young Men's Christian Association.

The first service at 9 A. M. was for the workers, and was in the nature of a consecration meeting. The second service, at 4 P. M., was the best attended. Mr. Dean spoke of "Stern Truths for Men." The Wilder quartette of men's voices sang two numbers.

The third service at 8 P. M. was attended by about 300 men. The evangelist's topic was "Are You a Man?"

Mr. Dean said in part: "That to be a man you must be industrious. A gambler is bad. He lives off his fellowmen; but what is a loafer—he lives off his wife. A great merchant prince said his biography was contained in the four words, thinking, toiling, trying, trusting.

"Saloons are not the places to become men. Some men drink for an eye-opener, when whisky shuts more eyes than it ever opens. Others drink for health that which destroys many every year. One drinks to be social what destroys friendship."

Tonight, Tuesday and Wednesday he will speak to mass meetings of men, in the same place.

MR. EDDY REMEMBERED.

In 1893, during the World's Columbian Exposition, C. J. Eddy, the general agent in Portland for the Milwaukee, extended the courtesies of his line to the members of the Oregon State Editorial Association. For this the railroad man was made an honorary member of the association.

In these days news travels fast and so the members of the Oregon Editorial Association, now attending the Exposition at Charleston, S. C., learned that Mr. Eddy had resigned his position. Mr. Eddy was quite overcome Saturday afternoon when he received from President Albert Tozier, of the Oregon Editorial Association, the following kindly message, which he will always remember:

"In the name of 14,000 members of the National Editorial Association, I wish you and yours a God bless you wherever you may go, good friend. Good-bye.

"ALBERT TOZIER, President."

SOCIALIST LECTURES.

Rev. Carl D. Thompson, an ex-Congregationalist minister of Elgin, Ill., lectured last night in the Eagles' hall on "Socialism, the Supreme Moral Issue of the Hour; What it is and What it Isn't."

Mr. Thompson is a young man and an earnest, impressive speaker. His address was heard by a well-filled hall. He spoke particularly on the point of the Socialists not wanting to combine with other political parties in order to obtain power, either individually or as a party. He predicted that if the Socialists of the state will poll a full vote on strict party lines at the coming June election, it would give such impetus to the movement in the state that the Socialists' movement would carry in 1904. He will remain here until election day to support and work for his party, whether his expenses are paid by the party or not. He says that the only way to down monopolies and trusts is to support Socialism, and if this is done in Oregon it will have a stimulating effect on the Socialistic movement of the whole Union.

Other Socialist lectures will be delivered in this city by J. Stitt Wilson, of Chicago, on May 21, 22 and 25.

SELF LIGHTING MANTLE

Turn on the Gas—The Mantle Does the Rest.

"That won't knock out the match trust," said a well-known Portland citizen, "but it is a mighty convenient and ingenious thing, just the same."

He was speaking of the self-lighting gas mantle shown at the store of the American Tank & Fixture Company, 175 Fourth street. Crowds of people have called at the store to see this novel mantle that ignites the gas as soon as it is turned on without the aid of a match or taper, and it is pronounced a splendid convenience as well as a simple necessity which ought to have been invented a long time ago. It looks like an ordinary mantle, but on one side you see a small speck of metallic substance. When you turn on the gas the current acts on the speck and heats it red hot, which ignites the gas and there you are with the gas lighted. Great thing in the dark when you can't find a match. Go and see it. They will be everywhere before long.

WARNING TO CATTLEMEN

The President Is Determined Not to Endure Trifling.

(Journal Special Service.)

WASHINGTON, May 5.—President Roosevelt has issued a general order designed to oust cattlemen from public lands. He has said that if the illegal use of the public domain for pasturage can be stopped and the fences unlawfully raised by the cattlemen to inclose Western public lands can be torn down, the power of the alleged Eastern beef trust will be neutralized and the price of beef to the consumer will inevitably fall. The President's determination was clearly set forth in a positive statement communicated to Charles Goodnight of Denver, Colo., president of the Interstate Land & Cattle Company. It was ordered that if these men were discovered attempting to build fences on or to lease public lands, the order granting the desired extension of time from April 1 to July to vacate would be rescinded. The President's decision was then embodied in a general order which was sent to every land agent in the West.

BAPTIZED

Converts Dipped Into the Waters of the Willamette.

