RECEIVED RIGHT ROYAL GREETINGS

Chamberlain Makes Votes by the Score at Forest Grove.

People Shout for Honest Administration of State Affairs.

(Journal Special Service.)

FOREST GROVE, May 12.—Three hundred and fifty people came out on Saturday evening to hear George E. Chamberlain and W. A. Wann address the voters upon the campaign issues. It was an audience of thoughtful citizens. Young voters were there. Veterans in the development of the West were there. And every man was there to listen attentively to the discussions. There was apparently a desire to learn something concerning the affairs of state. At the end of the meeting, scores of people came forward to shake the speakers by the hand, and assure them that they would be supported in the June election.

One man, well advanced in years, grasping Mr. Chamberlain by the hand, said:

"That was the honestest political speech I ever heard. By grab, I'm going to vote for you."

The audience was representative of the 1902 campaign gathering. There was plenty of enthusiasm, and liberal applause as the various points were made in the addresses. Yet that was not the significant feature of the occasion. The people had come out to hear a discussion of the matters that pertain to the State of Oregon, and they wanted to have even dry figures and statistics, so they might learn of existing affairs at the state house and what changes are proposed by the Democratic candidates.

The hall was filled, and people stood in all available space until the meeting ended.

Comprehensive Discussions.

Ira E. Purdin presided, and upon the platform sat these citizens:

W. M. Langley, Solomon Weckhert, Hubert Bernard, William Schulmerich, W. H. H. Myers, Thomas Ritchy, Ralph Wann, Thomas Roe.

Mr. Purdin introduced W. A. Wann, candidate for State School Superintendent, and the latter proceeded to set forth his views as to the reforms that should be wrought in the school system of Oregon. In brief, Mr. Wann proposes to retain efficiency, while reducing the requirements of night study for the primary grades. He urged that the alterations proposed by him have been effected in the most wisely controlled school systems of the East, where experience has taught that the recent tendencies toward too severe demands upon the younger pupils have been condemned, and where the latest thought is for less heavy work for the youngest children, the while paying more attention to the practical phases of education, and the proper strengthening of the body and the cultivation of the skill of the hand.

The address was most favorably received, and made a deep impression upon the listeners. Mr. Wann has at least caused the reasing of some questions that will have to be settled in the future beneficially to the school system of the state.

Chamberlain on the Issue.

When Chairman Purdin introduced Mr. Cahmberlain to the audience, there was a storm of greeting cheers, and the speaker was undoubtedly en rapport with his hearers. He lost no time in getting down to a discussion of the issues of the campaign, at first briefly referring to Pacific University, the college located at Forest Grove, and known as an institution thorough in its work and having sent out many young men and women who have become prominent in the citizenship of Oregon.

His address covered the initiative and referendum, the Philippine question, purity of elections, and state affairs, the last being treated at length. Each successive point was received by the people in a manner to prove that the visit had either made votes, or demonstrated that the voters were already favorably disposed. There were cheers for each climax, and general good feeling between the speaker and the audience.

Fairness Towards His Opponent.

Mr. Chamberlain exhibited courtesy and fairness toward his opponent, Mr. Furnish. He took pains to accord him the attributes of an estimable gentleman, and said that he had to do only with Mr. Furnish's record as a public official. In this connection, his fundamental proposition was this:

"Any man who has held office should be judged by the extent of his effort to administer his duties efficiently and to remove from the people the burden of taxation."

Predicating his discussion upon the foregoing sentiment, Mr. Chamberlain proceeded to assert:

"The man who serves the people owes it to them to get the most results at the least cost—that is, the most results to the people, not the most results to himself. And, if any man has, through office, secured from the taxpayers more than was necessary to compensate legitimately for the service rendered, he cannot consistently appeal to the voters as a business man promising a business administration."

Mr Chamberlain.

The splendid record that Mr. Chamberlain has made is known here, and, if the voters in their conversation since the meeting speak their sentiments, they propose to see to it that the man of all men in Oregon who has not made public office a private graft is installed in the Governor's chair, next January, if the assistance of the people here can accomplish such a result.

TWO UNIONS PLAN TO FUSE

(Journal Special Service.)

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., May 12.—The amalgamation of the United Brotherhood of Paper Makers and the International Machine Tenders' Union will be consummated at the joint convention of representatives of the two bodies now in session here. The union of the two will place practically all of the paper mill operatives under one head and will institute an organization of great strength and influence in labor circles.

Glenn Court Martial Is Sitting on His Case in Manila.

(Journal Special Service.)

MANILA, May 12.—Further developments in the charges of cruelty and barbarity brought against the army in connection with the Samar campaign are expected to come to light in the general court martial which met at Cathalogan today for the trial of Major Edwin F. Glenn, Fifth Infantry, and other officers and men against whom charges have been preferred.