In the presence of several hundred people the baptism services of the St. John's Gospel Holiness Union Mission was held on the east side of the Burnside-street bridge yesterday afternoon.

The services were in charge of Rev. John F. Glassco and his wife, who were dressed for the watery occasion in long flowing black robes.

P. H. Hanson, a blacksmith, was the first convert to take to the chilly waters of the Willamette, and after wading out until he reached a depth of four feet, Rev. Glassco took him by the head and after pronouncing the usual, "I baptize thee in the name of the Father, the Son and the Holy Ghost," Hanson was thrown back and submerged.

The congregation on shore, led by Mrs. Glassco, then rendered several songs, and the next recruit, Mrs. Burshea, was led to the baptismal and immersed in the same manner.

Mrs. Lucy Chandler, a member of the Salvation Army, was the last on the list and she was supported into the water by Mr. Hanson and Mrs. Burshea amid the singing and prayers of those on shore.

THE GIRL SUICIDE

The body of Miss Maggie Jones, the domestic who committed suicide Saturday morning by taking poison at the residence of Mrs. R. McCally, 640 East Eighteenth street, was sent to Oakland, Or., yesterday on receipt of a telegram from her brother in that city. Miss Jones' parents are both dead, and her brother wanted to inter the body beside them.

According to Mr. and Mrs. Klapper, who conduct a merchandise store on Milwaukie street, the unfortunate young woman was in their store Friday evening and appeared to be in the best of spirits. She spoke to them about the bright prospects for her future. Mr. Klapper scouts the idea that the young lady was despondent.

LABOR NOTES.

The Astoria Barbers' Union met the other evening and adopted a new scale of prices, which will go into effect May 15. The new scale includes an extra charge of 5 cents for neck shaving and 5 cents for mustache curling, but these charges not to be made when 25 cents' worth of work is done.

At a well attended meeting of the Western Central Labor Union, at Seattle the other day, vigorous action was taken against the proposed laying of the keel of the warship Nebraska at Moran Brothers' shipyards on July 4, 1902. Strong resolutions were passed, characterizing the Moran Brothers as enemies of organized labor. The resolutions will be forwarded to the Governors of Washington and Nebraska, and they will be requested not to "sanction or take part in a scheme to desecrate the day of the nation's birth."

The men in the employ of the Portland Gas Company have been given an increase in wages from $70 to $75 per month. The raise was made by request of the men.

Sunday School Convention.

The seventeenth annual convention of Sunday school workers of the state will convene at the Taylor-Street church May 14-16. For the event the many people of this city who are interested in Sunday school work are preparing for a grand occasion. They expect to entertain about 400 visitors, many of whom will participate in the interesting program now being prepared.

The ladies of the First Baptist Church will tonight entertain the teachers and workers of the several schools of the city.

Ministers' Eastern Trip.

Rev. and Mrs. Edgar P. Hill start this evening for New York City to attend the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church, which convenes about the middle of this month. During Dr. Hill's absence his pastorate will be in charge of Rev. E. T. Allen, the assistant pastor, who assisted in yesterday's services. He will receive assistance from other ministers of the city.

Rev. J. H. Gibson, pastor of the United Presbyterian Church on Grand avenue, will leave for the East this evening, to be absent about five weeks. He goes to attend the meeting of the Mission Board and General Assembly of the church

OREGON CITY.

(Journal Special Service.)

OREGON CITY, May 5.—Saturday night was noted for campaign oratory in various sections of the county. J. D. Stevens, the Socialist leader, spoke at Molalla; the Citizens' candidates held a meeting at Frog Pond school house, near Wilsonville, and Mayor G. B. Dimick, accompanied by Howard Brownell, S. J. Burford, chief of the Oregon City fire department, and Robert Schuebel of Carus held a Republican meeting at Marquam, the extreme southeastern precinct in the county. Senator Brownell and C. H. Dye were billed to speak at the latter place, but the Senator was confined to his room with illness, and Mr. Dye was unable to go on account of business arrangements.

Miss Minnie Meyer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Meyer, was married at 7 P. M. Saturday at the home of the bride's parents, to Everett E. Latourette of Portland. The officiating cleryman was the Rev. A. J. Montgomery, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church. Rev. W. T. Latourette of McMinnville, financial agent of the Baptist College, and D. C. Latourette, president of the Commercial Bank of Oregon City, brothers of the groom, were among the guests present. The groom is a mining promoter of Portland, and the bride is a sister of Fred J. Meyer, cashier of the Commercial Bank here. A wedding luncheon was served.

About 500 persons attended the initial baseball game of the Amateur State League at Willamette Falls park yesterday afternoon between Oregon City and the Monogram team of Portland. The game broke up in a row, with a score of 2 to 2. Two different umpires failed to preserve peace. According to the schedule, the Oregon City and Monogram teams will play in Portland next Sunday.

Mrs. O. D. Eby went to The Dalles Saturday to visit her sister, Mrs. L. V. Fox, for a few days.

J. S. Crumbley, who was superintendent of the Upper Clackamas hatchery last year, returned Saturday from the Little White Salmon hatchery in Washington, where he has been employed for several months past. James Church also returned from the same place.

Mrs. Nellie Gustin, state president of the Rebekah Assembly, visited the Clackamas Station subordinate assembly Saturday night. It was the first meeting of the Clackamas Rebekahs in the Odd Fellows' new hall, and a number of visitors were present from Portland and Oregon City. A banquet was one of the features.

Mrs. Dr. Frances Freeman entertained the members of St. Paul's Episcopal Church choir at her home at Willamette Falls Saturday night.

The committee appointed two weeks ago to solicit subscriptions for a Fourth of July celebration fund are expected to make their report at a meeting to be held tonight under the auspices of the Retail Merchants' Protective Association. The committee has received greater encouragement than was expected in their work.

John A. Rowan, who has been Police Judge of Muscatine, Ia., for the past 14 years, is visiting his nephew, W. I. Rowan, and niece, Mrs. J. A. Roake.

Rev. A. J. Montgomery, the ministerial commissioner from the Portland Presbytery to the general assembly of the Presbyterian church, which convenes in Fifth-avenue church in New York City May 15, will start on his Eastern trip tonight. He will be accompanied by Mrs. Montgomery and two children. Beside the Portland Presbytery, which includes the Oregon City congregation and several outside churches, Rev. Montgomery will carry proxies from other Oregon Presbyteries. On the first Monday of the assembly, Rev. E. P. Hill, D. D., of Portland will give one of the three addresses.

Miss Imogene Harding gave a very enjoyable dancing party Saturday night in Willamette hall to the members of her class, it being the close of the season's work.

Mrs. Marquam's Funeral.

Funeral services over the remains of Mrs. P. A. Marquam were conducted at the First Presbyterian Church yesterday afternoon by Rev. Edgar P. Hill and Rev. Jerome R. McGlade. They were largely attended by the many friends of deceased, and were most impressive. The sermon was a beautiful eulogy of the life and charitable work of Mrs. Marquam. A quartet composed of Mrs. May Dearbourne Schwab, Mrs. C. E. Farnsworth, W. H. Boyer and Robert Gordon, sang two hymns—"Nearer, My God, to Thee" and "Abide With Me." The interment took place at Riverview Cemetery under direction of Edward Holman. The pallbearers were R. K. Warren, L. L. Hawkins, Captain Powell, L. M. Parrish, J. D. Davidson and W. F. Cornell.

DOUGLAS POLITICS.

Judge J. W. Hamilton of Douglas County is in the city conferring with State Chairman White and the committee in reference to the campaign in his home county. Judge Hamilton is taking an active part in the campaign, and brings with him the usual claims from Douglas County, of the daily strengthening of the Democratic prospects in that part of the state. He says that it is a foregone conclusion that Mr. Chamberlain will carry the county, and that the local Republican candidate on the state ticket, A. M. Crawford, candidate for Attorney-General, will run far behind his ticket, and that Colonel Raley's majority in Douglas will be large.

'Rah for Carriers' Band.

The Letter Carriers' Band is practicing in the Mt. Scott section every Sunday. The men found it difficult to march and play at the same time, and it is this feature they are now attempting to improve. In place of their heavy mail sacks they fill their pockets on the left side with rocks and so can easily walk erect. A large crowd is always present at the practice, which is in charge of a veteran of the Second Oregon band.

Indian War Claims.

The Indian War Veterans will cause to be introduced at the next Legislature a bill for an appropriation to themselves of the difference of the amount paid them for their services by the government and the amount the state agreed by an act of 1855-6, to pay all who enlisted in that war.