The detail of the court is as follows: Brigadier-General Frederick D. Grant, United States army; Colonel Almond B. Wells, First Cavalry; Colonel Alfred C. Markley, Thirteenth Infantry; Colonel Henry C. Ward, Fifteenth Infantry; Lieutenant-Colonel P. Henry Ray, Seventh Infantry; Major William L. Pitcher, Eighth Infantry; Lieutenant-Colonel Argalus G. Hennissee, Eleventh Cavalry; Major John C. Dent, Twenty-fourth Infantry; Major Frank DeL. Carrington, First Infantry; Major William W. Wotherspeen, Thirtieth Infantry; Major Bernard A. Byrne, Major Robert N. Getty, First Infantry; Captain Abraham P. Buffington, First Infantry; Major Harvey C. Carbaugh, judge advocate of the court.

SUICIDE FEARED

Friends Worried Over Mrs. Geiger's Disappearance.

What has become of Mrs. Mamie Frances Geiger?

This question has been asked many times since the woman disappeared from the residence of her most intimate friend, Mrs. A. Y. Mowery.

The suicide theory is uppermost in the minds of Mrs. Geiger's friends. Why she should want to absent herself so suddenly is a mystery. She is married and so far as her friends know, her domestic affairs were pleasant. Her husband is employed in the interests of the Order of Red Men, and is not in Portland much of the time.

Taking all these things into consideration, and the further fact that Mrs. Geiger's relatives are well-to-do people, the most plausible explanation is suicide. It is known that she had only 10 cents in her purse when she left Mrs. Mowery's residence, and that would not carry her much farther than the river bank, and it is feared that this was her destination.

SONS OF VETERANS

Delegates are present from local branches in all parts of California and in Arizona and the Hawaiian Islands, both of which territories are embraced in the division. An interesting program covering three days has been arranged.

AUCTIONED OFF

(Journal Special Service.)

NEW YORK, May 12.—It is not often that a membership in the New York Cotton Exchange is sold under the hammer, but such was the case today when the membership held by William E. Small was auctioned off in the pit. Small failed some time ago, and the proceeds from the sale of his seat will be used in settling the dues and other indebtedness owing the exchange, and the remainder turned oved to his creditors.

Hadn't Sufficient Faith.

It is a firm belief of the Greek monks that God will not allow a monastery to be burned. When the Russian monastery of St. Pantelemon at Mount Athos was burned a few years ago the Greeks who constitute the great majority of the 6000 monks on the peninsula, maintained that their Russian brethren had brought the calmity on themselves because they had fire engines and extinguishers and did not trust wholly in God.

RIVER AND OCEAN.

It is reported that the British ship Lord Elgin has been chartered for new crop loading at 30 shillings.

All of the steamers on the lower river runs haul about all the freight they can handle these days, business having picked up very materially of late.

The steamship Pembrokenshire, which was damaged on the Sylvia de Grasse reef when leaving this port, has reached Antwerp after a passage of 76 days.

An unsuccessful attempt was made Saturday by the tug Astoria to pull off the British bark Baroda, which went ashore nine miles off the Coquille river August 29, 1901. At the time the Baroda went ashore she was bound from Callao to Portland in ballast.

A deckhand, answering to the name of "Slim," on the steamer Ruth struck the Chinese cook, Sam Wing, with a dinner plate yesterday, and the latter is now laid up for repairs at St. Vincent's Hospital. "Slim" was intoxicated and did not like the idea of being obliged to wait to be served at the second table.

On Saturday the American ship Roanoke sailed from Port Townsend for New York with 147,000 cases of canned salmon and 25,000 gallons of choice wines, valued at $850,000. The wines are from California and the salmon from Puget Sound.

The steamer Anna Baron, built by R. M. Leathers of Astoria for the Thlinklet Packing Company of this city, has been completed and successfully launched. The vessel will be taken to Alaska to be used as a cannery tender.

John Reid and James Keating of Astoria sold the launches Sylph and Eagle Saturday to W. H. Barker for the Pacific Packing & Navigation Company. They will probably be taken to Alaska. The consideration was $7500.

The schooner Amethyst is at Village Island, where she is being repaired by G. Bishop, the contractor of Victoria, B. C. The vessel drifted into Barclay Sound bottom up six weeks ago, and after being looted by Indians broke adrift.

All the in port lumber fleet were working Saturday. They were the Queen Mary, the Carl and the steamship Ventnor. Over 125 longshoremen were busy loading them for the Pacific Export Lumber Company. These three vessels will carry over 7,000,000 feet, and all of them are expected to get away this month.

In regard to the closing of the bridge draw a topic much discussed on the river front, one of the steamboat men suggests that a compromise of the matter might be arranged which would prove satisfactory to all concerned. He believes that bridges might be closed at certain periods to towboats, but draws should always be open to passenger boats, the latter not causing much delay.

Conductor Blamed.

In Lisbon, Portugal, a peculiar feature of an ordinance regarding spitting in public conveyances is that the fine is to be imposed on the conductor, who is held responsible unless he can prove that he has informed the police of the infraction of the rule.