HOME AGAIN

Railroad Officials Who Attended Harriman Banquet.

All the local Southern Pacific officials—Manager Koehler, General Freight and Passenger Agent Miller, Superintendent Fields and also Attorney Fenton—have returned from the Harriman banquet at San Francisco. Assistant General Freight Agent Coman of the O. R. & N. Company, together with Auditor Benson and Attorney Cotton, are also back. President Mohler will not arrive in Portland until Wednesday morning.

All the officials, so far as seen, unite in saying that the meeting with Mr. Harriman was a very agreeable one. That the banquet was choice goes without saying.

Mr. Miller was seen this morning, but had little to say. Asked whether he would have an assistant general freight agent when he assumes control of freight traffic on the O. R. & N. Company, he said: "Yes," but declined to even hint who such person might be. It is current talk in "Railroad row" that the company's general agent at Spokane, H. M. Adams, who has performed the duties of the office during the absence of Mr. Coman at San Francisco, will be the man selected. It is pointed out that, inasmuch as the office of traffic manager has been abolished, Mr. Miller's office will be not only that of general freight agent, but that he will unavoidably become also a "sort of executive official as well. Mr. Miller said the man selected "is a very good and able man."

SWELL PRISONER

George E. Leslie Made Big Contracts on Wind.

In George E. Leslie, alias George Littell, now held at the city jail on a telegraphic warrant from Suisun, Cal., the police have a "swell" boarder.

Leslie negotiated with Suisun realty dealers for a $300,000 ranch, so it is claimed; but, before the deal was closed, he floated numerous worthless checks on the townsmen, who regarded him as a millionaire many times over. City Marshal Downing of Suisun was not to be caught napping by the young man, and promptly spread his description broadcast, one coming to the hands of Chief of Police McLauchlan. Detectives Kerrigan and Snow found their man in the Perkins hotel, and now he does not change his clothes four times a day, as he is alleged to have been in the habit of doing while at liberty.

Chief McLauchlan received a dispatch this morning from Suisun to the effect that Downing would leave for this city tomorrow with requisition papers for the return of Leslie, silk hat, dressing-case and all.

THE MARKETS.

This was an off day in the local markets. Grain is moving very slowly, the foreign demand being very light.

Butter showed up very weak this morning and a drop in quotations was made on the best creamery, which is now selling wholesale at 19@19½c. A small quantity is going into cold storage.

The big rise in the quotations Saturday has quieted the meat market considerably. No change in quotations was made today.

A car of oranges arrived yesterday and was distributed on the street this morning. A car of bananas is expected tonight.

An advance was made in the price of tomatoes today.

The poultry market opened up this morning with better prospects than for some time previous. The receipts were rather large for Monday, but as yet there is no drop in quotations, and none are looked for.

A large receipt of eggs this morning greatly weakened the market. Eggs are selling today wholesale for 15@15½c.

Hops and wool remain in a quiet condition, not much business being done in either line.

Groceries remain at Saturday's figures.

SPRING FASHIONS for WOMEN

NEW YORK, May 3.—The woman of the hour in Gotham is the summer girl. Next to her pleasing personality comes her exquisite gowns, and these she has for all occasions. Already has society begun to shift its quarters from the noisy city to the quiet of the country resorts, consequently there is a plethora in fashions designed for traveling purposes, followed up with countless dainties in the way of gowns and their details intended for the use of my lady when she shall have settled down for the summer campaign.

Fashions are the forerunner of events in Gotham, and one can always tell by the display in the stores what is next on the social calendar. Before Easter there is the spring opening with the exhibitions in tailor-made dresses, hats, afternoon frocks and all in that category; then comes the introduction of summer gowns and waists, followed by the display of outing costumes and traveling traps, which precedes the exodus to country and seashore.

Among the fashionable materials for traveling suits are hard hopsacks, canvases and tweeds. The next and most useful material, which is also exceedingly chic, is alpaca. This is being produced in a variety of ways. Nothing is smarter than a fine silky alpaca for hot weather, but the real hard-wearing fabric which always makes up well is of a coarser grain. This hitherto solid color material has succumbed to the manufacturers' caprice of fanciful design, and as a consequence can be procured in new stripes or pin dots in white scattered over a dark ground in effective design.

A gown very much admired and capable of good service is in dark blue alpaca with a sprinkling of small white dots over the surface. The collar and revers of the waist are worked in richly shaded soft silks in close stitching, to resemble old tapestry, the bolero fronts having little knots of tassels in shaded silks to match. These tassels and cords, which were used but indifferently during the winter, are enjoying much popularity and will be employed to a great extent upon summer gowns of diaphanous as well as substantial fabrics.

Counterbalancing all the arguments against the extravagance of the present day modes, it must be admitted that nearly all of those for the approaching summer season possess the merit of combining utility and beauty. Everywhere are seen dainty little odds and ends that will prove useful to the woman of fashion, whether she be an indefatigable globe-trotter or a veritable stay-at-home. One such article is a flat and neatly tied square of linen, which when opened up shows a sachet closely covered with pins of many sizes and all colors. Alongside of this is a small box, linen-covered, on which is either a watercolor design or a delicate tracery of embroidery. Through a buttonhole worked in the cover there protrudes an end of bebe ribbon. A silver bodkin, which is slipped in at the side, gives the complete paraphernalia for running ribbon into clothing. Certainly no trifle could be more necessary in these days of ribbon-run lingerie and trellis-laced gowns.

Hats show a variety that appeals to the dictates of common sense as well as the artistic temperament. From the ready-to-wear model to the dressy design there is the widest latitude allowed, and the difficulty comes in knowing what not rather than what to select. A new modified French sailor hat, which will be affected quite a deal for traveling and outings, has the true sailor crown, united to a brim that is slightly rolled all around. To some this brim is more becoming than the usual straight flat shape, shorter at the back than on the front and sides. The extreme severity of trimming characteristic of the former style of sailor hats is avoided this season, but utility is not overlooked in the more modern forms, nor is the straw of the same unvaried color and plait as of old.

The manner of thrusting quill feathers through the crown is very commendable and removes the stiffness and hardness produced by the former method of fixing them. Many quills are curled at the tips, and this is a decided improvement.

For dressier purposes some very pretty creations are seen in dainty lace straws combined with chiffon. One especially dainty hat which has attracted a great deal of attention is worn by a fair Gothamite, whose name is a synonym for wealth and fashion. It is composed of alternate bands of ecru lace straw and black chiffon, arranged upon a shape which is a cross between a colonial and a tricorne. The sides are not rolling, but have an upward flare which allows an effective finish under the brim carried out in black poppies. The hat dips decidedly at the front and back, and at the latter point bears a full bow of black velvet ribbon, ending in long streamers, which fall to the shoulders, if not lower.

Never has a season boasted such a profusion of floral trimming in millinery as the present one. Flowers and fruits are mingled together in the most reckless fashion, and bright colored velvet bows are added to enhance the richness of tone. The all-red poppy hat is an acquisition fit for a queen, especially if she be of the brunette type. There is no other color than red about the model, and the only fabric in addition to the silk of the flowers is the velvet ribbon, which composes the full bow at the back. Geranium hats are made after the same design and are preferred by many because the flowers are made of velvet, and besides being more serviceable posses a richer shading.

An important item in the summer woman's shopping notebook is stockings. The latest show fours stripes to the leg. These stripes run up and down, and in lisle cost anywhere from $1.50 to $4. Cheaper designs, also in lisle, in plain colors, red, blue, pink and mauve, to match summer gowns, can be bought for a third of that sum.

In her pedal belongings patent leather is the wear of the smart woman. Her boots are completely outlined in it, the edges being brogued most attractively. Shoes are entirely of patent leather, with cut steel buckles, and black velvet is popular for indoor wear. The house shoe of velvet has one or two straps and the velvet boudoir or bedroom slipper is trimmed with bands of embroidery and has flat heels.

The fashionable figure varies little in outline. The scarcely perceptible difference obtains in a lengthening at the front, with a proportionate shortening at the back. By this means the skirt is given a lift at the back, acceded to be a marked improvement upon the droop to which we have become acustomed.

When in doubt as to trimming, lace is fashion's trump card. The craze for this form of trimming grows daily, and it is an equally smart garniture for hats or gowns. The keynote of its popularity is its variety, for though it meets the demands of the average purse, it also soars in price until it becomes a luxury confined to the elongated pocket strings of fashion's elite.
